S. Quincy Station Stirs Council Mayor Moves To Defuse T 'Time Bomb'

By TOM HENSHAW

Mayor Francis X. McCauley is taking steps to defuse what promises to be an explosive situation in South Quincy when the Quincy Adams MBTA station is scheduled to open Sept. 10.

McCauley said he will try to "clear the air" at a meeting during the first week in June bringing together the MBTA, the MDC, the state Department of Transportation and city councilors.

The Council laid down the gauntlet Monday night when it formally asked the mayor to "commence legal action immediately" to halt the station opening until Burgin Parkway Extension has been built.

The resolve was filed by Councilor James A. Sheets, who has threatened demonstrations to block the station opening, and Councilor Theodore P. DeCristofaro.

McCauley declined to comment on the request for legal action but he added, "We certainly don't want to open that station until all the problems are solved."

The chief problem is that, while the MBTA station and the ramps to the Southeast Expressway are progressing according to plan, other state agencies have been dragging their feet on accompanying community-oriented projects.

The final straw came last week when it was disclosed that the MDC, which is responsible for a culvert that has to be built before the Extension, does not have enough money to do its part.

The MDC was given $5 million for the project five years ago but now, the city was told, it is about $2 million short.

"The MDC has misplaced, mislaid or loaned out $2 million that belongs to Quincy," said a irate Sheets at Monday's Council meeting. "All the South Quincy projects were supposed to be completed together."

"The MBTA had the money to build the station and the garage because they wanted it. The state had the money to complete the ramps because they wanted them."

"We were the ones who wanted the Burgin Parkway Extension and we don't have the money."

"I promise you that if they do not build the Burgin Parkway Extension that station can sit idle for the next 10 months as far as I'm concerned. This is one time we are going to force them to keep their commitment."

"We have to make it clear that this city is not going to tolerate any delay in the Burgin Parkway Extension. It is the responsibility of the city to go to court and protect the interests of its people."

Councilor Leo J. Kelly added an amendment to the resolve calling for an accounting of what happened to the original $5 million appropriation for the culverts that was passed in 1978.

Meanwhile, Rep. Elizabeth N. Matayer of Braintree called for an investigation into just how the MDC spent the money.

"The funds have been, at least, unwisely expended and perhaps grossly mismanaged," she charged.

LaRaia Blocks City Defense In Suit

City Councilor Joseph J. LaRaia Monday night blocked an effort by the city to defend itself against a $1,250,000 suit brought by Hugo P. Fabrizio, who was ousted as an assessor five years ago.

However, it was learned Tuesday morning that Fabrizio may have defaulted on the suit by failing to file briefs to support his appeal in federal court by the May 16 deadline.

Fabrizio was appointed to the Board of Assessors by then Mayor LaRaia in 1977 and he was fired the following year by Mayor Arthur H. Tobin, who defeated LaRaia in a bitter 1977 election.

Fabrizio sued but the original action was dismissed without trial on a summary judgement. He appealed, charging his civil rights were violated when Tobin removed him from the board.

The item on Monday night's agenda was a request by City Solicitor Dean P. Dicastro for $6,500 to pay special counsel Frederic N. Halstrom to continue handling the case for the city.

But LaRaia, defending Fabrizio and denouncing Tobin, objected to the order, thus shelving it until the next City Council meeting, June 6.

The problem then was that the city had to answer Fabrizio's brief within three weeks, which just happens to be June 6, or default the $1,250,000 suit to Fabrizio.

Nicastro said that, if necessary, the Solicitor's office would have handled the case in-house rather than default, although Halstrom, who had been on it since the start, could do it better.

"I am not going to be a party to a continuation of this injustice," said LaRaia. "This is a perfect example of a waste of time and money. The mayor should reconsider and try to settle out of court."

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said it was his

Union Dues Withholding Approved By Council

The City Council Monday night gave its approval to the longtime city practice of withholding union dues from employees' pay checks and turning the money over to the unions. Asst. City Solicitor Jay MacRitchie told councilors that the city had been doing it for years without realizing that such practice had never been authorized officially under state law.

The oversight was discovered recently by the city's new labor negotiator, David Grunebaum.

GLAD TIDINGS CHURCH, 158 Washington St., drew attention from passersby with its sign proclaiming "Open Sundays, 10:45 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. - Your Alternative to Sunday Shopping. God's Laws are Never Repealed."

Council Backs 'Buy American' But -- Mercedes Patrol Cars For Police Dept.?

The City Council passed a "Buy American" resolution Monday night and Mayor Francis X. McCauley said he's all in favor of it -- as long as the price is right.

The resolution, filed by Councilor Leo J. Kelly, apparently was aimed at the possibility that the city may lease European-made Mercedes-Benz patrol cars for the Police Department.

One such car was tested by the police last week and McCauley said he plans to confer with Chief Francis X. Finn as soon as the chief returns from vacation to get his recommendations.

Kelly's resolution noted that "the economy of this country is based on the craftsmanship of the American worker" and urged that the mayor "be requested to purchase or lease American-made products."

"We need police cars and we've got to look for values," said McCauley. "I have no problem buying American, but is it cost-efficient?"

McCauley said the Muni Lease Co. of Stoneham has offered to lease a Mercedes car to the city for $796 a month, including preventive maintenance.

A similar figure for an American-made Ford or Chevrolet, he said, would be $878 a month.

In addition, the mayor said, the fuel costs for a Ford or a Chevy would be $855 a month compared to $389 for a Mercedes.

The Ford or Chevrolet would have to be replaced in two years, he said, while the Mercedes would be good for four years. Muni also offered a $5,000 buy back for the Mercedes.

"Over the life of the cars of 48 months," said McCauley, "that would mean a savings of $26,300, according to the figures supplied by Muni Leasing."

If the city decides to lease equipment for the Police and Fire Departments, the mayor emphasized, it would still have to go through the process of putting it out for competitive bid.

Anderson Claims Mass. Electric Double - Billing

Public Works Commissioner Paul Anderson told the City Council Monday night that Mass Electric has for several years been charging the city and the state or the MDC for the same traffic signals.

He estimated that the city has claims of $20,000 to $25,000 against Mass Electric for such double-billing practices.

"We are finding a lot of these discrepancies," he said, "but Mass Electric is not as fast in sending out credits as it is bills. Their attitude is not very helpful at all."

Anderson said the city plans to get back at the company when it goes before the state DPU for a rate increase and is called on to explain such double-dipping.

Hannon Appointment Confirmed

The City Council Monday night confirmed the appointment of former

"It's incomprehensible to me," said Councilor James A. Sheets, "that we are paying for the same electricity as the MDC and the state does."

"If we did it we would be subject to prosecution. It's time we blew the whistle on them."

Mayor Walter J. Hannon to a second five-year term on the Industrial Development Finance Authority.

High Percentage Tax Collection

The deadline for paying the second half of the property tax bills for fiscal 1983 passed Monday at 5 p.m. and Mayor Francis X. McCauley says it looks like the city will collect the highest percentage of the tax levy in six years.

As of Tuesday morning, Treasurer-Tax Collector Franklin Jay said that $13.4 million was in the till and his department was still processing last minute payments. The expected total is nearly $20 million.

McCauley said collections may top the 1977 record when 96.6 per cent of the tax levy was collected. Last year the percentage was 96.06 per cent.

$3.5-M In Bonds

Approved By Council

The City Council Monday night approved nearly $3.5 million in industrial revenue bonds for two local developers. One for $1.8 million would clear the way for Frank A. Evans of Quincy to purchase and renovate the Dimmock Building at Hancock and Dimmock Sts., Quincy Center.

Another for $1.7 million would permit developers Ronald Cahaly and Ronald Carlow to buy and renovate the Otis Elevator Building at 275 Hancock St., North Quincy.

The bonds are exempt from federal taxes and thus carry a smaller interest rate. No city money or commitment is involved.

QEA Contemplates Disassociation From MTA

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The Quincy Education Association was scheduled to vote yesterday (Wednesday) on whether to disassociate itself from the Massachusetts Teachers Association and become the only independent teacher's union in the state.

Herman (Hank) Pasquerella, QEA president, said chances were about 55-45 against two thirds of the membership approving the action in a secret ballot during the union's annual meeting at North Quincy High School.

"But I hope it's positive," said Pasquerella who added that MTA president Carol Doherty has written to the QEA's 710 members about the advantages of staying in that organization.

"I was told by a member of the MTA that attempting to disassociate means war," said Pasquerella, "they're taking this very seriously."

Pasquerella said he wouldn't be surprised if the MTA challenged any vote to disassociate.

The QEA sends about $140,000 a year to the MTA and National Education Association and Pasquerella doesn't feel the local teacher's union is getting its money's worth.

"The QEA can use the money for its own gains rather than send it out of the city," he said.

Pasquerella criticized the MTA's involvement with issues such as nuclear power plants and Bangladesh.

"I'm not opposed to social responsibility," said Pasquerella, but it's not the place of the MTA (to become involved).

"That's the province of the State Department."

Disassociation from the MTA would mean the same services for less money, according to Pasquerella who added each member would pay about $200 yearly dues rather than $244.

It would also mean that the QEA could promote itself as a union, said Pasquerella, who explained that he would like to see the QEA become the premier municipal union in the city.

Pasquerella said that there are some in the union who would not be opposed to backing political candidates who are friends of education.

"One of our prime priorities would be to become more vocal on issues of education in Quincy."

"We can't be an institution looking for raises all the time," said Pasquerella.

"The QEA could be a viable, responsible force in the city."

Meanwhile, the QEA and school committee are still trying to set up a meeting before a fact finder is brought into the contract talks.

City Clean-Up, Beautification Saturday

The Quincy Looking Great Campaign, the city's clean-up and beautification effort, will be held Saturday.

School children, scout troops, adults and other residents are urged to volunteer their services at the following trash distribution centers around the city:

Houghs Neck Community Center, Mound Street Beach in Ward 2, Montclair Men's Club, Gordon House at Quincy City Hospital, O'Rourke Field, Quincy Neighborhood Housing Service Center on Water St., Beechwood Community Center, corner Beale St. and Safford Park, the Atlantic Neighborhood Center, and the Squantum Community Center.

City Councillor Patricia Toland, committee chairman, reminds residents to call the Department of Public Works the day before their regular trash pick-up if they want any large pieces taken away.

"This is the time of year everyone likes to clean house, garage, attic, and cellar and get rid of things that have accumulated over the year," said Councillor Toland.

"While the Department of Public Works provides that service all year, we would like to emphasize it during this clean-up phase," she added.

"Quincy will be 'looking great' by Memorial Day weekend if everyone pitches in, pitch in their litter to the proper container or trash bag," said Toland.

One Way On Faxon Lane

The Traffic Commission has been asked to implement temporarily a one-way traffic pattern on Faxon Lane from Water St. to the end of the Quincy Cooperative Bank property.

City Councillor Theodore P. DeCristofaro, who filed the order in the Council, said the purpose of the experiment is to lessen traffic impact at Water St. and Quincy Ave.

Hospital Break

The door to a storeroom at the lunch room in Quincy City Hospital was removed from its hinges Sunday but hospital authorities said they could not determine if anything had been stolen.

17 to June 15, will be deferred until after the ABCC hearing scheduled to take place in the McCormack Building, Boston.

The License Board unanimously approved the suspension last week after a tense hearing with sworn witnesses to an incident which allegedly involved a gun shot.

City Clerk John Gillis said that he plans to attend the ABCC meeting. Gillis also said he would like Police Chief Francis Finn to attend the hearing as well.

Police Alert

By I.T. WILLIAM MURPHY
Quincy Police Dept.

Details Important Reporting Crime

When you are reporting a crime to the police remember to keep calm, speak clearly and understandably and give as many details as possible.

And it is of extreme importance to give the police the correct information. Incorrect information, like a wrong address, could cause a delay in assistance.

It is also important to give an accurate description of the attacker, mugger or molester.

When you are describing a person, these are the key things to remember:

- How tall was he? How much did he weigh?
- What was he wearing?
- Did he have any unusual characteristics, like a scar?
- What was the race of the person?
- What was the color of his hair and his eyes?
- Did he have a round, triangular, square or wide face?
- About how old was he?

When you are describing a vehicle that has been used in the crime, these are the things to remember:

- What was the make and type of the car?
- What was its color?
- What was the registration number?
- In what direction did it travel?

Details such as these are very important when it comes to reporting a crime to police.

Mayor Should Get Pay Raise

Question of the week:
Should the mayor of Quincy get more than $25,000 a year?

Most people think so.
A more difficult question:
How much more?

Mayor Francis McCauley has in his proposed $69.7 million budget for fiscal 1984 a two-step salary increase: to $32,500 starting July 1 and then to $40,000 Jan. 1.

He also seeks a $3,500 pay hike for the City Council effective Jan. 1. That would make it $6,500. The present $3,000 salary goes back to 1973.

'McCauley is also asking $1,500 for School Committee members who now draw no salary.

McCauley, you'd have to say, has political courage. Or, call it plain political guts.

His past attempt at a similar raise a few months ago got shot down by a nervous City Council that is facing re-election.

And, it could go down again.

In these times with a lot of people out of work, and those who are working tightening their belts, a proposed pay raise for mayor, city council and school committee may be like tossing a dozen of eggs into an electric fan. If you could afford the eggs. Or, the fan.

But somewhere along the line, Quincy has got to face up to the fact that the chief executive officer of a near $70 million a year corporation deserves more than $25,000 a year.

And that the "board" that puts the o.k. on the near $70 million should get more than $3,000 a year.

And that the "stockholders" should be willing to pay some $1,500 a year to help give their children the best possible education they can.

HANNON

The mayor's salary has been $25,000 since Walter Hannon became a full-time mayor back in 1973.

Quincy has stood still while other communities have kept up with the times.

Beverly (population 37,000) pays its mayor $35,000 and the salary will go to $40,000 Jan. 1.

Malden (population 53,400) pays $40,000.

Pittsfield (population 52,000) pays $26,700 and it will go to $33,400 Jan. 1.

Somerville (population 77,400) pays $40,000.

Fall River (population 92,200) pays $27,500 and will go to $30,000 Jan. 1.

Lawrence (population 62,800) pays $33,000.

Waltham (population 58,300) pays $32,000 and will go to $42,000 Jan. 1.

Of the major cities in Massachusetts, Quincy and hard hit New Bedford (population 98,000) are tied at $25,000 for the mayor's lowest salary.

McCauley's proposed salary seems pretty much in line with most other cities.

And, if you look right here in Quincy at some of the salaries of those who "work under the mayor", the latter's $25,000 pay is really out of financial whack. Here is what some of them are earning:

Assessor, $26,159. Treasurer-Collector, $26,478. Assessors Chairman, $26,995. Recreation Director, $26,995. Library Director $27,492. City Solicitor, $28,264. Planning Director, $31,240. Park-Recreation Executive Secretary, $31,240. Building Inspector, $31,240. Auditor, $34,884. Health Commissioner, $37,180. Public Works Commissioner, $37,180. Director of School Plant, $38,217. School Dept. Director Business Affairs, $40,877. Assistant School Superintendent, $44,425. Fire Chief, $44,745. Police Chief, $44,745. School Superintendent, $50,025.

Right now, the "boss" is low man on the salary totem pole compared to them. It doesn't make sense.

It may just be a coincidence. But there is such a scarcity of new candidates for elective office this year you can't help wondering if the times and financial facts of life have caught up to Quincy.

If Quincy is going to attract good candidates for public office, it has got to make an effort to pay a half-decent salary.

You get what you pay for, whether it's at the supermarket or in the polling booth.

The proposed pay raises would be a good investment in Quincy's future.

DeCristofaro For Mayor's, Against Council's Raise

City Councillor Theodore P. DeCristofaro says he will not vote for the proposed $3,500 raise for councillors but he'd take it if his colleagues were to vote it in.

"No, I don't think I'd donate it to any worthy cause," he told interviewers on the program "Newsmakers" on Quincy Cablestems Channel 3.

"All councillors donate a good percentage of their pay anyhow. I don't think it's a fact that most of our money goes there."

DeCristofaro said he figures he puts in 25 to 30 hours a week on City Council business, including two or three meetings plus time taken to handle constituent calls and complaints.

"I definitely believe that the mayor, who ever he is, should get more money," he said. "It's ludicrous that a city of this size pays the mayor $25,000. If the rest of the Council agrees on $40,000, I would go along with that."

"Members of the School Committee should get something but not as much as a city councillor. They don't put in the hours that we do. But I would forego a raise for the councillors in order for the school people to get something."

On other subjects, DeCristofaro made these points:

- Some of the Community Development Block Grant money expected for Ward 2 will be spent to expand some of the services at the Fore River Clubhouse.

- "We'd like to set up an office where people could come for services. For example, we might have a lawyer come down once a month and answer questions. We could have a place for people to call if they needed a ride."

- "I have it in writing from the MBTA, a steady commitment" that the small entrance to the Quincy Adams MBTA station will not be used as a walkway. "I'm going on the assumption that piece of paper is going to be our lifesaver."

- He has been approached by two councillors, James A. Sheets and Stephen J. McGrath, who are interested in being president of the City Council but he is uncomfortable. "For one thing, we haven't been re-elected yet."

- The traffic problem at the corner of Quincy Ave. and Water St. "definitely will be resolved this summer. Several different plans have been submitted and we're going to see which one is most feasible. It's a priority with me."

- Revaluation "will hurt a lot of old homeowners in Ward 2. They're going to feel it. Hopefully we'll also have classification along with it. It might take some of the burden off the homeowners."

DeCristofaro was interviewed on the program by John Noonan of The Quincy Sun; Herb Fontaine, news director of WJDA; and Ray McEachern, reporter for the Patriot Ledger.

$2 M Borrowing Sought To Build Schools

Mayor Thomas S. Burgin presided at a meeting of city and school officials and legislators to discuss a bill currently before the Committee on Municipal Finance that would allow Quincy to borrow $2 million outside the debt limit for school construction.

The legislators present, Reps. Charles W. Hedges, Avery W. Gilkerson, Alfred B. Keith and William W. Jenness, were urged to put their prestige behind the bill to insure a favorable report from the Committee. The bill had been filed by Jenness.

City Auditor Alexander Smith said the present borrowing capacity inside the debt limit was $590,000 and that would barely cover anticipated borrowing to purchase New Haven Railroad property, the Rock Island sewer project and replace old equipment.

A borrowing of $2 million, he said, would mean 75 cents or less on the tax rate.

The proposed $2 million loan would cover three major projects on the School Committee's schedule for the next two years: elementary schools in Germantown and on Fenn St., Wollaston, and an addition to the Trade School.

LONG ISLAND BRIDGE

Boston Mayor John B. Hynes announced plans to proceed immediately with construction of a viaduct from Squantum to Long Island at a cost of $2.7 million to save Boston about $200,000 a year in ferry service to transport employees of Long Island Hospital.

The central span of the 3,450-foot bridge would have a clearance of 53 feet at mean low tide, which would allow all but deep water vessels to pass from Boston to Quincy waters between Moon Head and Long Island.

WATER ABATEMENT PROPOSED

City Councillor David J. Crowley proposed that the city abate all water bills for the first half of 1950 as a means of easing the financial burden on Quincy residents. It would, he said, have the effect of reducing the tax rate by about $1.30.

Rummage Sale At Union Church

A rummage sale will be held Saturday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Union Congregational Church, 136 Rawson Rd., Wollaston.

'Get Hungry To Learn' Urges Squantum Pastor

Young people and others at the early service of the First Church of Squantum heard the church pastor, Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, urge the congregation "to get hungry to learn."

Dr. Langevin contended that it was "a sin not to use the mind God has given to you."

The text of his sermon, which was entitled "Getting Yourself Going," was, "How long will you lie there, O sluggard? When will you arise from your sleep?" (Proverbs 6:9)

Citing the recent report to President Ronald Reagan by the National Commission on Excellence in Education which found American education lacking, Dr. Langevin tried "to light a fire" under his listeners to go out and get the education they need.

The pastor suggested that Massachusetts taxpayers may have sold their birthright for a mess of pottage when they supported Proposition 2½ which has been responsible for widespread cutbacks in the services offered by the public schools.

"You cannot expect to see the schools do their best work if you are unwilling to pay what good education will cost. This may be the first generation of Americans who have been unwilling to give their children what they themselves had: a quality education."

"But forget about the taxpayers and forget about the schools: the only one who can really get that education for you is you yourself. You have to be willing to read and study and learn every day."

"You and your parents should expect that you will have at least two hours of homework every night. You and your parents should support the school authorities when they get tough on those who don't want to be there and only disrupt the class for everyone else."

Although the sermon was aimed particularly at young people, the minister did have some similar advice for their elders.

"No one is ever too old to learn. And when you stop learning, you have stopped living in an important respect."

Luther Swenson and David Williams served as ushers at this service. Hazel Mayne, Bonnie Adams, Gretchen Bumpus and Bonnie Sanderson served refreshments after the service.

Dr. Langevin's sermon at the second service was "How Are You Growing Spiritually?" His text for that sermon was, "But grow in the grace and knowledge of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ." (1 John 3:18a)

Earlier, in a talk entitled

"Shortly Meets Jesus" the pastor told the children of the church about the time that Zacchaeus was called down out of the tree by Jesus. He illustrated this talk with a large colored cartoon which stood on a large easel at the front of the sanctuary.

For the offertory, the Chancel Choir sang, "Teach Me, O Lord" by Thomas Attwood. Mary Ruth Scott directed.

Hymns sung during the service were "Joyful, Joyful We Adore Thee", "He Who Would Valiant Be", "Give to the Winds Thy Fears" and "Lord Dismiss Us With Thy Blessing."

Greeters for the morning were Evelyn Curry and Edna Swanson. Tore Wallin and Donald Frazer served as ushers. The Fellowship Hour after the service was hosted by Ellen Ogilvie and Sandra Stohberg.

After the second service, there was a meeting of the Congregation to hear a report by Calvin Bumpus, Chairman of the Board of Trustees.

As a result of his report, the church authorized the Stewardship Committee to raise a substantial sum of money to put a new roof on the church. Church Moderator Dorothy Abbe presided at the meeting.

There will be two services on May 22. Pentecost Sunday: a guitar service including the Lord's Supper at 8:30 a.m. and a traditional service at 10:30 a.m.

At the first service, the sermon will be "Becoming a Disciple." At the second, it will be "How Shall We Pray?"

"NEED A DATE FOR THE PROM?"

If you don't want to end the evening with Officer Flynn as your escort, "DON'T DRINK AND DRIVE" on Prom Night. During Prom season, the Metropolitan Police and other law enforcement agencies will be out in force to enforce the law and arrest violators. Make sure that high times and good spirits don't turn Prom Night into a bust! STEER CLEAR.

Quincy Cancer Crusade Reaches $6,000 Mark

The 1983 Quincy House-to-house Cancer Crusade has raised $6,000 to date announces Mrs. Muffie Ventresca, treasurer of the Quincy drive for many years.

The Hancock Bank has allowed the Quincy Cancer Crusade to use its offices as drop-off centers for the convenience of the volunteers.

Richard J. Koch, Quincy Cancer Crusade Chairman, requests that ward and precinct chairmen contact the Crusaders assigned for completion of returns. Over 1,000 volunteers in Quincy participated to assist in the effort and although many have finished their assignment, some have yet to make the kit returns. A number of residents have not been contacted according to the various chairmen.

Crusaders unable to complete their assignment because of illness or personal reasons should contact the precinct or ward chairman as soon as possible.

Volunteers who have not had an opportunity to visit their neighbors with the early detection educational information concerning cancer and the donation envelopes for research, education and patient care funds, are asked to make the visits in the area as quickly as possible.

A number of volunteers are still needed to assist in uncovered territories. Those interested in helping may contact Koch for assignment.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

A student in one of the large universities laments the loss of personal recognition. The student is given a number, known by a number, recognized by a number; seldom by name or as a person. In the complexities of modern civilization, all of us live in an age of numbers. Birth, scholastic, employment, marriage, death and social security records are kept by numbers. The glamour of numbers even includes a zip code for mail you receive or send. Our living in an age of numbers and computers is part of the price we pay for the luxury of growth.

Gone are the days when, for example, someone mailed a letter to Mark Twain, addressed - "The Lord knows where" - and got a reply, "He does." And this brings up an important realization. God, the creator of heaven and earth, needs no numbers to identify His children of the past and present. The prophets and palmist of yesteryear, the ministers, priests, rabbis, leaders and laymen of today, as well as you and your family are known to Him as persons. He knows who you are, where you are and what you are doing. Much joy in living is lost when He is denied accessibility and approachability in personal daily needs.

North Upsets Brockton, 4-2 Moves Into Lead

The North Quincy baseball team won its biggest game of the year last week, upsetting Brockton, 4-2, to take over first place in the Suburban League.

The win gave the Raiders a 3-1 league record and an overall 5-2 mark.

Last Friday night's scheduled game with Cambridge Rindge and Latin was rained out and was expected to be played yesterday (Wednesday).

Preceding the game the teams were due to finish a suspended game in which the teams were tied, 4-4.

"This was one of the finest games of the season," Coach Charlie Bunker said of the Brockton game. "Both teams played very well and it is always good to beat Brockton, which is always one of the best teams in the league."

North broke a 1-1 tie with three runs in the third inning, then rode the combined three-hit pitching of Steve Hogan and Jim Kelly to its big win.

Hogan went 5½ innings to get the win (he is 1-1) and Kelly finished up to get his first save of the season.

After Mike Gill and Bob O'Brien walked in the third, John Kozlowski, who had two hits, singled in Gill and O'Brien and Kozlowski later scored on an infield error.

Shoreside Club To Present Top Amateur Card

Quincy's Shoreside Boxing Club will present one of the top amateur cards in many years Monday, May 23, at 8 p.m. at the Quincy Armory.

With the exception of the AAU or Golden Glove finals, the show will feature more New England champions than any show presented in the area.

Among those expected to appear are Bob Johnson, New England AAU champ from the South Side Club of Providence, and Kilbert Pierce, NE Golden Glove champion from the Petronelli gym in Brockton. They are expected to meet for the unified New England heavyweight title.

Others will be Bob Guiducci, AAU and Golden Glove champ from the Wright gym in Weymouth, who is in Colorado Springs with the U.S. boxing team, and Kevin Sanchez, who are scheduled to meet in a rematch of a disputed decision for Guiducci.

Also slated to box on the card are Marty Foley, AAU champ from Rockland; Frank McDonald of the South Boston A.C., who may turn pro after this show; Mike Culbert, NE Golden Glove titlist from the Petronelli stable, and

Also listed are Brian Powers of the Petronelli gym; Red Shea of South Boston, Steve Miranda of New Bedford, Allan Yassen of Connolly's gym, South Boston; Jim Besson, Golden Gloves novice super heavyweight champ; and Tony Petriello of Roslindale.

The Quincy club wants to offer its shows to a family-oriented crowd and children's tickets will be only $3.00 at the door. Adult tickets will be available at various business outlets in Quincy.

Quincy Girls Defeat Waltham In Tennis

The Quincy girls' tennis team defeated Waltham, 4-1, last week to improve its record to 5-3.

Bernice DePietro and freshman Beth Doherty won their singles matches while Jennifer Dela Paz lost.

In doubles sophomores Joanne Doherty and Kathy Egan continued to roll along, winning in straight sets and Maureen Seamas and Mary Marchese also won.

The North Quincy girls blanked Brockton, 5-0, to make their record 2-4.

In singles Linda Rickson, Andrea McNiece and Sheila Egan won and the doubles teams of Nancy Peduzzi and Michele White, Mary Johnstone and Carol Johnson completed the sweep.

'Twin Bill' Tribute For Sullivan, Hutchinson

By TOM SULLIVAN

Bill Sullivan and Bill Hutchinson, will be honored June 16 at the George F. Bryan Post at "Twin Bill" party on the occasion of their retirement next month.

They have been among the best-known and respected teacher-coaches at Quincy High School, Sullivan since 1938 and Hutchinson since 1948.

Sullivan, a social studies teacher, was Quincy's head football coach from 1952 through 1959, had a 6-2 record against North Quincy and led the Presidents to five successive wins over North. He is the only coach in the 50-year rivalry to win more than three games in a row.

Sullivan was assistant to Coach Munroe McLean from 1938 to 1951 except for three years when both were in the service.

Sullivan served as a Navy lieutenant in World War II.

He also was head baseball coach from 1939 to 1961.

He starred in baseball and football at Quincy High in 1929, '30 and '31, played three years of baseball and was captain of the 1931 team, played three years of varsity football and was an all-scholastic tackle and full back in 1929 and '30.

For the past several years Sullivan has served as ticket-taker at all Quincy and North Quincy home football games.

Hutchinson was Quincy's hockey coach from 1948 to 1965 and has been guidance counsellor and faculty manager since 1965.

Bill graduated from North Quincy High in 1939, played varsity hockey for four years at Northeastern University, was captain in 1943 and he was an All-East selection in 1943.

BILL HUTCHINSON

Hutchinson served in the Army from 1943 to 1945, is a member of the State Coaches Hall of Fame, coached eight tournament teams at Quincy and for many years was a college and high school hockey official.

Sue Keith In Good Season At Curry

Senior Sue Keith of Quincy had a good season for the Curry College varsity softball team, which finished fast after a disastrous start to finish at 6-8.

The evening for Sullivan and Hutchinson will be held from 6 p.m. to midnight. There will be entertainment and a buffet. Tickets are $12.50 per person.

Tickets are on sale at the Quincy and North Quincy High main offices, Balducci's Sub Shop, Dee Dee's Lounge and Leon's Hair Stylist.

The Colonels were 0-6, then won six of their last eight games, finishing up with a win over Framingham State in the second game of a season-ending doubleheader.

Bill O'Malley, a junior from Quincy, has been elected captain of next year's Amherst College men's varsity basketball team.

O'Malley, who will also captain the football team next fall, played an important role as backup guard and his heady play and tenacious defense helped the Lord Jeffs to a 16-7 record and the Little Three title last season.

Beechwood Knoll Center, undefeated in the senior basketball league sponsored by the Quincy Recreation Dept., utilized 19 different players in capturing the all-city championship in the end-of-season single elimination tournament.

Beechwood defeated Atherton Hough Center, 58-43, in the championship game.

Beechwood got 26 points from Greg DiBella, all on field goals, with 14 coming in the second half. Bob Flynn had 23 points, Jim Kelly had four and was outstanding on both boards, and Jamie Paz' four rounded out the mooring.

Although only five persons scored, Beechwood Coach Jack Kelly went to his bench early and often in his mass substitution, pressure defense. Kelly carries 19 players and used them all.

Mike Sullivan, Dave Brown, Mike Murphy, John Kelly, John Murphy and Larry Leonard all were effective.

Atherton Hough's top scorer was Peter McCarron with 14 points, Vin Servais had 10, Joe McLaughlin seven, Joe Shea and Larry Brennan two. Tom Elmore and Rich Callahan played excellent defense for Atherton Hough, coached by Kevin Craig and Bob Uhlar.

Beechwood defeated Snug Harbor, 69-57, in the semifinals. Jim Kelley and Flynn led the way for Beechwood, while Paul Connolly, Carl Freeman, Dale Adams and Jim Perry all played well for Snug Harbor.

Atherton Hough edged Point and squeezed by Atlantic, 54-53, in a triple overtime marathon to make the finals.

Most long-time tournament followers agreed this was one of the best-played games in tournament history. Atherton Hough went to foul line nine times in overtime and hit on eight of the shots.

Mike Phelan led Coach

George Dunn's Atlantic team with 14 points, Mark Scanlan had eight and Paul Cahill six. Scanlan and Mike Cavanaugh chipped in with clutch baskets in the overtime.

Coach John DiNardo's Point team outscored Atherton Hough, 12-8, in the fourth quarter and just missed catching up. Don Parry, John Burn, Jim Austin, Jim Jaehning and Larry LeCours played well. In the opening round Snug Harbor defeated Montclair, 43-33, with Mark Bilton, Mark Kubera, Lou Morales and Dan Baker all playing strong games for Montclair.

Recreation Director Barry J. Welch presented trophies to the members of the Beechwood Knoll team and certificates of merit to the Atherton Hough players.

The tournament concluded the 25-week winter program sponsored by the Recreation Dept. in school gyms throughout the city.

DON'T TOY WITH SAFETY

Unsafe toys can do untold harm to children. Here are some precautionary measures to take when toy shopping.

Pass up any toy that easily comes apart, leaving sharp metal or plastic edges exposed. Also, pass up dolls and stuffed animals that have straight pins or other built-in hazards hidden in the body, hair, or clothing. (And be sure to check that doll clothing and stuffing are labeled "nonflammable".)

If you're shopping for an older child, keep in mind that many "toys" - science sets, for example, containing real chemicals - can be potentially dangerous.

Chemicals and equipment must be labeled; and the directions enclosed should be both simple and complete. Bicycles, skate boards, and other riding equipment should be examined for parts that might injure a child if fallen upon. All screws, bolts, clamps must be secured tightly.

WEEK OF: MAY 19, 1983

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19
Neighbors are buzzing with news - take much of it with more than a grain of salt. Loved one seems cool but your first impression - here and elsewhere - may prove far from correct.

PISCES - February 20-March 20
Avoid financial or other potentially costly risks, for hunches are weak right now. On the other hand, your taste is on target - a delightful week for decorating and creating.

ARIES - March 21-April 20
Keywords now are simplification and cutting back. Doing this will lead ultimately to expansion. Formerly impractical plans can be put to use. Weekend offers chance to see new places.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22
Selectivity is week's keyword. There are many choices on the platter - pick those which are beneficial in the long term. Thrift pays off now. Loved one is ready for commitment.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21
Entertaining Gemini can make a lot out of a little this week, your imagination is unusually active. Opt for warm colors which enhance your mood. Try not to resist change.

CANCER - June 22-July 22
Entertaining Gemini can make a lot out of a little this week, your imagination is unusually active. Opt for warm colors which enhance your mood. Try not to resist change.

LEO - July 23-August 22
Cheerful news from out of town highlights a busy work week. You can help friends unearth hidden talents and enhance their self confidence. Home surroundings may be upgraded.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22
Reluctant acquaintances go out of their way to accommodate you - check for strings that could be attached. Min windfall may strike by Monday or Tuesday.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22
Optimistic outlook helps you over a domestic obstacle course and on to more cheerful horizons. Meeting the increased demands of a superior is beneficial in the long term.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21
You're given to excesses now, but don't go overboard expressing emotions. Search for the right word, wait for the perfect moment. Sports and cultural events introduce you to new friend.

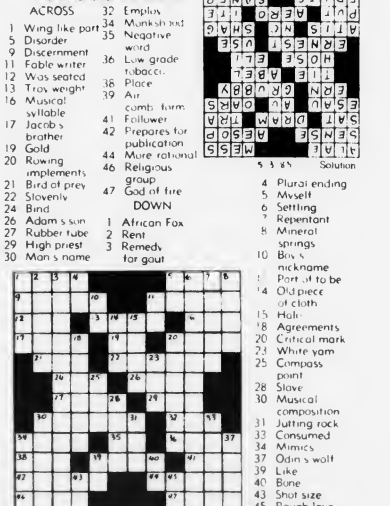

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22
Friendship circle is enlarged now. Financial status can be upgraded when you combine hard work with creative flourishes. Out of town guests may drop by on weekend.

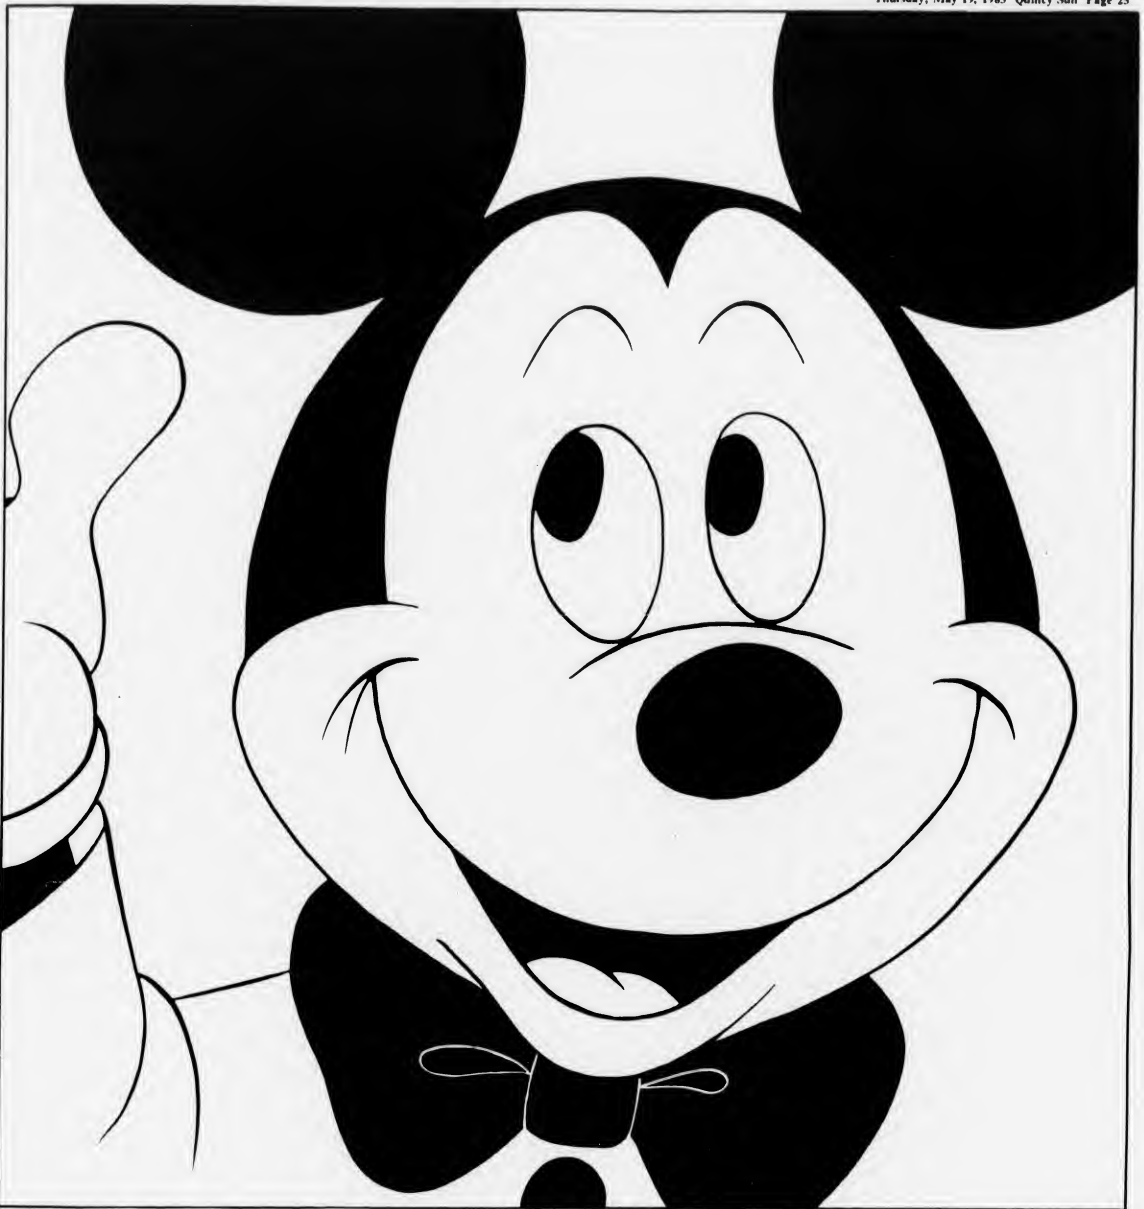

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20
Avoid weekend risk taking as you tend to be accident prone. Legal negotiations swing in your favor. Romantic instincts are sharp - follow your heart, not your sense of logic.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
A polished conversationalist, your verbal skills give you the edge over the competition. But while you're sensitive to the needs of others, you can be a little vague and a little secretive. Accent this year is on ideas and intellectual relationships.

BORN THIS WEEK

LaRaia Blocks City Defense In Fabrizio Suit

understanding that Fabrizio "would settle tomorrow if Tobin agreed to apologize to him. I can't because I didn't initiate the action for removal."

Tobin was not available for comment.

LaRaia called Tobin's action against Fabrizio "completely irresponsible."

"Up until now, the court has not heard the facts in the case," he said, adding that once the facts were heard Fabrizio might win a $1,250,000 judgement against the city.

LaRaia noted that a number of such legal actions were taken against Tobin by dismissed city employees and "the city has lost most of the previous cases like this."

"It we added up the amount of dollars that it cost the city, we would all be in a state of shock," he said. "If I said up to $500,000 I would not be far off."

"It didn't cost any city officials any money to lose these cases. The city paid. The tragedy is what it cost the city employees to go to court. We have to put an end to these injustices that were carried over from a previous administration."

When Nicastro checked with the U.S. Court of Appeals Tuesday morning, however, he was told that Fabrizio's briefs had not been filed.

It was not clear to him, Nicastro said, if Fabrizio was eligible for a two-week continuance for filing.

"The case may not be over yet," said Nicastro.

Newport Ave. Traffic Study Requested

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell has asked the City Council to order a traffic study of Newport Ave., between Holbrook Rd., North Quincy, and Brook St.

Wollaston.

He suggested in a letter to Councillor Patricia Toland that a traffic light at the corner of Hobart St. and Newport Ave. in Wollaston might be in order.

"The area has been developed commercially in recent years," said Brownell, "and area residents are concerned that proper public safety measures have not accompanied the planned development."

The volume of traffic at Hobart and Newport has increased greatly due to the Stop and Shop and the Newport Mini-Mall, he said.

Copies of the letter were sent to Council President John J. Lydon Jr., and Police Chief Francis X. Finn, chairman of the Traffic Commission.

School Window Broken

A rear window of the Furnace Brook School was discovered broken early Monday morning but a check of the building disclosed that nothing was apparently taken.

Eric's Auto Body will remain at the rear of the building, while the transmission company will be located at the front.

- Granted a request from Freddy's Auto Sales & Service, Inc., 54 Water St., South Quincy, for additional storage of 5,000 gallons of gasoline under ground, for a total storage of 12,000 gallons, and change of manager from Alfred DiGiusto to Nicholas DiGiusto of Quincy.

Fire Chief Edward Barry praised the new tanks which are to be installed, and said he anticipated no problems.

- Granted a one day all alcoholic license to Quincy Junior College for a post commencement reception Sunday, June 5, 3:30 p.m. to 6 p.m. at the National Fire Protection Association headquarters, West Quincy.

- Postponed to May 24, due to the hospitalization of the applicant, a hearing on the request from Manet Motors, 108 Washington St., for an auto body license.

QCBPA Takes Stand

Harold Sees Key Funds For Burgin Ext.

By TOM HENSHAW

Sen. Paul D. Harold said Tuesday he is "very optimistic" the MDC will obtain $1.5 to $2 million in time for bids on its South Quincy culvert project to coincide with the opening of the Quincy Adams MBTA station.

At the same time, the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association voted to unanimously support two city councilors in their efforts to block the opening of the station until bids on concurrent projects are accepted.

If the bids are not out, Harold said, he too will insist that the station not be opened.

The MBTA station is scheduled to open Sept. 10 but the MDC's culvert project and construction of the Burgin Parkway Extension were halted short of the bidding stage when the MDC disclosed that it was $1.5 to $2 million short.

Harold said he has spoken to Gov. Michael S. Dukakis and the agencies involved and that the money for the MDC may be available through an administrative transfer.

"I don't want to wait for legislation to get the money," he said.

"Indications are the Dukakis administration will make every effort to raise the money by transfer but, until it is available, I would hate to announce that it is there.

"I hope we can have the projects out for bid before the opening of the station. If not, I will insist that the station not be opened."

Directors of the QCBPA, at a special meeting on the Burgin Parkway Extension Tuesday, voted its enforcement of Harold's efforts.

They also voted to support Councilors James A. Sheets and Theodore DeCristofaro in effort to block opening of the station "until the Burgin Parkway extension construction bids are accepted."

The QCBPA said in a statement that it "recognizes the strong stand of Councilors DeCristofaro and Sheets on the Burgin Parkway Extension as one which directly involves members doing business in downtown Quincy."

"The completion of the Burgin Parkway Extension is vital to downtown Quincy."

The MDC's culvert project, which is aimed at controlling flooding in South Quincy, has to be in place before Burgin Parkway construction can begin.

McCauley Hopeful For Multibank Computer Center

Mayor Francis X. McCauley says he is still hopeful that Multibank Financial Corp. will relocate its data processing center in Quincy, possibly in the semi-abandoned Presidents Plaza on Quincy Ave.

But a source close to the negotiations said Multibank may already have decided to move the center to Dedham.

The city would lose more than 100 jobs should the financial giant, parent of the South Shore Bank, decide to consolidate its computer operations in one place in Dedham.

"If the center came to Quincy the jobs would remain and others would come with them," said McCauley.

Arthur J. Foley, McCauley's aide who has been meeting with Multibank officials, said he does not think the company is seriously considering the Sears building in downtown Quincy.

"One criteria is that everything be on one floor and that there be room for expansion," said Foley. "That would make the decision between Presidents Plaza and the Dedham location."

"They listened and they asked a lot of questions about the buildings."

One of the problems reportedly at the Presidents Plaza site is that the Rev. Bedros Baharian, former chairman of the Planning Board, and businessman John Grossman have an option on the property.

Two years ago, Baharian, a director of the South Shore Bank, was involved on the losing side in a bitter proxy battle to oust Multibank's officers, including its chairman, David B. Lynch.

Some loose ends of the proxy fight are still in court. Baharian Tuesday confirmed reports that Quincy developer Peter O'Connell has joined him and Grossman as an equal partner in the option to buy or lease Presidents Plaza.

A source said that Multibank earlier ruled out the Quincy Ave. site as unsuitable for the center largely because of Baharian's involvement.

He noted also that Multibank, which has seven subsidiary banks around the state, is directing its expansion plans to the western part of the state and the Dedham site would be a compromise.

Century-Old Water Main Break Floods Quincy Ave.

Two side-by-side water mains, one of them a cast iron pipe nearly 100 years old, burst on Quincy Ave., near Water St., Monday afternoon, closing the busy thoroughfare to traffic for more than two hours.

David Colton, administrative assistance in the Public Works Department, estimated that between two and five million gallons of water was lost.

It took work crews from the Sewer, Water and Drain Division the better part of two hours, from about 3 p.m. to 4:45 p.m., to find the breaks in the pipes and locate the shut off valves.

"The complication which no one suspected was two mains had broken," said

Colton.

He said a 16-inch main, installed in 1926, apparently burst first and the force of the water and dirt crumbled an 8-inch main, which dates back to 1884, one of the two oldest in the city.

Some 12 valves had to be found and turned before the water was shut off, said

W. Quincy Access Road Nears Final Approval

The access road that Presidents Plaza Realty Trust needs to open the way for a multi-million dollar office complex in West Quincy has taken another step toward construction.

The Planning Board last week recommended that the Zoning Board of Appeals approve the road, which is the final permission needed to start construction.

Planning Director James Lydon said once zoning board approval is gained construction of the road could start in late summer.

The road will permit the developers to bring trucks loaded with fill for the Old Colony Crushed Stone site with minimum adverse affect on the West Quincy neighborhood.

The Planning Board also recommended that the dumping of fill be approved.

It was necessary to go to both the Planning Board and the Zoning Board for permission because a section of the road had to go through a flood plain zone.

Chlorine Facility Proposed For Nut Island

The Conservation Commission was scheduled to hold a public hearing yesterday (Wednesday) at 7:35 p.m. on a proposal by the MDC to build a new chlorine facility at the Nut Island Sewage Treatment Plant.

The request for the hearing was made by Robert F. Daylor, president of Quincy Shores Association, Inc., a group of neighborhood residents who have been monitoring the Nut Island plant.

According to the MDC proposal, the facility would be used by large chlorine trucks. The building would be the same size as the present administration building and would be within 25 feet of the coastal bank.

Quincy Oyster House To Be Finian's Pub

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN
The Quincy Oyster House, a landmark in Quincy Sq., will go by a new name, Finian's Pub Ltd. The license Board granted permission at Tuesday's meeting for a change in name of the pub at 1657 Hancock St.

The change must be approved by the Alcoholic Beverages Control Commission.

A noon opening on Sundays was also approved. Owner and manager James A. Hession said that he spoke to clergymen at nearby Christ Church and St. John's Church and they had no opposition to the earlier opening.

The earlier opening is subject to approval by the Health Department. Hession was instructed to keep the back of the property cleared of rubbish.

Fire Chief Edward Barry asked Hession why the pub, which is being remodeled, has to look like "a fortress."

"I don't think those things do much for the city of Quincy," Barry said.

Atty. Robert W. Langlois, representing Hession, said that his client is restricted in renovations because he does not own the building.

Hession told the board he plans to have "the nicest place in the city of Quincy."

Board 'Melts' On Name For Ice Cream Shop

Lickidy Split may not be the License Board's ideal choice as the name of an ice cream shop in an historic district, but it didn't stop member from "melting" a little and granting a license anyway.

The board voted unanimously Tuesday to grant common victualer and Lord's Day licenses to Mrs. Cheryl Silvestro of South Quincy for the shop at 146 Franklin St., near the Adams Birthplaces.

Mrs. Silvestro told the board that she provides lunches at the Woodward School for Girls and Archbishop Williams High School, and also has a catering business.

She said that the ice cream shop would offer soft serve and old fashioned ice cream with toppings, coffee, brownies and cookies from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily.

Mrs. Silvestro said she hoped to open the shop the first week in June.

Building Inspector Allan MacDonald said that he was not very impressed with the name of the proposed shop.

"It should have some class," said MacDonald.

"You have your idea with respect to names, and I have mine," Fire Chief Edward Barry told Mrs. Silvestro.

"I don't think certain names add anything with respect to the history of the city."

Mrs. Silvestro replied that she had spoken to members of the Historic District Commission and they didn't object to the name.

Some of the members thought it was cute, added Mrs. Silvestro.

Barry said that Historic Commission members should have attended the meeting.

"I didn't see them popping up when we had that difficult decision with the (name of the Big Belly) Deli," added Barry.

Police Chief Francis Finn, acting board chairman in the absence of City Clerk John Gillis, asked if Mrs. Silvestro would be willing to change the name.

Mrs. Silvestro said she originally considered President's Ice Cream as a name.

"I don't like it," she said, "but you have to do a lot of things that you don't like."

"I don't think it (Lickidy Split) takes away from the city."

"But if you can't fight city hall, you can't fight city hall."

"You have a right to fight the name," noted Barry.

"But it wouldn't do any good," replied Mrs. Silvestro.

After some discussion, Barry made the motion to grant the license for Lickidy Split.

An apparently surprised Mrs. Silvestro replied, "Thank you" and was met by scattered applause as she rose to leave.

After the meeting, Barry explained, "Even though I disagreed with the name, it wasn't sufficient cause to deny it."

"I disagreed more strongly with the Full Bell Deli."

License Transfer Approved For Ship Restaurant

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The License Board approved the transfer Tuesday of the common victualer-all alcoholic license from the Port O'Call Restaurant to the Edmund Fitzgerald at the Boston Harbor Marina, North Quincy.

The Edmund Fitzgerald, formerly known as the S.S. John Wanamaker, when it was docked in Boston, was scheduled to open yesterday (Wednesday). Hours will be 11:30 a.m. to 1 a.m. weekdays and Saturdays. It will open at Noon on Sundays.

Manager will be Richard C. Barrett. Also involved in the operation will be Barrett's father, Frank Barrett, who runs Teel's Cabin in Abington.

The elder Barrett explained that the name Edmund Fitzgerald comes from a popular song by Gordon Lightfoot about the sinking of the ship.

"I hope business doesn't sink as well," quipped Barrett.

Walter Hannon of Boston Harbor Marina told the board the Fitzgerald will be temporarily docked at pier B and then will be moved to its permanent location nearby.

Hannon said "a fortune" has been spent on the boat but they've done a "beautiful job."

Building Inspector Allan MacDonald said he was concerned about patrons banging their heads going through one of the doors.

Hannon said he didn't want to "destroy the integrity of the room for the sake of someone ducking his head."

"It's a boat," Hannon pointed out to the board.

The board also granted a common victualer license for the Anchors Inn, a snack bar, 542 East Squantum St., also managed by Richard Barrett.

The snack bar is scheduled to open in about two weeks.

Kelly Asks Probe Of H.N. Oil Slick

City Councillor Leo J. Kelly has asked the Coast Guard to investigate the source of an oil slick which was reported in the bay last week extending from Nut Island to Raccoon Island.

Kelly said the slick was observed by the pilot of a Coast Guard helicopter that was engaged in a search for a missing fisherman off Peddocks Island.

"Oil slicks in this same area have been reported in the past," said Kelly.

"However, these reports have emanated from private sources and never from a source such as the Coast Guard."

The oil appears to come from a spot on the stone embankment at the Nut Island Sewage Treatment plant, he said.

2 Proposals From Quincy Animal League

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

On March 25, the Board of Directors of the Quincy Animal League voted to submit two proposals to the mayor and council for their consideration.

First, we proposed that dogs available for adoption at the Quincy pound be listed in the Around the Pounds column carried weekly in the Patriot Ledger. This is a free service of the South Shore Humane Society, and would cost the city nothing. All surrounding pounds are listed, but not ours. Letting people know what dogs are available would certainly increase adoptions, thus cutting down on the number of dogs killed or sent to Harvard. No sound reason has been advanced as to why this cannot be done.

Our second proposal is admittedly more costly and more controversial. It calls for increased patrolling and pick-up of stray dogs, with stiffer fines to their owners. We recognize the difficulties that are connected with this. The pound is too small, manpower is short, and the budget is strained.

However, it is a problem the city can no longer afford to ignore. Large dogs in particular are a source of annoyance and danger to many who walk our streets.

The current leash law is largely ignored, the mayor himself was recently bitten, and children and smaller pets have been brutally maimed and in some cases killed by roving dogs.

Owners of small dogs who walk them on a leash do so in constant fear, and the dog population is growing because people are too unconcerned to spend a few dollars to have their animals spayed or neutered. The situation must be addressed now.

If city funds are not available, let the city look to the county, state or federal government for assistance. If $26 million dollars a year can be spent to support three ex-presidents and their libraries, surely we can do something about the Quincy dog pound.

We need public support for these proposals to show that others feel as we do. In the past two months no response has come from city hall. If the people of Quincy agree with our proposals we urge them to call the mayor and councilors and let them know.

We would also welcome ideas and opinions sent to us at Box 173, Wollaston, 02170. These animals concern us all.

Anselmo Running -- At 85

Frank Anselmo has made up his mind. "I will run again," says he.

Anselmo, who will be 85 in September, is now completing his 22nd year on the School Committee and ready for more.

"I feel good," he says. "The other day someone told me I look better now than I did 20 years ago. My doctor says I'm in good shape."

Anselmo says he's running again because:

"The School Committee needs my strong, outspoken voice.

"I want to continue to give the kids the best possible education we can."

And, he adds:

"I'm definitely one School Committee candidate not looking for political advancement and not running for money or prestige."

Anselmo says if the City Council approves the $1500 salary proposed by Mayor Francis McCauley for School Committee members he will not take it.

"I'll have them put it in escrow for a scholarship fund," he says. "And I personally will match it dollar for dollar."

SCHOOL COMMITTEE incumbents Christopher Kennedy and John Sullivan who are also due up for reelection this year haven't made it official but they are expected to run again.

Right now, the School Committee field seems to have the best chance of producing a preliminary election runoff.

Seven candidates are required. If all three incumbents run as expected, it will make at least five candidates because two challengers are already campaigning. Only two more are needed.

William Arienti will hold a kick-off fund-raiser Friday, June 3 from 8 p.m. to midnight at the Fore River Clubhouse. Tickets are $7.50 and will be available at the door or by contacting the committee at 770-3441.

License Board Briefs

The Quincy License Board took the following action at Tuesday morning's meeting at City Hall:

- Granted a one day all alcoholic license to the Norfolk Labor Council, AFL-CIO, 195 East Squantum St., for a benefit dance Saturday, June 18, 7:30 p.m. to midnight at the Montclair Men's Club.

- Granted permission to the North Quincy High School Parents' Advisory Group to hold a flea market Saturday, June 25, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the school parking lot. No used clothing is to be sold. The Health Department is to be consulted if food is sold.

- Continued to June 7 a request from Robert McManus and Thomas Tighe, Jr., for a lodging house license at 25 Shaw St., Quincy Point. The board's joint inspection team will visit the lodging house.

- Continued to June 7 a hearing on conditions at the Palmer Pub, 520 Sea St. The board was notified that John W. Smith of Palmer's Pub is out of state due to an illness in the family.

- Allowed to be withdrawn without prejudice a request from Manet Motors, 108 Washington St., for an auto body license. Building Inspector Allan MacDonald said that zoning does not allow such a business. Timothy P. Dunn of Manet Motors can ask the Zoning Appeals Board for a variance.

Traffic Supervisor Hurt In Accident

A police traffic supervisor was injured Monday when the parked car in which she was sitting was involved in an accident with two other cars at West and Centre Sts., West Quincy.

Camilla Napoleone of 53 Loring St., West Quincy, was treated at Quincy City Hospital and released.

Two others, Vicki M. Piazza, 19, and Peter Marsiglia, 15, both of Dorchester, also were treated and released from the hospital.

Police said car driven by Piazza was in collision with an auto driven by Paul F. Johnson, 62, of 161 Sumner St., Quincy Point.

The impact drove the two moving cars into the parked car in which Napoleone was waiting to take up her crossing duties when school closed for the day.

Police said Piazza had just purchased her car and was on her way to have the plates transferred from another vehicle.

ANSELMO

And, Steve Durkin has already kicked off his campaign with a fund-raiser and has bumper stickers around. He's a graduate of the New England School of Law.

REV. FRANK BAUER will be celebrating four milestones Sunday, June 12.

He and his wife will celebrate the 40th anniversary of their marriage and his ordination.

He will mark the 25th anniversary of his chaplaincy in the Ancient & Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts and the 15th anniversary as executive director of Wollaston Lutheran Church Apartments, Inc.

There will be a buffet from noon to 2:30 p.m. at Fenno House, 540 Hancock St. and from 4 to 7 p.m. at Town Brook House, 45 Bracket St. Congratulations!

GORDON

YOU'LL PROBABLY REMEMBER a few weeks that Ruth Gordon was sending me two copies of "Descent From Glory," Paul C. Nagel's book about Quincy's illustrious Adams family.

"It's the finest modern book I've read," Miss Gordon said. She asked me to present the two copies to the Crane Public Library which she remembers with fondness as a Quincy High School student.

Talk about coincidences. Nagel happened to be in Quincy the day that column came out and called to say hello and "thank you."

"It's the nicest thing that has happened to me," he said of Miss Gordon's praise for his book.

I invited him to accompany me to the library where we presented the books to Library Director Warren Watson and Board Chairman L. Paul Marini. Both were thrilled at receiving the books and meeting the author.

Nagel autographed the two copies and wrote this inscription in each: "With gratitude to Ruth Gordon for this gift to the Crane Library."

Some Tips On Bicycle Safety

This is the time of year when kids and some adults think about rolling their bicycles out of cellars or garages and heading for the open road.

Here are some spring safety checks:

- Are the brakes working smoothly? Does the hand brake work easily?
- Can the reflector be seen from 300 feet away?
- Do the tires have the correct air pressure? Are they tight on the rim? Are they worn out?
- Does the bike have a bell that can be heard from 100 feet away?

When your bike is on a city street you are considered part of the traffic and you are expected to observe all the rules, regulations and traffic control devices that a driver of a car has to obey.

When you are on a city street:

- Ride single file, never two or three abreast.
- Stay to the right. Never ride against the flow of traffic.
- Don't weave or make unexpected turns.
- Be where motorists expect you to be.
- Try to avoid bicycling at night but, if you have to, equip your bike with a headlight and the proper reflectors.

Remember, a bicycle in poor condition is dangerous even for an expert. Have yours checked by a mechanic at least once a year. Ask your parents or an older friend to help you with minor repairs.

Dr. Creedon:

Only New Money Will Solve Teachers Pay Dispute

School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon says he feels there will be no settlement of the current teachers' contract deadlock "until some new source of revenue comes on the scene."

And he is not optimistic about that, he told interviewers on the program "Newsmakers" on Quincy CableSystems Channel 3.

"Most recently," he said, "we were confronted with the fact the state may be facing a deficit this coming year, a shortfall of hundreds of millions of dollars."

"And we are hearing the possibility of not as much state aid as was just recently predicted. All those things will determine just what is going to happen."

Creedon said he does not think the teachers' salary requests are out of line.

"What the teachers are requesting is very modest, only a 4 or 5 per cent increase that would have been effective last September," he said. "There's also the issue of the raises that were never granted from 1979. That amounts to $1.5 million. "You take that $1.5 million and the current situation that amounts to about a million and you have a $2.5 million price tag."

"The teachers are aware that while they have been working without a contract other city departments have won salary increases."

"The teachers are aware that in the first year of Proposition 2½ the entire impact was borne by the school system."

"The teachers are aware that in two years of 2½ the city of Quincy has received approximately $10 million in new additional state aid and only $400,000 of that has found its way into the support of the public school system."

"There is a tremendous inequity there and I'm concerned about it."

Creedon said members of the school administration "have been monitoring other ways of generating funding from within the resources that we currently have."

"For example," he said, "if enrollment is going to continue to go down -- and indeed it will -- then can we assume that the city authorities will allow us to maintain a level-funded budget for the foreseeable future?"

"If we're not going to get any additional revenue, can we more or less count on the revenue that we have now?"

"We are also looking to prioritizing the things that need to be returned into the school system and use those monies that become available to us in that way."

"We're also taking a look at reviewing the whole goal-setting process of the school system through workshops and the efforts of parents and teachers and what have you."

Creedon said it is the uncertainty of future financing that has caused the recent furor over accreditation of North Quincy High School.

"North Quincy High School is fully accredited," he said. "The New England Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges has 11 standards of membership and North Quincy High School has satisfactorily responded to all of them."

"However, it is true that the association has served notice that, due to the serious lack of adequate financial support, the future for any public school in Quincy is rather bleak."

"Unless, of course, something is done to correct the inadequacy of funding for public education that we have been experiencing for the past two years."

Creedon was interviewed on the program by John Noonan of The Quincy Sun; Herb Fontaine, news director of WJDA; and Jason Seiken, education writer for the Patriot Ledger.

Quincy's Yesterdays

By Tom Henshaw

Wartime Rules Restrict Sailors As Season Opens

Quincy's first war-time yachting season in nearly a quarter of a century faced the traditional Memorial Day opening burdened by new Coast Guard and Navy restrictions that included personal identification cards and boat licenses.

Licenses for Zone C entitled the owners to sail their boats only in the waters of Quincy Bay. Other licenses were issued for Zone A, Winthrop Bay; Zone B, Dorchester Bay; and Zone D, Hingham Bay.

Enemy aliens, revolvers, explosives and cameras were not permitted on board and radio transmitters were required to be sealed at all times.

"It is desirable that owners put their boats in the water in order that they may not only be used for recreation but kept in condition for possible employment for war needs," said Rear Adm. W. T. Larrant, commandant of the First Naval District.

INDIAN FIGHTER

Albert E. Gore of Quincy Point, 85 years old and a veteran of the Indian wars and World War I was an honored guest at Quincy's Memorial Day services. The featured speaker was Thomas H. Buckley, a prominent legionaire from Abington.

"We go forward proudly behind the men from this community and every other part of the United States who will again furnish the glorious pages of history with exploits of heroism, of sacrifice, of glory for their nation and its success and progress," said Buckley.

SCHOOL CLOSINGS

The School Committee voted to close the Washington School in Quincy Point in the wake of a $28,000 budget cut by the City Council and Vice Chairman Heslip E. Sutherland said closure of the Pollard and Point Junior High Schools is possible in the future.

'Covenant Of Discipleship' At Squantum Church

Four teenagers publicly affirmed their intention to follow Jesus Christ at the First Church of Squantum Sunday morning during the early service in a new "Covenant of Discipleship" ceremony.

The act was appropriate to the day since it was Pentecost, a day traditionally recognized as the beginning of the missionary outreach of the Christian Church.

The covenant, which is new at the Squantum church, marks the start of a faith journey for the young people which will eventually lead to confirmation or a believer's baptism (immersion), whichever applies.

Except that it must be renewed every 12 months and may not be renewed after the young person is 18, there is no time limit to this period of training in discipleship.

The duration may be a matter of months or years until the young person feels ready to make a final faith commitment to Jesus Christ.

Participating were Bonnie Adams, Dianne Ahearn, Tom McKim and

Flea Market At Point

Congregational

Quincy Point Congregational Church will hold a flea market Saturday, June 11, 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. in the church parking lot.

There will be a lunch room.

Table space may be reserved by calling the church office, 773-6424.

Susan Scott. Assisting church pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin with the service were Deacons Katharine Hansen, Mary Ruth Scott, Steven Williams and Hazel Mayne.

After they had given public testimony of their faith, the young people were invited to share in the Lord's Supper. At the end of the service, each was given a scroll inscribed with the covenant to which they had agreed.

All four teenagers have been active in the youth programs of the church during the past year, have been faithful in their attendance at worship and Christian education programs and have indicated to the pastor their personal acceptance of Jesus Christ as Lord. Those conditions are required of all wishing to enter this new covenant.

The Youth Choir sang an anthem entitled "The Power and the Glory" by Joyce Eilers. Dr. Langevin preached on the subject "Becoming a Disciple".

The pastor explained that both he and the Board of Deacons of the church discourage young people from making a final faith commitment to Jesus Christ before they reach at least the age of 15 so that they can more fully understand what they are doing when they finally do make that commitment.

During the second service, the new disciples were recognized before the congregation by the pastor. The Chancel Choir sang "Come, All Ye Saints" by Georg Philipp Telemann.

Dr. Langevin told the children in the congregation the story of Pentecost and then preached to the adults on the topic, "How Shall We Pray?"

Hymns sung during the service were "Praise to the Lord, the Almighty", "Spirit of God, Descend Upon My Heart", and "O for a Thousand Tongues to Sing".

Sarah Midram and Susan Scott were greeters at the second service. Ushers were Don Frazer and Tore Wallin. Helen Miller and May Lewis hosted the Fellowship Hour after the service.

Later in the day the four young people who had entered into the Covenant of Discipleship were honored at a special dinner held for them by members of two church boards, the Board of Deacons and the Board of Trustees.

There will be two services next Sunday: a guitar service at 8:30 a.m. at which the sermon by church pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin will be "The Splendor of Service", a sermon on the life of missionary Adoniram Judson, and a traditional service at 10:30 a.m. at which the sermon topic will be "Dealing with Grief".

On Sunday, June 5, the church will celebrate "Sailing Sunday". This is a celebration of the Christian faith in terms of the "sailing" metaphor.

Worshippers are invited to attend dressed as they would to go on a ship, a boat or a dingy. Each child is asked to bring a toy sailboat to the service.

The morning will begin with a Shipboard Breakfast at 9:15 a.m. for which the menu will be: orange juice, scrambled eggs, bacon, hash browned potatoes, muffins and a beverage.

He died Friday of an apparent heart attack in Brockton at the age of 77.

His father, the late Rev. Karl F.H. Henrikson, was the founder of the West Quincy Congregational Church.

A native of Quincy, he had lived in Brockton for the past 15 years.

He leaves his wife, Lillian (Johnson) Henrikson; a son, Karl F. Henrikson Jr. of Brockton; a daughter, Rachel Lombardi of Abington; a brother, Theodore Henrikson of New Jersey; and four sisters, Martha Meadows and Ruth Penn, both of Quincy, Gertrude Armitage of Arizona, and Rachel Libby of North Carolina.

There are 13 grandchildren and nine great grandchildren.

The Rev. Vaughn S. Parks officiated at funeral services. Burial was private.

John DeLuca

A funeral Mass for John DeLuca, 87, of Quincy, a retired assemblyman for the Necco Confectionary Co., Cambridge, will be held Friday at 9 a.m. in St. Agatha's Church, Milton.

Mr. DeLuca died Saturday in Quincy City Hospital after a long illness.

He had lived in Quincy since 1977. Born in Boston he had also lived in Dorchester.

Before retiring in 1966, he was employed by Necco for 53 years.

He is survived by a niece, Marguerite Dale of Hawaii, and three nephews, Robert DeLuca of Newton, Peter DeLuca of Dover and Charles DeLuca of Sharon.

Visiting hours are 7 to 9 today (Thursday) at Alford D. Thomas Funeral Home, 326 Granite St., Milton. Burial will be in St. Joseph's Cemetery, West Roxbury.

Judge Henry Chmielinski, 70, An Activist Who Was Tough But Compassionate

By TOM HENSHAW

"I've always been an activist," said Judge Henry H. Chmielinski Jr. on a visit to The Quincy Sun.

"I don't think I have to point out to anybody that no one can walk the streets today with any assurance of safety. No one can remain in his or her home with any assurance of safety."

"It's a dangerous, dangerous atmosphere. If I can do anything in the world to correct it, I can assure you I will."

And for more than 20 years, as attorney, judge and candidate for district attorney, he gave it his best shot.

Judge Chmielinski, known as the tough judge with compassion for those who deserve it, died May 20 at the Dana Farber Cancer Institute in Boston at the age of 70.

A funeral Mass was held Wednesday in the Cathedral of the Holy Cross in Boston.

It was Judge Chmielinski who once startled a White House conference on law enforcement by suggesting the death penalty for hand drug pushers.

He also approved a plea by the parents of a 14-year-old girl suffering irreversible brain damage to shut off life supports so her kidneys and eyes could be donated to others.

A native of Brookline, son

HENRY H. CHMIELINSKI

of banker Henry H. Chmielinski, who also published "The Polish Courier," he attended Georgetown and Boston College Law School before getting his law degree from Suffolk.

He was 42 when he began practicing law from an office in Quincy's Adams Building in 1954. He was appointed to a judgeship by then-Gov. John A. Volpe in 1962.

He presided over superior courts in Norfolk, Plymouth, Suffolk and Middlesex counties for two decades, serving as chairman of the Massachusetts Judges Conference in 1977 and as first president of the Massachusetts Judges Association in 1968.

Judge Chmielinski was drafted by the Republican State Convention in March, 1982, to run for state attorney general but he declined the endorsement feeling it would be improper for a sitting judge to run.

Later that same year, he retired from the bench and ran unsuccessfully for district attorney of Plymouth county.

One of his sons, Henry III, was graduated from Stonehill College in Easton on Sunday with a degree in criminal justice and the judge was looking forward to attending.

On Friday, before lapsing into a coma, Chmielinski wrote on a pad of paper: "May 22 --- I tried to make it." He died that night.

He leaves his wife, Barbara (Wade) Chmielinski; two sons, Henry J. Chmielinski III of Plymouth and Robert W. Chmielinski of Lincoln; and four daughters, Mrs. Jania B. Villon of Brookline, Mrs. Nancy A. Hult of Hanover, Pamela Chmielinski-Parker of Sandwich, and Joanna R. Chmielinski of Dedham.

Also two brothers, John Chmielinski of Dedham and Richard Chmielinski of Brookline; three sisters, Mrs. Helanka Currans of Boston, Marcia Small of Maryland, and Genia Stebbins of California; and six grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were by the McDonald Funeral Home, South Weymouth. Burial was to be in Old Calvary Cemetery, Roslindale.

Kenneth G. Gardner, 74, Was City Personnel Head

A funeral Mass was celebrated Tuesday in St. John's Church for Kenneth G. Gardner, who retired 12 years ago as city personnel director after working for the city for 30 years.

He died Friday at New England Deaconess Hospital at the age of 74.

A native of Brockton, he lived most of his life in Quincy.

Mr. Gardner leaves his wife, Mary A. (Duffy) Gardner; two sons, Robert Gardner and William Gardner, both of Quincy; a daughter, Claire Harkins of Holbrook; a brother, James Gardner of Cambridge; and eight grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were by the Joseph Sweeney Funeral Home, 74 Elm St. Burial was in Blue Hill Cemetery, Braintree.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

As Memorial Day approaches, the words of William E. Gladstone come to mind. He was the brilliant British political figure, 4 times Prime Minister who died in 1898...

"Show me the manner in which a nation cares for its dead, and I will measure with mathematical exactness the tender mercies of its people, their respect for the laws of the land and their loyalty to high ideals".

His words have special significance on our American scene. While Memorial Day is observed and all our dead are honored in every town and village, special attention is always centered on Arlington National Cemetery, our nation's Memorial shrine. Arlington National Cemetery occupies what was once the family estate of Mrs. Robert E. Lee...

Robert E. Lee, as you know, was the Commanding General of the CONFEDERATE armies. This chosen location is proof positive of American tender mercies with loyalty to high ideals.

In next week's thought you will read about the tomb of America's Unknown Soldier. It will be interesting. Don't miss it...

"It is easy to see that, throughout his life, George

GEORGE A. WILSON

Wilson has been a man of action," said Richard Sweeney, vice president of Quincy Kiwanis and master of ceremonies.

"He has served his community both publicly and privately far beyond the Colton. One valve was discovered to be broken while another had been paved over during street resurfacing.

Water service was shut off to many homes and business establishments for a time but Tuesday morning only the Quincy Cooperative bank was without water.

Colton said it was expected that the breaks would be repaired by 1 p.m. Tuesday and a chunk of pavement 12 by 8 feet torn from Quincy Ave. would be repaired as soon as possible.

At the height of the break, one police officer on the scene said "it looks like high tide at Wollaston Beach."

"I was looking out the window about a quarter to three," said bank executive Don Gohl, "when I saw this big eruption of water in front of the main entrance on Quincy Ave."

"It must have been three or four feet deep at one time. It was over the humpbacks of some cars. It's running down Quincy Ave. and Water St. like a river."

Police blocked off Water St. at Phipps St., and Quincy Ave. from Scammell St. to School St.

Raiderettes Bow To Newton N., Waltham

By PETE ZOIA

Coach Lou Ioanilli's North Quincy girls softball team fell victims to Newton North 11-3 and Suburban League leader Waltham 7-6.

The Newton game was lost in the opening inning when the visitors racked up seven runs on four hits, four walks and an error.

North was held hitless until Mary Holleran singled in the fourth. A base hit by Sue Ayles and a solid double by Ann Sousa produced the first North tally in the fifth inning.

The final two Raiderette runs came in the sixth inning on a base on balls to Patti McKinnon, a triple by Holleran and a single by Lisa Tenaglia.

Holleran was the big gun with two hits, a triple and a single. Karen Routlier who pitched over five innings of relief got a hit, along with Sandra Proude, Ayles, Tenaglia and Sousa.

Tenaglia turned in some classy fielding at third base. Other good fielding plays were turned in by Debby Kiley in centerfield and Holleran at first base.

The loss to Waltham was a heartbreaker as North led 6 to 4 entering the final frame only to have the league leaders score three runs to pull the game out.

Although collecting only three hits, two by Proude and the other by Tenaglia, the Raiderettes made a game of it with outstanding defense. A timely double play on a wicked line drive to Holleran was the fielding play of the day.

Ioanilli said the team has not played up to its potential lately but looks for a strong finish.

The Raiderettes record is five and five overall and five and four in the league.

The Raiderettes were scheduled to meet Notre Dame Academy of Hingham Tuesday and arch rival Quincy Wednesday.

Suburban Wins State Volleyball Tourney

The 15 and under Suburban volleyball team, coached by Quincy High coach Ray Whitehouse, won the recent state tournament to qualify for the national championships in Chicago next month.

Pool play found the Suburban squad, which includes several Quincy High girls, defeating Merrimack Valley, Bay State and Bentley and splitting with Quebrada for a 7-1 record and send it into the finals with Quebrada.

Behind the hitting of Susan Tower, Kathy McGregor and Stephanie LeVangie, the defensive play of Marlo LeVangie and the setting of Karen Mackinaw and Terry McLoughlin, the Suburban team dominated the match, winning, 15-6, 15-8. Also playing on the squad were Leanne Dondero, Patty Lee and Keli Mahoney.

"The difference between our kids and the other teams is their refusal to allow the ball to hit the floor on our side of the net." Whitehouse said. "Time after time the ball came back up and, when it did, Terry McLoughlin or Karen Mackinaw were there to direct a well-balanced attack. The 15 and under team has not lost a tournament in its own age bracket and has lost only two games all year, both to North Shore."

The Suburban 17 and under team, coached by Quincy High assistant Chris Prendiville, took second place in its division.

In a long day, the Suburban squad played 11 games, defeating Merrimack, 15-8; Quebrada, 15-2; Rhode Island, 15-13; Bentley, 15-9; Tennis 128, 16-14, and Bay State, 15-1. It lost to Southeastern in pool play, 15-11, giving it second place going into the double elimination playoffs.

Suburban defeated third place Quebrada, 15-10, setting up another match with Southeastern, which had defeated Bentley.

In the toughest fought match of the day, the score seesawed between the two squads, Ginny Tom, Susan Beven and Christine Gallery crushing the ball for Suburban and Karen Ferreira, Kristen Paul and Jeanne Dyson dominating for Southeastern.

Quarterbacked by setters Karen Marnell and Barbara Fain, Suburban put out a fantastic effort but lost, 15-13.

The loss placed Suburban in the losers' bracket, forcing another match with Quebrada.

Suburban won again, 15-8, to set up the third and final meeting with Southeastern.

Suburban, exhausted and hampered by a few key injuries, just couldn't muster the effort and fell, 15-8, giving Southeastern the berth in the nationals.

Several Suburban players, however, will probably qualify for the all-star team which will also make the trip to Chicago.

Other Suburban players were Carolyn Leonard, Merle Solomon, Ellen Deady, Colleen Dunn, Michelle Perry, Lisa Covalucci, Michele Quintaglio and Theresa Munroe.

The Suburban squad is extremely talented, gutsy and high class," said Prendiville. "Their spirit and sportsmanship made them one of the most respected teams in New England. I would not trade places even with the winning coach. They love the sport and it's a privilege to coach them."

Perkins League Trucks Wins Pair

The Roy Perkins Softball League opened its season with a set of four games.

Trucks of Quincy picked up two wins, defeating the Bashers, 15-12, and rolling over VFW, 12-6.

Two time league champions Woodward Springs, played two games, losing the opener to the Niners, 5-0.

Djerf Curry's Top Defensive Player

Quincy resident Brian Djerf was named Best Defensive Player for the 1983 Curry College

The game marked the leagues first posted shutout in its three year history. Woodward Springs followed the defeat with a 14-7 romp over the Bashers. The game highlight was a fifth inning grand slam by Woodward's Mike Hap-pency.

baseball team. Djerf's accomplishments also included a per game scoring average of 7.9.

HEDGE TRIMMING MISHAPS

An electric hedge trimmer can inflict a deep wound, even slice off a finger. Accidents serious enough to require emergency room treatment happen 8,400 times a year, says the Consumer Product Safety Commission, most often when the operator takes one hand off the trimmer to push a branch out of the way or hold the cord away from the moving blade. If you have a hedge trimmer, follow these common-sense practices:

Use an extension cord connector that holds the trimmer cord firmly in the socket. Use a connector with a hood for hanging the cord on your belt, away from the moving blade.

If you are shopping for a trimmer, buy one with two handles and cutting guards that are close enough to the cutting teeth to prevent entry of a finger. The tool should be double-insulated or have a three-wire cord for grounding.

Avoid hasty, careless movements with the tool. Avoid standing on a chair or ladder that may tip as you work. Clean and adjust the trimmer only when it is unplugged. Examine the cord regularly for cracks and breaks in the insulation.

Beechwood Center Plans Fund-Raiser Auction

The Beechwood Community Life Center, 225 Fenno St., Wollaston will hold a fund-raising auction Wednesday, June 15 from 6:30 to 10:30 p.m.

Dr. Cecil R. Paul, center director, said a special previewing session will be held prior to the auction at 5 p.m.

Persons or businesses wishing to donate goods or professional services for the auction may either drop off the item at the Center or call 471-5712 to arrange for a pick-up.

Some of the items already donated include an admission to the 14-week

Dale Carnegie course being held in cooperation with the South Shore Chamber of Commerce; a one-week vacation at a two bedroom cottage in Alton Bay from July 10-16 or July 17-July 24th; a string trio or quartet for a dinner party; a dinner party for four or a gourmet reception for 20; and a week's worth of meat for a family of four from Triangle Foods of Weymouth.

This will be the Center's first major fund-raising event since its inception in November of 1981.

Although no definite goal has been set for the auction,

Dr. Paul noted that the center needs about $10,000 in the near future to pay for repairs to the former school's roof and windows, as well as paying off last year's fuel bill.

The center has been providing educational and social services to persons of all ages.

The building, leased from the Quincy Public Schools, houses a music school and arts and science programs. Day care service and counseling guidance is also offered.

The former Beechwood Elementary School has been slated to be converted into a storage facility when neighbors proposed keeping it for community purposes.

McIntyre Mall Concerts Possible This Summer

Local residents may be able to enjoy free concerts Wednesday evenings at McIntyre Mall this summer if the South Shore Cultural Commission can work out the finances.

The concerts, featuring big band, classical, 1950s and ethnic music, would be held 7 to 9 p.m. from the end of June to mid August, according to commission president Joseph LaRaia.

The commission hasn't determined where money to pay for the groups would come from, LaRaia said.

The city planning department rejected a request for some federal community development block grant money for the concerts.

A decision on a request for a $2,500 grant from the Massachusetts Arts Council is expected this summer.

U.S. To Sue MDC On Nut I. Sewage

"We wanted the EPA to get involved on our side," said Mayor Francis X. McCauley, "and now they are. The time for talk is past. Now we're getting to the point where various agencies are becoming aware of what is going on."

That was McCauley's response to word received last week from Paul G. Keough, acting EPA regional administrator, that the Justice Department expects to file suit against the MDC by June 3 "for serious monitoring and recording violations" at the Nut Island Sewage Facility.

The city already has a suit pending against the MDC and the Boston Sewer Department to halt pollution of Quincy Bay from the Nut Island and Moon Island facilities.

"The suit was intended to bring pressure on the MDC," said McCauley. "The EPA has made a good start and I hope they keep up the pressure. Things are starting to come to a head."

We are starting to work on long-term solutions."

Meanwhile, Rep. Thomas F. Brownell said the Legislative Committee on Housing and Urban Development has turned in a favorable report on a bill that would prevent the MDC from adding anymore communities to the sewer line that ends at Nut Island. Brownell, who filed the bill with Rep. Michael W. Morrissey, said he does not expect any problems getting the House to pass the bill which would limit the number of communities on the Nut Island line to the current 21.

EPA's Keough listed several other actions his organization plans to take for and against the MDC.

"By June 3," he said, "the region expects to issue an administrative order requiring the MDC to take steps to rehabilitate its Nut Island facility and requiring the MDC to follow certain schedules for three combined sewer overflow projects."

"In July, EPA plans to provide grant funds for the Nut Island rehabilitation. Two of the three combined sewer overflow projects, as well as the Nut Island, rehabilitations, will help to address the South Shore Boston Harbor pollution problem."

Keough said the suit that is expected to be filed against the MDC "will both correct a serious problem and make it clear to the MDC that EPA is prepared to take court actions when administrative remedies prove to be inadequate."

"EPA is also taking a number of other actions which respond to your concerns," Keough said.

"The region has obtained a commitment from the Boston Water and Sewer Commission that, beginning July 1, it will chlorinate any dry weather overflows which occur this summer for the Moon Island outfall. This should help protect the South Shore beaches."

Graduation ceremonies for QHS and Vo-Tech are scheduled for Tuesday at 6 p.m. at the stadium. Rain date will be the next day.

Amanda E. Mujico, president of the class of 1983, will give the welcome at NQHS's exercises.

exercises will be Class of 1983 officers Pauline C. Pappas, vice president; David C. Ceurvels, treasurer; Mary W. Ziniti, secretary.

Susan M. Finnegan, president of the Class of 1983 at QHS, will give the welcome at her high school's graduation.

Speakers will include Jeannine Aronson of QHS, "Optimism", and Warren T. Whitman of Vo-Tech, "Twelve Years in Two and One-Half Pages."

Mayor Calls June 9 Meeting

Sheets Seeks Street Closings To Thwart T

By TOM HENSHAW

City Councillor James A. Sheets plans to file an order at the June 6 Council meeting abandoning and closing off sections of Penn and Center Sts., to keep MBTA traffic off South Quincy streets.

"I will not allow traffic that would have used the Burgin Parkway Extension to use the side streets in South Quincy," said Sheets. "And that is what is going to happen if the extension is not open."

Sheets and other city officials have threatened to take action to prevent the opening of the Quincy Adams MBTA station, set for Sept. 10, unless construction of the Extension gets moving.

Meanwhile, Mayor Francis X. McCauley set Thursday, June 9, at 2 p.m. as the tentative time for a meeting between city officials and the MBTA "to see where we all stand on the situation."

Progress on the Burgin Parkway Extension came to an abrupt halt three weeks ago when the MDC disclosed that it does not have enough money to build a flood-diversion culvert under the roadway.

The culvert has to be built before construction can start on the road.

If the station opens on Sept. 10 with the Extension not even in the bidding stage, Sheets envisions surplus MBTA traffic pouring out of the station garage into South Quincy.

"If the Expressway is tied up," he said, "the first thing commuters will do is drive down Center St. seeking a way to get around the traffic. This is just what we don't want."

Sheets said he is determined that the station will not open until state money for the MDC "appears as a line item in the budget or is transferred from another account. Then the station can open."

"Until that time," he added, "I am going to see that Penn and Center Sts. are closed to MBTA traffic until the Extension is open."

The Quincy Center Business and Professional Association was scheduled to hold its second directors' meeting in eight days on the situation yesterday (Wednesday) morning.

Last week, the QCBPA directors voted unanimously to support Sheets and Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro in their efforts to block the opening for the station.

Kenneth P. Fallon, executive secretary of the QCBPA, said he hopes the City Council will vote at its next meeting to endorse the position that has been taken by Sheets, DeCristofaro and the association.

Wollaston Girl Ordered To Register For Draft

Selective Service notified Monique Powers, 18, of 9 Chick St., Wollaston, last week to sign up for the draft or face the consequences.

The problem is Monique is a girl.

"The letter started, 'Dear Mr. Powers,'" said Monique, who has just finished her freshman year at Massasoit Junior College in Brockton and, as a girl, is ineligible for the draft.

Selective Service apparently is aware that some of its letters seeking out those who have not registered just might wind up in the hands of girls.

"They have a list of boxes to check why you didn't register," said Monique. "There's one that says, 'I am female.' I just check that and send them a copy of my birth certificate."

Selective Service has explained that the list of non-registrants was taken from Registry of Motor Vehicles records and the obviously girls' names removed on the computer.

The name "Monique" apparently wasn't all that obvious.

June 8 Hearing Set On Dog

Police Chief Francis N. Finn will hold a hearing Wednesday, June 8, at 10 a.m. on a Wollaston dog that stands accused of killing another dog.

The German shepherd owned by Robert Burke of 11 The Strand is charged with shaking to death a chihuahua owned by Zoe Ann Roy of 23 Watkins St.

Police said it was the second offense for the German shepherd.

Mrs. Cheryl Roy said the dog came on the porch where the 3½ pound chihuahua was tied, grabbed it in its teeth and shook it, breaking the smaller dog's neck.

Jane P. McDermott, Elm Ave.; Virginia A. Corey, Marlboro St.; Nellie Salvucci, Trafford St.; Ethel F. Merrigan, Elliot Ave.; Burton S. Cook, Ames St.; Allan H. Rautiala, Yardarm Lane.

SIX CITY WORKERS hold plaques honoring them as outstanding employees for their efforts on behalf of the city. Left to right, Winthrop Wade, director of environmental services in the Health Department; Marilouise Steen, executive secretary to the Retirement Board; Theresa Gacila, secretary to the License Board; Mary C. Papile, assistant city treasurer; Robert Pearson, foreman in the Water, Drain and Sewer Division; and George Page, foreman in the Park Department.

Five In Race For School Board

School Committee is proving to be the most popular post for candidates in the 1983 municipal election.

Nomination papers have been available for less than two weeks at the Election Office and already five candidates have signified their desire to run for School Committee.

Latest newcomers on the list are Frank C. Santoro, 34, a teacher who lives at 80 Haviland St., Wollaston; and Stephen Durkin, 27, a law clerk who lives at 61 Exeter St., also in Wollaston.

They join incumbents Frank Anselmo and John J. Sullivan and another newcomer, William Arienti, in the race. Christopher Kennedy, whose term also expires this year, has not yet filed.

Others who have taken out papers are:

Francis X. McCauley,

incumbent, for mayor; Richard J. Koch Jr., incumbent, for City Council at large; Theodore P. DeCristofaro, incumbent, City Council Ward 2; and Leo J. Kelly, incumbent, City Council Ward 1.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley spent an hour talking to people in Mt. Wollaston Cemetery Sunday "and the consensus was that the cemetery hasn't looked this good in many years."

In the past few years, the

city's cemeteries have drawn criticism for their condition on Memorial Day when many residents visit the graves of their relatives.

"I have to congratulate Richard J. Koch and Vincent Smyth, superintendent of cemeteries, and the men of the Park, Forestry and Cemetery Departments for their work," said McCauley.

"Now we have to make sure that the cemeteries are kept up and not forgotten until next year."

Sunbeams

By Henry Bosworth

Henry Chmielinski:

'The People's Judge'

If judges were elected instead of appointed, Henry H. Chmielinski probably would have topped the ticket any given year.

He was "The People's Judge" in the eyes of the average law abiding person, the victim, and the victim's family.

But to the murderer, rapist or hard drug pusher, he was "Hanging Henry". They didn't intend it as a compliment, but it was, too.

He was on the Superior Court bench for nearly 20 years before his retirement a year ago.

He called them as he saw them. He was fair, but he was tough when toughness was needed.

He was the kind of judge you would like to go up before if you were innocent. And the kind you'd want to stay clear of if you were guilty of a serious crime.

While others made a big deal about prisoners' rights, he was more concerned with the rights of the victim and the victim's family.

Rapists, he believed, were as bad if not worse than murderers and both deserved the death penalty.

He also included peddlers of cocaine and other hard drugs in that category.

"Anyone who sends a youngster on a nightmare life of drugs should be executed," he once said.

Henry Chmielinski, who started out selling law books and apparently found time to read them himself, began practicing as an attorney in a Quincy office at age 42 in 1954. Eight years later at 50, he was appointed to the Superior Court bench by then Gov. John Volpe.

He was colorful in the courtroom as a defense attorney. And more colorful as a judge.

He was a newspaperman's delight — always good for a bright quote whether it was lecturing a defendant from the bench or being asked to comment on a controversial subject. He never ducked a question.

And his hat size never grew over being appointed a judge.

CHMIELINSKI

"You know," he used to say, "all a judge is, is a lawyer who had a governor for a friend. You just hope you learn to become a good judge."

He learned.

He always remained Henry to his friends. He never forgot those friends who helped him get started in his law career.

RYAN

One was late Quincy District Court Clerk-Magistrate Dennis Ryan who bought some of the law books Henry was selling and then got him to return to law classes.

"Actually," Henry used to like to muse, "Denny tricked me. He told me he was going to the classes too, but he never showed up."

Republican Henry and Democrat Denny thought the world of one another.

Like Denny, Henry fought a long, hard bout with cancer. And, sadly, like Denny, he finally lost.

He died May 20 at age 70 at the Dana Farber Cancer Institute.

Some weeks ago Henry Chmielinski was honored by friends at Polcari's. The place was jammed. There were as many Democrats there as Republicans. Including Plymouth County Dist. Atty. William O'Malley whom the judge had challenged in last year's election.

Also present was Senate President William Bulger who, looking around at the crowd observed:

"What a tremendous tribute. Here is a man who as a former judge can no longer really do anything for anyone, but they are here anyway."

The reason they were all there was not because Henry Chmielinski had been a superior court judge.

The reason they were there was because he was Henry Chmielinski.

He was a longtime good friend of mine.

It's sad to lose a good friend.

It's sadder to know his kind doesn't come along often enough in a world that needs more like him.

Residents Can Help 'Children's Week'

"Children's Week" in Quincy is coming, and local residents have an opportunity to help make it a success.

The Young People's Committee of Quincy is a non-profit, charitable group raising money for Children's Medical Center of Boston.

To do this, the Y. P. C. Q., with sponsors, the North Quincy Business and Professional Association, the Atlantic Neighborhood Association, and the endorsement of Mayor Francis X. McCauley are developing "I Love Children's Week", activities for June 6-12.

During Children's Week, blood will be raised at donation centers. Times and locations will be announced.

Sunday, June 12, will be "Children's Day".

There will be free ice cream, lollipops and a zoo-mobile for children, as well as baby races, egg toss, pie eating contests and a softball game between members of the committee and a surprise "celebrity team", beginning at 2 p.m.

All events on "Children's Day" will be held at Bishops Field in North Quincy, (locally known as Montclair Field) on Holbrook Road.

(Quincy Photo Lab)

The day's events will begin at 11 a.m. and end at 6 p.m. Free parking is available in the Montclair School yard and around the field. Restroom facilities will be available. Surprises are in store for all who attend.

In these economic times when federal grants to hospitals have been cut, checks can make a difference for struggling children.

No donation is too small if it comes from the heart, says the Y.P.C.Q.

To make a contribution, make checks payable to: Children's Medical Center, and mail to Y.P.C.Q. in c/o N Q B A, 49 Billings Road, North Quincy, Ma. 02171.

For further information, contact: Stephen O'Rourke, Brendan J. Gallagher at 328-8399 or 328-3770; John F. Hynds Jr., 328-3325, or Patricia Yovino, Atlantic Neighborhood Association director, at 773-1380, ext. 338.

Detective Feels Drugs Still Big Problem For Young

Det. Barbara DiNatale of the Quincy Police Juvenile Division says that, in spite of public opinion to the contrary, "I don't feel the drug problem among young people has changed that much from when I first started in the department 10 years ago."

"Many people feel that the drug problem doesn't exist anymore or it does to a much lesser extent than it did," DiNatale, who was Quincy's first policewoman 11 years ago, told interviewers on the program "Newsmakers" on Quincy Cable systems Channel 3.

"Part of the reason for that is 10 years ago the media did a lot of articles on drug abuse. You don't see that anymore. People feel that because they're not reading about it then it doesn't exist. That's one part of it."

"The other part is that people have come to tolerate a certain level of drug involvement from their teenagers, perhaps, in marijuana experimentation as a part of growing up, where they didn't 10 years ago when they first faced it."

"The problem still exists. I don't think among the younger kids you see the use of the hard core drugs to the extent we once saw it. But as far as marijuana and some of the psychotropic drugs are concerned, it's still there."

Again in spite of what some people may conclude, juvenile crime is decreasing, said DiNatale.

"A lot of people will say that can't be so because there's much more vandalism and violence," she said. "But statistics don't hear that out. Juvenile crime has gone down, both nationally and in Quincy.

"Our commitment to the kids is one of helping them, preventing crime in the first place and if they have committed the first offense, to keep them out of the criminal justice system and put them into rehabilitative programs."

"That seems to have helped, that along with the decrease in the 10 to 18-year-old population."

DiNatale said she feels it would be a good idea to extend the concept of Students Against Driving Drunk (SADD) to drugs and vandalism.

"Most juveniles commit crimes in groups," she said. "That sets them apart from adult criminals. If you look at peer pressure you find answers as to why they're doing the things they're doing."

"On the other side of that coin, if it's their friends who help them commit crime then the solutions should be someplace within the group. Other people their age should be able to help them."

"The important thing is giving them the responsibility for starting the program and running it and not having adults participate to the extent that they're calling the shots. They can be encouraged as long as they're not being told how to structure the programs."

DiNatale said most kindergarten and first grade teachers are able to point out the youngsters in their classes who will be the future troublemakers in school.

"Most of the time they're correct," she said. "It's either because of their behavior in the classroom or their family pattern. We can pinpoint certain families in the city where we've had two, three, four and five youngsters in trouble, all for many of the same things."

"Working with the child is very, very helpful but there is a built-in failure factor. You can treat the child in a setting that is apart from his family but if you send him back to the same set of family conditions you really have only postponed the bad news."

"It has to be whole family involvement. They have to want to change the dynamics between the members of the family."

DiNatale said officers in the Juvenile Division, headed by Sgt. Daniel Lyons, devote a lot of their time to preventing crime among young people.

"We go to places where the kids congregate, for example, the bowling alley, the beach or the station during the school day," she said "and we ask them who are you and why are you out of school?"

"If the boy or girl skipped school and intends to commit a larceny and you stop them on the street and identify them as truants and you have their names, they're less likely to go out and commit the larceny."

DiNatale was interviewed on the program by John Noonan of The Quincy Sun; Henri Fontaine, news director of WJDA; and Ray McEachern, reporter for the Patriot Ledger.

Pruitt Named School Supt. At $18,000 Salary

Robert E. Pruitt, 46, of Forest Park, Ill., associate director of the University of Chicago's Experimental Laboratory School, was named to the $18,000 a year post of superintendent of schools in Quincy.

Pruitt was to succeed Supt. Dr. Paul Gossard, who was retiring Aug. 1.

"I am very pleased," said Pruitt in a telephone interview to his midwest home. "The professional way in which members of your school board have handled this has impressed me. It is a very pleasant experience."

Although he was born in Kentucky and spent most of his working life in the midwest, Pruitt was no stranger to New England, having spent time at Harvard and MIT as a supervisor of teaching methods for the War Department.

"All aspects of education must get emphasis," he said. "In past years, the sciences have been greatly emphasized. But we are moving in the direction of, and I support this, a need to implement efforts to strengthen the social studies, humanities and arts."

DUMPING RESTRAINED

The city of Quincy obtained a restraining order in Norfolk Superior Court to halt the dumping of demolition lumber into a privately-owned quarry off Willard St., West Quincy, not far from the big Swingle's Quarry.

The quarry was owned by Peter G. Rusciotto of Braintree, who was filling it in as part of a preliminary phase to the development of about 270 acres of property he owns in the quarry district.

REBUILDING GOP

C. Frederick Dumaine, chairman of the Republican State Committee, told his fellow party members in Quincy that they should take a leaf from the Democrat's book and look to youth for party revival.

"We must get youth into the ranks," he said. "We will never have the strength to do what Ted Kennedy has done but we must have youth on our side."

Put on your thinking cap -- or try an injection of neuroepitides. Scientists at Boston University School of Medicine report that an injection of this natural chemical compound enhances concentration and attention span, allowing subjects to learn and remember better.

Cleaner air helps. Recent study indicates that the average level of lead in the blood dropped almost 40 percent between 1976 and 1980.

"Cooperative care" is the newest hospital arrangement at the New York University Medical Center. Patient and "care partner" (often the spouse) share a room, go to dining room for meals, to nurses' station for medication. Partner takes over some simple nursing care. Cost is 40 percent below usual charges.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Sentimentalist or not, if you ever saw or see the traditional service at the shrine of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery on Memorial Day, you would have or must eyes, quivering lips, a tightening of the throat in reverent silence.

The story behind the story of the Unknown Soldier is drama without equal on any stage. It starts first with New York Congressman Hamilton Fish introducing a House Joint Resolution to have an unidentified, killed in action American Soldier returned from France for reinterment at Arlington. The drama continues with Admiral Dewey's famous flagship "Olympia" commissioned to return the body to America with Marine Corp escort. In story book manner, the drama relates the care with which anonymity was made certain. . . how the selection was made. . . how an ordinary American, a Chicago orphan, as a sergeant in France was chosen and ordered to walk into a room and place a bouquet of roses on one of four unidentified caskets. . . how Sergeant Younker placed the bouquet and thus made a selection which he later described as God's choice.

The tomb of the Unknown Soldier is more than a symbol of sentiment. It is an American voice which gives thanks to the glory of God that we as Americans, can and do respect the honor and memory of our departed ones, soldiers and civilians alike. . .

147 Receive Degrees At Eastern Nazarene College

The 61st annual commencement exercises of Eastern Nazarene College were held Monday in the Lahue Physical Education Center on campus, during which 147 degrees were granted.

They included seven Associate of Arts, 84 Bachelor of Arts, 36 Bachelor of Science, three Master of Education in Moderate Special Needs, two Master of Education in Early Childhood Education, nine Master of Arts in Family Counseling, one Master of Arts in Pastoral Counseling, and five Master of Arts in Religion.

Choral selections by the A Cappella Choir preceded the commencement address by Rev. Sydney Martin, Pastor Emeritus of the Parkhead Church of the Nazarene, Glasgow, Scotland.

Citing the words of Moses from the Old Testament, Dr. Martin challenged each of the graduates to be a prophet. He defined that term as applying to persons of vision, reason, action, and passion; action to see the challenge of the present; reason that undergirds faith; action which transforms society within, all empowered by an inner passion and commitment that is born of the Spirit of God. He further challenged the graduates to be both pure and responsible, maintaining integrity as they wrestle with the problems with which today's world will confront them.

Honorary Doctor of Divinity degrees were bestowed upon Dr. A. Gordon Wetmore and Dr. Sydney Martin. Rev. Mr. Wetmore is an alumnus and past administrator of Eastern Nazarene College recently elected President of Northwest Nazarene College in Nampa, Idaho. Rev. Mr. Martin is a retired pastor, educator, and author from Twechar, Scotland.

Commencement weekend also included Alumni Day held Saturday, culminating in the Alumni Banquet attended by 500 persons.

Alumnus of the Year

Awards were awarded to Mrs. Ann Reack of Massapequa Park, N.Y., and to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Caldwell of Quincy. Caldwell is a teacher at the Central Middle School.

Achievement Awards were presented to Mrs. Betty Ferruzzi of Lancaster, Pa., Dr. Keith Bell, Dean of Mid-America Nazarene College, and to Greg Niblett of North Quincy, who is director of publications for the Safety Razor Division of the Gillette Company.

Following the banquet a dedicatory program was held in the new Edith F. Cove Fine Arts Center. Greetings were brought by President Stephen W. Nease, Mayor Francis X. McCauley, and Mrs. Charles Cove, nephew of Professor Edith Cove in whose memory the building was named.

The prayer of dedication was offered by Dr. Roy Carnahan, Chairman of the Board of Trustees.

On Sunday morning Dr. Stephen W. Nease, President of Eastern Nazarene College, brought the message for the annual Baccalaureate service held at Wollaston Church of the Nazarene.

The 61st commencement was also highlighted by the granting of Emeritus status to three faculty members: Dr. Harvey J. S. Blaney, Dr. Alvin Kauffman, and Dr. Lyal Calhoun, and by the awarding of a posthumous degree to Mr. Bill Ross, a student who died of cancer last year.

North Still Hopes To Land Tourney Berth

North Quincy's baseball team finishes up its season with four games on a successive days this week and hopes to finish second in the Suburban League and qualify for the Eastern Mass. Tournament.

The Raiders took an 8-5 overall record and a 6-4 league mark into Tuesday's game with Brockton. They faced Canton last night (Wednesday) in a non-league game meet Brookline today at Adams Field in the final league game and wind up Friday night against Milton at 7:30 at Adams Field. North defeated each of the four teams in their first meetings.

"I think if we can beat Brockton and Brookline again we will finish second and make the tournament," Coach Charlie Bunker said. "These kids have done a good job and have really played hard. What really made things tough for us losing twice to Cambridge. We lost in a game suspended earlier, then lost the regularly scheduled game right after that."

Last week North defeated Waltham, 8-3, as Chris Bunker hit a two-run homer in the first inning and doubled home two more runs in the fifth.

Waltham tied the game at 3-3 in the third but the Raiders scored three runs in the fifth to clinch it. Jack Bolster got the win and Steve Hogan had a save in 1 2/3 innings of relief.

In the previous game Bolster had a great night as North came from behind to topple Quincy, 6-4, and avenge an earlier defeat.

Quincy led, 4-2, after six innings but North rallied for four runs in the top of the seventh to get the win.

Bolster, a 500-hitter along with Bunker, faced three pressure situations and delivered each time.

The first challenge came in the fifth with Quincy ahead, 3-2. After Quincy's Paul Cedrone led off with a single, Bolster and starting pitcher Jim Kelly traded positions, Kelly moving over to first base. Bolster retired the side on seven pitches.

Bolster faltered in the sixth, giving up a run after retiring the first two batters. The Presidents, however, slipped even more as their rally was halted when the second run of the inning was nullified because the runner failed to tag third base.

In the top of the seventh, with the bases loaded and one run in, Bolster faced Quincy's ace reliever, Joe Conti, and went to a full count. After talking with Bunker, Bolster stroked the next pitch past diving third baseman John Balzano for a two-run single to give North a 5-4 lead. The Raiders added and insurance run. Bolster then protected the lead in the bottom of the inning, although hitting a batter and giving up a walk.

Keith Smith's two-run homer had given North two runs in the fifth to make the score Quincy 3, North 2.

"This was by far my best overall game of the year," Bolster said. "It was the first time I've pitched with real confidence and I put myself at .500 at the plate."

"Considering he hadn't pitched in two weeks, I think he did an excellent job," said Bunker. "He had good rhythm and threw hard."

Earlier North had been edged by Waltham, 3-2, in eight innings despite a four hitter by Hogan.

North scored in the first on Bunker's RBI single and added one in the fifth when John Kozlowski drove in Steve Higgins.

Waltham won it in the first extra inning on Joe DeVito's RBI single.

Quincy Girls Tennis Defeats Raiderettes

The Quincy girls' tennis team defeated North Quincy for the second time, 3-2, last week to finish with an 8-5 record.

The First Ladies dropped their final match, 5-0, to Newton North, the state champion which has not been beaten in three years.

Coach Shirley Laing's first single player, senior

Denise DiPietro, and third singles player, senior Jennifer Dela Paz, won six matches each this season.

The biggest surprise was the performance of the second doubles team of 10th graders Joanne Doherty and Kathleen Egan, who had never played together before this season. They won their first two matches, then won nine of their next 10.

Quincy Defeats Newton N., 5-4

Quincy's baseball team rebounded from a tough loss to North Quincy to defeat Newton North, 5-4, last week and improve its record to 6-10.

Sophomore Joe Conti's single in the top of the fourth inning drove in the winning run for the Presidents.

Mike Notarangelo went the distance for the win scattering eight hits and striking out six.

Quincy took a 3-0 lead in the second on a two-run double by Paul Cedrone and a RBI single by a senior Joe Conti. Sophomore Conti's single in the fourth made it 5-2. John Balzano and Willie Cullen had two hits each.

In their previous game the Presidents, seeking their second win over North Quincy, led, 4-2, after six innings but North came back with four runs in the top of the seventh to win, 6-4.

Cubs, Pirates Win Slugfests

The Cubs exploded for five runs in the sixth inning to defeat the Orioles, 10-8, in Junior Farm League action.

Brian Kelly and Chris Stenmon pitched for the Cubs, while losing pitcher Mike Kavanaugh, who went all the way, blanked the Cubs until the fourth when they scored five times. Kelly struck out eight and also had a big night at the plate, while Stenmon retired the side in order in the sixth. Ed Rizzitano started the Cub's five-run fourth and Mike Malvesti, Stenmon and Amy Baker had key hits. Catcher Dan Flaherty played a fine game and drove in the winning run in the sixth with a double.

The Pirates out-slugged the Tigers, 22-14, as Brian Burkhead drove in eight runs for the Pirates. Mike Lally and Mike Stevens played strong defense. For the Tigers Mike McManus had two hits and two RBI and Lori Golden reached base three times.

The Pirates and Orioles

ted, 12-12, in a game halted by darkness. The Pirates came back with six runs in bottom of the sixth to tie it. Karen McCabe, Jason Clarke, Danny Morrell, Mike Linnane and Dennis Lawrence all played outstanding games.

The Cubs rolled over the Braves, 28-14, with winning pitcher Amy Baker striking out 10. Baker and Eddie Rizzitano each went four-for-four, Mike Correnti and Mike Malvesti had three hits each and Matt O'Toole, Danny Flaherty and Chris Stenmon two a piece. Terence Sheehan made a great throw from center field and Ken Duddy made an outstanding catch in right field. For the Braves Peter Whyte did some good pitching and had two long grand slam homers. Jeremy Burn and Matt Sullivan had three hits a piece and Keith Douglas, Brian Jennette and Jason Sullivan also had hits. Sullivan also made a fine catch in right field.

Suburban Volleyball Teams Finish 2nd And 4th

In the 13, and under division, the Suburban I and II girls' volleyball teams, which included many Quincy girls, finished second and fourth respectively in the recent state tournament at North Quincy High in which eight teams competed.

Sponsored by New England Juniors and directed by Art Carmichael, the tournament was the culmination of five months of hard work. The girls, aged 11-13, learned and executed the basic skills of power volleyball during hard practices and were to show what they could do in the states.

Suburban I, coached by Quincy's Susan Callahan, went through pool play with a 6-1 record to finish second in the playoffs.

Suburban II, coached by Quincy's Karin Deady, made a surprising performance and qualified for the playoffs.

Suburban I faced Newton in the semifinals and, led by the defense of co-captain Lauren Standing and Terry Duggan and the setting of Co-Capt. Ginny Duggan and Eileen McCluskey, the Suburban girls dominated the match and won, 15-3. Pam Austin, one of the team's finest servers, Susan Parry, Alyse Zaccheo and Chris Menz turned in outstanding performances.

Suburban II, led by Capt. Brenda Campbell, showed everyone that it had learned to play defense. Several spectacular saves were made by Christine Venezia, Denise Marnell and Christine Zupofsky. Kerry Gearin and Tricia Koski also hustled and foiled many attempts of Merrimack Valley's offense to score.

However, due to Merrimack Valley's greater experience, Suburban II lost, 15-7. Also contributing to Suburban's success were Angela Venezia, Barbara Carroll, Eileen Campbell, Jeanine Quigley, Rachel Fallon and Carrie Campbell.

Suburban I and Merrimack Valley squared off in the finals for the most exciting match of the day. Both squads were well-prepared and would have given any high school junior varsity team a battle.

The game stayed equal with both sides serving well in the beginning and fading near the end. The teams passed, set and hit the ball with the control of future stars. The ball was even blocked, an accomplishment for the younger shorter players on an adult height net.

Merrimack Valley, coached by Chelmsford's Joyce Skiff, finally won, 16-14. Although the Suburban team did not qualify for the nationals, many hopefully will be named to an all-star team that will make the trip to Chicago.

VFW Wins 4 In Row

The VFW pounded Morrisette, 9-2, in the Babe Ruth League, with Mike Malone the winning pitcher, hurling a five hitter and striking out 11.

Erick Roukey led all hitters with three. Steve Austin and Malone had two each and Chris Aimola, Jay Osgood, Jay Rodriguez, Bob Kozlowski, Chris Cory, Ron Reichart and Ron Fletcher had one each. Chris Doyle led Morrisette with two hits and Tim Morrison, Rich Dondoro and Flynn had one each. Losing pitcher John Cristiani stopped two VFW rallies with fine fielding plays. He struck out five and Morrison pitched well in relief.

VFW also topped Granite City Electric, 9-5, with Roukey the winning pitcher. Kozlowski and Reichart had two hits each and Roukey helped his own cause with a homer. Osgood and Rick Armstrong had a hit each. For Granite City Rick Nagstedt had a triple and single, Sullivan two hits and Tom Tagen one.

VFW topped Houghs Neck, 3-1, with Roukey pitching a three-hitter and striking out 14. Austin had two hits and drove in the winning run, and Cody, Kozlowski, Reichart, Malone and Osgood had a hit apiece. Aimola at shortstop played an outstanding game. Mark MacDonald pitched well for Houghs Neck. Bob Callahan, Pete Furtado and Jim Phelan had the hits and Dennis DeCoste played well in the outfield.

VFW kept rolling with a 3-1 win over the Firemen, with Malone pitching three-hit ball and driving in the winning run. Malone had two hits and Aimola, Austin, Cody and Rodriguez had one each. Fletcher and Aimola played strong defense. Dave Phillips pitched a fine game for the Firemen, scattering seven hits. Joe Rabs had two hits and Paul Legrdins one. First baseman Mike Ash made some outstanding defensive plays.

The Elks defeated Morrisette, 9-5, with Tom Logan the winning pitcher and Bob Laracy getting a save with fine relief pitching over the last two innings. He came in with the bases loaded in the fifth inning and retired the side without a run. Logan had two hits and Brian Roche, Al Martell, Billy Dinan, Sean Gately, Laracy and Billy Connolly one each.

The Elks also edged Granite City Electric, 9-8, in extra innings. After a shaky start when Granite City scored six runs in the first and two in the second mainly due to errors, Martell settled down and pitched scoreless ball the rest of the way. In the eighth inning the Elks scored the winning run when Roche walked, stole second and scored on Logan's double. Laracy made a fine play in the seventh, forcing a runner at second to end the inning with the potential winning run on third.

Logan had two hits including a double. Connolly and Mark Simonelli had doubles and Simonelli played a fine game behind the plate. Matt Ostiguy and Laracy two singles and Martell and Bob Bubencik had a single each. Nabstedt had two hits for Granite City.

The Elks are playing with 13-year-olds in the lineup due to injuries to two 15-year-old starters, George Hartford and Bob Carly.

North Girls Win 3 In Row

After losing two games in a row, the North Quincy girls' softball team won its last three to improve its record to 8-5.

In the latest game the Raiderettes pounded Brookline, 18-4, as Debbie Kiley went six-for-six including a homer and drove in six runs. She also contributed a fine catch after a long run.

Lisa Ventola won her second game of the week with a five-hitter and helped her own cause with two hits and three RBI. Mary Holleran had three hits and three RBI and, in her first varsity start, Sheila Graham had three hits and two RBI. Ann Sousa, Ventola and Sandra Whitehouse had two hits each and combined for five RBI. Sandra Proude walked four times and had a hit.

"We thought there might be a letdown after our win over Quincy," Coach Lou Ioanilli said, "but the girls came through and right now are playing better than anytime this season."

In their previous game the Raiderettes topped rival Quincy for the second time, 7-4, to claim the city championship.

The first two innings spelled doom for the First Ladies when a hit by Patty McKinnon followed by a bad throw on a ball hit by Kiley set the stage for two runs driven in by Holleran.

Beth Vento singled and scored for Quincy in the second but North came back to score four runs to clinch the win. Errors and hits by Lisa Tenaglia and Kiley and a walk accounted for the runs.

Quincy scored three runs in the sixth on a double by Andrea Griffin and singles by Venuto, Kathy Thornton, Laurie Prescott and Susan Morrison. The Raiderette's final run came in the fifth on a walk to Sue Ayles, a wild pitch and an RBI single by Graham.

Karen Boutlier pitched all the way for North, striking out five and walking two. Fine defensive plays were turned in by McKinnon and Cheryl Murphy. Catcher Murphy badly bruised her shoulder on a play at home and was taken to the hospital for treatment. For Barbara Webster's Quincy girls Chris Cucinatta, Morrison and Venuto had two hits each.

Earlier North had defeated Notre Dame of Hingham, 7-2, to avenge an earlier defeat as Ventola turned in some clutch pitching. She gave up five hits, never more than one an inning.

She was backed up by some airtight defense with Kiley, Tenaglia, Proude, Holleran and Ventola making outstanding plays.

North scored four runs in the first inning as McKinnon singled, stole second, went to third on an error and scored on Holleran's long fly ball. Tenaglia doubled, Proude singled with Kiley, Tenaglia, Proude, Holleran and Ventola making outstanding plays.

JOANNE MARIE MCBRIDE of Quincy was one of the outstanding players for the Becker Junior College (Worcester) Women's basketball team. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neil McBride of Bay View Street, she was a steady two-way player, a good rebounder and led the team in free throw percentage.

SAFETY-CONSCIOUS SKIPPER

If you're one of the 8,000,000 small-boat owners who will chauffeur passengers on the water this summer, study these warnings.

Carry a Coast Guard-approved flotation device for every person aboard. Make sure weak swimmers and nonswimmers wear them at all times. Everyone should wear the safety device when weather conditions are hazardous.

Don't overload the boat with passengers, and don't overpower the craft with horsepower that's unsafe for the size of the boat. In a small boat passengers shouldn't stand or sit on the gunwales when the boat is under way. Running lights are necessary for nighttime operation. Take a battery-operated radio along to keep posted on changing weather conditions.

Most boats won't sink if swamped or capsized. Stay with the craft until help arrives unless you are in dangerous or extremely cold water. In that case, try to get to shore if you're close enough.

Goal of the auction is to raise $10,000 to pay for repairs to the former school's roof and windows, as well as paying off last years fuel bills. The center has been providing educational and social services to the community under the direction of Dr. Cecil D. Paul.

off the item at the center or call 471-5712 to arrange for a pick-up.

With a teaching career spanning some 25 years, including an assignment in Chofu, Japan, Sullivan was science coordinator for 12 years before leaving to open his own appraisal-auction-antique business, "Sullivan's Corner", on Hancock St. in Quincy.

"The buying and selling of collectables and antiques has been a parallel career for the past 25 years," said Sullivan. "In 1976 I expanded into the appraisal-auction profession," he added.

Active in charity auctions for the Paulist Center and Catholic Charities, he is also a Massachusetts licensed auctioneer and a life-time member of the National Association of Auctioneers.

WEEK OF: JUNE 2

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19

Advice rendered to others works well for yourself - especially in the realms of romance and career. Festivities on weekend can play havoc with your diet. Monday-Tuesday are financially fortunate.

PISCES - February 20-March 20

Fine week for starting diet or launching a large-scale project. Loved one is unusually interested in your point of view, especially on matters of travel, children, shared expenses.

ARIES - March 21-April 20

Fine week for shaping long-range plans and applying established rules to an all-new project. Aloof friends warm up somewhat, but don't resort to pressure tactics in any relationship.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22

Down-to-earth, responsible people enter your social or professional circle. Creative ventures are fun for their own sake, don't seek money-making angle, however. Love life is on upswing.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21

Good week for bartering items, exchanging ideas, sharing commitments. Financial pressures ease after the weekend. Social but tiring reaches new heights, but avoid excesses in food, beverage department.

CANCER - June 22-July 22

Good time to tie up financial loose ends and collect debts. VIP wants to promote you - be available. Loved one is surprisingly outspoken on a delicate subject matter.

LEO - July 23-August 22

Communication is the week's theme. Making requests are unusually simple, and mail problems are solved at last. Reading between fine lines is a must when dealing with matters legal or professional.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22

Role now is an inspirational one - helping friends out of a rut, serving as role-model to youngsters. Chance for making extra cash opens up by the end of the period.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22

Romance is thriving, but only if disagreements are settled early on. Business ideas are bright, and timing is right for submitting proposals. Older friends benefit from your suggestions.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21

Good period for local jaunts, especially those of an educational nature. Week has a nostalgic theme, perhaps prompted by a call from a long-ago friend. Platonic friendship is enhanced.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22

Opportunity opens for launching a long-lasting business or romantic relationship, but don't mix work with pleasure. Adaptation proves your most valuable keyword. Travel offers funny surprises.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20

Reactions are not as sharp as you believe, so take added precautions where possible. Weekend finds you an especially busy host. Evenings this week are unusually productive.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

A bright sense of humor accompanies you, you're admired for your warmth, wit and winsomeness, but your indecisiveness frustrates those who love you most. Emphasis through autumn is on romance and sentimentality. For writers, this is a bonanza year.

Daisy's Pizza Request Continued

The License Board voted Tuesday to continue for one week a request from Roy B. Williams of Hingham for a common victualer license for Daisy's Pizza, 45 Crescent St., West Quincy.

Building Inspector Allan MacDonald was to check on the zoning for the location.

Williams told the board that he is selling uncoked pizza which customers can take home and bake themselves.

He also said he would like to offer sandwiches from a deli and coffee.

City Clerk John Gillis said he did not think a c-v license would be needed for the pizza since it is not ready to eat, but a license would be needed for the other items.

Police Chief Francis Finn said that he didn't see anything wrong with the store unless it would cause a parking problem.

Williams said there have been no parking problems, and Ward Councillor James Sheets agreed.

Fire Chief Edward Barry indicated he would vote for a three month license for the shop if the area is zoned for such a shop.

MDC Announces Safety Changes On Quincy Shore Drive

MDC Commissioner William J. Geary has announced a number of police, traffic and safety actions designed to eliminate many dangerous conditions on Quincy Shore Drive.

The announcement of the actions was made by Geary at a press conference on Wollaston Beach as the Memorial Day weekend began. "traditionally, a weekend of increased traffic tragedies," said Geary. The changes include:

Increased police presence along the Drive to inhibit speeding and reckless driving.

All traffic lights have been changed to flashing yellow, and interval lighting has been changed so that more frequent stops will be made by drivers.

A sign will be posted on the lights to read: "SIGNALS TIMED TO REQUIRE FREQUENT STOPS."

All pavement marks have been painted to enhance clarity and proper driving habits.

Pedestrian silhouettes have been painted on the pavement approximately 50 to 100 feet in front of the crosswalk as a precautionary measure.

Signs entering the drive and along the drive are being constructed which will say "WARNING" INTENSIVE TRAFFIC ENFORCEMENT AREA. VIOLATORS WILL BE PROSECUTED.

STEPS HAVE ALREADY BEEN TAKEN TO CHANGE STREET LIGHTING FROM MERCURY VAPOR TO HIGH PRESSURE SODIUM VAPOR FIXTURES.

"The nature of the changes are designed to reduce the South Shore residents into realizing that Quincy Shore Drive is not a speedway," said Geary.

"The changes that the MDC has made will change habits, increase safety and hopefully save lives."

Pollution Suits 2 & 3 Filed Against MDC

A legal posse is closing in on the MDC and its leaky sewage treatment facilities.

True to its promise of last week, the Environmental Protection Agency filed suit against the beleaguered state agency "for serious monitoring and recording violations" at its Nut Island facility.

"Since I have been acting regional administrator," said the EPA's Paul Keough, "I have discovered that the cleanup of Boston Harbor waters is not moving as quickly as it should.

"It's my No. 1 priority. We will file any suits and issue any orders necessary to move it along. We are going to act quickly and aggressively in this matter."

At the same time, the Conservation Law Foundation, a private, non-profit group concerned with the environment, also filed suit charging the MDC with polluting the harbor.

"There has been a chronic and ongoing violation of federal laws for many years," said Douglas Foy of the CLF, which has its headquarters on Beacon Hill in Boston.

"We want to force the issue and make sure something happens in a relatively quick fashion."

The city of Quincy also has a suit pending against the MDC and the Boston Water and Sewer Commission seeking to halt pollution of Quincy Bay from the facilities on Nut Island and Moon Island.

O'Leary To Hear Concerns

MBTA, City To Meet On Station Opening

By TOM HENSHAW

MBTA General Manager James O'Leary will meet today (Thursday) with Mayor Francis X. McCauley and other city officials to discuss the controversy surrounding the Sept. 10 opening of the Quincy Adams station.

City Councillors James Sheets and Theodore DeCristofaro, who will be at the meeting, are seeking to postpone opening of the station pending a commitment on the Burgin Parkway Extension.

"We will be meeting at 2 p.m. in my office to make sure that Jim O'Leary is aware of our concerns over the station opening," said McCauley. "We want to tell him what is going on."

The mayor said a representative of the State public Works Department has also been asked to attend the meeting since that agency is responsible for the ramps leading from the Expressway to the station.

Sheets and DeCristofaro fear that if the station is opened without a commitment on the Extension the additional traffic will overflow onto South Quincy streets creating havoc for residents.

McCauley will also meet with Sheets today at 9 a.m.

for a tour of the Old Colony Crushed Stone site in West Quincy, location of a proposed multi-million office park development.

"I have never actually visited the site," said the mayor. "I want to get a perspective on the development and get an idea of the problems we can anticipate."

Planning Director James E. Lydon and Public Works Commissioner Paul Anderson also will make the inspection tour.

Sheets Seeks Halt To South Quincy 'Abuse'

"You can abuse all of the people some of the time," said City Councillor James A. Sheets. "And you can abuse some of the people all of the time. But you can't abuse all of the people all of the time."

With that he filed two resolutions which would dead end Penn and Centre Sts. in South Quincy to protect residents from traffic expected to be generated by the opening of the Quincy Adams MBTA station.

Sheets and Councillor Theodore P. DeCristofaro are seeking to postpone the opening of the station until the Burgin Parkway Extension is underway to handle the excess traffic.

"South Quincy is tired of unkept promises by people who lack sensitivity to their needs," said Sheets, "and they are tired of the people who lack that sensitivity."

"Apparently a garage to house 2,000 automobiles means more to the bureaucracy than people. We've had enough."

Sheets' resolves were sent to the city solicitor to be written into final form and thence to the Planning Board of inclusion in the agenda for its next meeting.

Colonial, Heritage Drives Accepted

The City Council voted Monday night to accept Colonial Drive and Heritage Drive as city streets.

The acceptance opens the way for the Department of Public Works to make repairs to the new streets. Colonial Drive is reported to be sinking in some places.

Councillor Patricia

Toland voted against acceptance, arguing that the Planning Board was too quick to surround the bond that guaranteed repairs by the developer.

Council Approves $6,500 In Fabrizio Case Defense

The City Council Monday night appropriated $6,500 to pay an outside lawyer to defend the city against a $1,250,000 civil rights suit brought by ousted assessor Hugo Fabrizio.

The vote was 6-3 with Councillors Joseph J. LaRaia, James A. Sheets and John J. Lydon Jr. in opposition for different reasons.

LaRaia was the mayor who appointed Fabrizio to the Board of Assessors in 1977 but he was fired from the post the following year by Mayor Arthur H. Iobin, who defeated LaRaia in a bitter 1977 election.

Fabrizio's original action was dismissed without trial on a summary judgement but he appealed, charging that Tobin violated his civil rights when he removed him from the board.

LaRaia, who had the matter tabled when it first came up three weeks ago, called it "a frivolous case, one that should have ceased with the passing for the last administration."

"It could be resolved for a settlement of under $100,000," he said.

Sheets noted that the same outside lawyer, Frederic N. Halstrom, had handled the Fabrizio case for the city before and had submitted a bill for $16,500, which was still being negotiated.

"We are still in the process of discussing the bill with the lawyer," said City Solicitor Dean Nicastro. "We will have to come before the City Council for the money before we pay it."

Sheets suggested that the bill be settled and the money placed in the 1984 budget for the Council to vote on. He questioned whether the city should incur such bills without having the money ready.

"Are we going to be asked to pay bills after they are incurred?" he asked. "That is the issue. I want to make such a decision going in. I have a problem voting after the fact."

Nicastro said Fabrizio has until June 29 to file briefs in support of his appeal or default on the case.

Little Bit Of Hollywood Comes To Quincy Point

It's not too often that you get to see a TV star in your own back yard, but that was the case last week in Quincy.

Melissa Sue Anderson of "Little House on the Prairie" fame, accompanied by a crew of cameramen and others, filmed scenes for a CBS made-for-TV movie, "Freshman Year", for about 12 hours at a Quincy Point home.

William Perry of 80 Baxter Ave. explained that his home was chosen because it resembles houses in Omaha, Nebraska, one of the movie's settings.

"They were looking for an older home with high ceilings," said Perry. "I can attest to the high ceilings because of our heating bills."

Perry, who lives with his wife Margaret and daughter Peggy, one of seven children, said the movie location scout contacted Ward Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro in searching for a house.

DeCristofaro showed about half a dozen houses before the Baxter Ave. home was selected, Perry said.

The Perrys were reportedly paid $1,000 for the day's shooting, but shied away from naming a figure.

"Let's just say they reimbursed us," he said.

Perry said that the family watched a few scenes being filmed, "but most scenes had eight to 10 people in the room and there wasn't enough space."

Perry described Melissa Sue Anderson as "very, very nice." "She was small, unassuming and between scenes she went out into the neighborhood and signed autographs."

"She seemed very down-to-earth."

The movie is about Toby King (Miss Anderson) who leaves Omaha to study journalism at Harvard University. Filming was set to continue in Boston, Cambridge and Harvard this month.

The movie, scheduled to air in the Fall, also stars Loretta Swit of M*A*S*H and Joel Higgins of Magnum, P.I., neither of whom were at the Quincy location.

thoroughly enjoyed their brush with Hollywood. "There was a lot of excitement."

to see the movie on TV. We're thrilled that our house was picked. "Hopefully, it will be a good movie!"

Marina Extension Called 'Travesty'

By TOM HENSHAW

That was a travesty of justice tonight," said Maureen Mazrimas of Squantum. "But it was just what we expected to happen. This developer seems to have a facility to circumvent the law."

Mrs. Mazrimas, president of Save Our Shores, Inc., was reacting to a vote by the City Council Monday night granting Marina Industries, Inc., an extension of a permit to build at the old Squantum Naval Air Station site.

Marina Industries, which plans to build 136 condominium units under Planned Unit Development (PUD), sought the three-year extension due to delays that were beyond the company's control.

Save Our Shores claimed that the developer had already filed to comply with conditions set by the City Council, the Conservation Commission and the State Department of Environmental Quality Engineering.

"It is our feeling that the essence of the PUD concept is a plan," said Mrs. Mazrimas in a letter that was passed out to the councillors but was not read at the brief meeting.

"This developer has had at least three years in which to come up with a definitive plan for the area and yet we are still left wondering just what is planned for this tract of land.

"We feel that the developer would like us to forget about the plan... making us believe that a mere 136 units would have little impact on the surrounding communities."

"We are basically not opposed to the project," Mrs. Mazrimas said in an interview. But she indicated that her group entertain deep suspicions of what is planned for the site.

"We keep hearing about the initial 136 units and nothing else," she said. "But they are proposing 900 units eventually, not just the 136."

SOS is also concerned, she said, about a second access route to the development in addition to East Squantum St., which is the only road to Squantum over the causeway.

"To date," she said, "no agreement has been reached on a second access road, except for a truck access during construction."

"Does the city want to be in a position of allowing building without the road and then having to deal with the public outcry which will certainly arise if the development is completed and no second means of access is available?"

The original special permit for PUD was granted by the Council Sept. 15, 1980 and required the developer to start construction before April 1, 1981 and finish before April 1, 1984.

But the State DEQE did not issue a sewer connection-extension permit until Jan. 18, 1983, and construction could not start until such permit was in hand.

The Council resolved Monday night that, that was "good cause for the non-commencement of construction" therefore the special permit had not lapsed and the extension could be granted.

The permit now requires construction to begin before April 1, 1984, and finish before April 1, 1987.

"What do you do?" asked a disappointed Maureen Mazrimas. "Stand up and say, 'You did it to us again?'"

Thornton To Run For Ward 6 Seat

A familiar figure appeared at the city election office Tuesday morning to take out nomination papers to run for the City Council from Ward 6.

He is Jens E. Thornton, 59, a fisherman who lives at 14 Orchard St., Squantum, and a frequent and unsuccessful candidate who last ran for the Ward 6 seat back in 1969.

Thornton made his first appearance at City Hall in a long time Monday night in support of Save Our Shores Inc. in opposition to an extension of a special permit for development on the Old Squantum Naval Air station.

The only other new candidate this week was Ruth Levitsky, 22, of 154A Presidents Lane, who took out papers to run for the School Committee.

She is the sixth candidate to signify a desire to run for the School Committee.

A Degree For Burgin

Jim McIntyre was only five years old when Tom Burgin was first elected mayor of Quincy in 1935 at age 33.

McIntyre was about eight or 10 when his father, late Police Capt. William McIntyre, then a young police officer introduced him to His Honor.

"Maybe you'll grow up to be mayor," Burgin told the youngster.

Young McIntyre, of course, grew up, went off to the Korean War, came home, and launched his own political career.

And proved Burgin a political prophet. He became mayor in 1966 at age 35.

Burgin and McIntyre served together in the City Council in the 1950's and their admiration for one another was firmly cemented during that period.

McIntyre is now 53. And Burgin, Quincy's "Elder Statesman" is 81.

The mutual admiration is still there as evidenced Sunday at the graduation ceremonies of Quincy Junior College at Veteran's Memorial Stadium.

BURGIN

The first honorary degree in the college's 25-year history was presented to Burgin. He received an honorary associate in arts degree for his long and distinguished career in public service.

The degree was presented by School Committee Vice Chairwoman Mary Collins. The degree citation was read by School Supt. Dr. Lawrence Creedon.

The citation itself was composed by McIntyre, chairman of College Courses, Inc. the founding board of the college. It reads:

"Thomas S. Burgin - You have been guiding Quincy affairs as a statesman, businessman and banker for more than 50 years.

"During the years of the 30's, the dire days of the depression, you gave hope to your fellow citizens by providing major work programs as mayor.

"During the 40's, the bleak days of World War II, you volunteered and served with distinction in the Navy of your country opposing those who would strip us of our liberty.

"During the 50's, you guided Quincy during a turbulent era from one form of government to another. You are the only man in Quincy's history to receive the heartfelt accolade of being elected for a fourth mayoralty term without opposition.

"As an octogenarian, you have led your city through great changes. Always, the Burgin name stood for competency, integrity, dignity and compassion.

"Today it is entirely fitting that in this stadium constructed under the administration of Mayor Burgin, the only honorary degree of Quincy Junior College to be presented on its 25th anniversary be presented to you, Thomas S. Burgin - distinguished son of Quincy."

Burgin came out of Mass. General Hospital where he has been a patient, to receive the honor.

He said he was "on furlough".

Burgin, told the crowd the honor had "special meaning for me" and then surprised just about everyone with this candid comment:

"I never went to college. I never graduated from high school"

True, but hard to believe.

McINTYRE

A lot of people would have found it easier to believe if he had said he had gone to Harvard. He's that articulate.

It was as touching tribute to a man who has been in love with Quincy all his life.

And it was a little hard to tell who enjoyed the moment the most — Burgin or McIntyre.

MAYOR Francis McCauley will make it official tonight (Thursday; yes, in case you haven't heard, he's running for re-election. The official announcement will come at a fund-raiser dance (8 p.m. to midnight) at the Quincy Neighborhood Club. Tickets, $10 per person, are available at the door.

McCauley's choice of the Neighborhood Club is partly sentimental. "That's where it all began 29 months ago," he notes. (When he first made his announcement he was running for mayor.)

Palmer Pub Hearing Continued

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The License Board voted Tuesday to continue to June 21 a hearing on gangs congregating and alleged drug dealing at the Palmer Pub, 520 Sea St.

Police Chief Francis Finn suggested the hearing be continued so that the juvenile unit can investigate the problem and find out how much the pub is responsible.

Finn said he has received a number of complaints about suspected drug dealing at the pub, and that an arrest was made of a woman inside the establishment with drug paraphernalia.

Manager John W. Smith has recently been ill with a heart problem and has not been in full control of the establishment, Finn said.

Finn said the police have not been able to tie in Palmer Pub with the drug problems, "but they certainly have been lax."

Smith said that he has hired two bartenders and has been spending time at the establishment to monitor the situation.

"Ninety percent of the problem is outside," said Smith who explained that youths starting at age nine congregate around the area.

Finn said that when police officers are in the area, they break up the groups, but, according to the law, "they have an inherent right to saunter and loiter."

City Clerk John Gillis said that youths in the area are "the toughest bunch of kids I've ever met in my life."

Kelly Feels Court Suits Could Delay Nut Island Solution

City Councillor Leo J. Kelly, who has been fighting the Nut Island pollution problem for years, says he is a little wary of the recent court suits that have been filed against the MDC by the city and the EPA.

"I'm afraid the court cases may slow up the solution of the problem," Kelly told interviewers on the program "News-makers" over Quincy Cablesystems Ch. 3.

"And sometimes you end up with a solution through the courts that you really don't want, like the General Dynamics case. Sometimes the solutions are worse than the problem."

One thing the court actions are doing, said Kelly "is we are seeing more and more people getting involved in the problem. We're starting to see new people speaking out."

"But a lot of them are saying we're going to have this thing cleaned up very shortly. This isn't true. The problems in the bay have taken a number of years to happen. They're going to take a number of years to clean up."

Kelly said the pollution generated by the Nut Island Sewage Treatment Facility has already had an effect on fishing in the Houghs Neck area.

He quoted Walter Hurley of Hurley's Boat Rental as saying, "The haddock are gone. The mackerel are gone. The cod are gone. All the surface fish are gone. All that's left now are the bottom fish and they're disappearing."

"There is no guarantee that flounder are not contaminated like the clams," said Kelly. "I know of no real tests that have been taken on the fish, outside of the simple ones."

On other subjects, Kelly made these points:

- He might be interested in applying for open Quincy

LEO J. KELLY

Housing Authority jobs of project manager and housing inspector.

"I am always looking to better myself. If a job like that becomes available and I think I could fill it, I would certainly apply for one of those jobs."

- The State Lottery is interested in moving its headquarters from Braintree into the Sears Building in downtown Quincy and

"that would bring a lot of people into the downtown area."

- The mayor and members of the City Council deserve the pay raises that are contained in the 1984 budget but "I just don't know if the money is there to do those type of things. I haven't made a decision yet."

- He would consider using the money the city has on deposit in the South Shore Bank as a weapon in the fight to keep Multi-Bank's computer center in Quincy.

"I would not allow that many people to leave the city without putting up a fight. If the money that we have in the bank can be used to persuade them to stay I would use it."

Kelly was interviewed on the program by John Noonan of The Quincy Sun, Herb Fontaine, news director of WJDA, and Ray McEachern, reporter for the Patriot Ledger.

Quincy's Yesterdays

By Tom Henshaw

Adams Academy Recommended For New City Hall

The Veterans Memorial Committee, ignoring the recommendations of the Planning Board, selected the Adams Academy grounds at Hancock and Adams Sts., as the best available site for a proposed new City Hall.

The Committee, headed by Rep. William W. Jenness, also suggested that adjoining land north of the site, valued at $45,000, be taken all the way to the edge of the South Shore Buick property.

The Planning Board had already held public hearings on proposals to locate the new City Hall in the so-called "Apex" at Hancock and Washington Sts., site of the Bargain Center, and the Hardwick estate.

Jenness noted that those sites could cost the Quincy taxpayers as much as $325,000 in land damages, or $2.50 on the tax rate, a sum that would be unfair to newly returned veteran homeowners.

QUINCY BAY CLEANUP

Mayor Charles A. Ross, testifying before the House Committee on Ways and Means, argued that construction of a sewage treatment plant at Nut Island "will clean up the terrible mess on the shores of Quincy Bay."

The Committee was hearing an $18 million bill directed at cleaning up pollution in Boston Harbor and adjacent waters.

Howard E. Porter of the Health Department condemned "the wholesale dumping of raw sewage into this beautiful recreational area."

"On hot days," he said, "we get hundreds of calls and our answer is the same: 'Don't go in if the water is dirty. If it looks clean and you go in, take a shower immediately when you get home.'"

FIRST MEDAL OF HONOR

Marine Maj. Everett P. Pope, son of Mr. and Mrs. Laurence E. Pope of 155 Billings Rd., North Quincy, became the first Quincy man to win the Congressional Medal of Honor for heroism in the Pacific war.

"I would rather have this medal than be President of the United States," said President Harry S. Truman in making the presentation to Maj. Pope on the steps of the White House.

2,000 To March In Flag Day Parade

An estimated 2,000 marchers are expected to participate in the annual Koch Club "Salute to Old Glory Parade" Tuesday, June 14.

The parade will start at 6:15 p.m. from the Vocational Technical School on Coddingdon St. and proceed to Veterans Memorial Stadium for brief Flag Day Ceremonies.

The Quincy Police Department and Quincy Fire Department Color Guards will lead the parade roster of youth organizations, musical units, color guards and dignitaries.

The Koch Club has sponsored the event for the past three decades beginning with 100 marchers in North Quincy to Cavanagh Stadium for the flag raising ceremony. Increased participation changed the location to Quincy Sq. in 1964 where it has continued to be held each year.

Along the parade route the memories of the three Presidents from Massachusetts will be honored as marchers pause at the Church of the Presidents while wreaths are laid on the tombs of Presidents John and John Quincy Adams. Another stop will be at the John F. Kennedy Health Center for a wreath placing in the foyer to remember the 35th President and the only honorary member of the Koch Club.

Units planning to join 1000 members of the Koch Club Boys Baseball and Girls Softball Leagues in the parade and ceremonies include the Patriots Frail Girl Scout Council, South Shore Camp Fire Girls, units of the Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts while recreational and athletic groups include 200 members of the Quincy Track Club and 100 members of St. Ann's Baseball League.

Each boy and girl participating in the line of march will be provided a 12" x 18" flag to display along the route and keep at the end of the program.

The flags have been donated by the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association, the Quincy City Club and a number of individuals who have contributed to the purchase of the same.

All youth and adult organizations from Quincy and the South Shore are invited to participate.

FLAME-RETARDENT TENTS

A 12-year old boy suffered extensive third-degree burns when a candle ignited the canvas tent and the sleeping bag in which he was camping out in his own backyard. About 5,000 injuries occur each year while campers are using portable cooking, lighting and heating equipment. Many of these mishaps could be avoided if more tents were flame-retardant.

The University of Minnesota documented 75 tent fires that resulted in 119 injuries, 27 of them fatal. Involved most often were umbrella or cabin-type tents made of cotton which can burn in 40 seconds to three minutes.

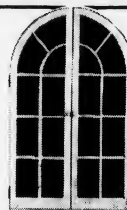

Actually, flame-retardant tents have been available for more than 30 years, and at least four states require those there to meet standards. However, only 30% of tents on the market in 1975 were flame-retardant. The Canvas Products Association International says most of its member tent makers now produce labeled flame-retardant products.

Play it safe. Always use flame-retardant tents and sleeping bags and assume materials can burn unless they are so labeled.

PHARMACY TOPICS

By Edward David R.Ph.

Instead of surgery for slipped disk, a new procedure has been approved by the Food and Drug Administration. Drug derived from papaya is injected in the disk to "tenderize" and shrink it. Success rate is the same as surgery and cost is lower, but there is some risk of severe allergic reaction.

New blood test indicates with certainty the existence of a recent rubella infection. Since adults show few or no symptoms, it's been difficult to determine whether a pregnant woman has had the infection that can damage her child.

British researchers have found an early warning of kidney failure in diabetics. Measuring the overnight excretion of albumin pinpoints those at risk, in time for preventive measures.

Special pacemaker now on the drawing boards will click on only when the heart rate starts to rise dangerously. Device will be able to differentiate between tachycardia and the normal effect of exercise.

Study at Boston University Medical Center indicates that verapamil, a calcium-channel blocker, is a safe and effective drug against angina pain that follows exercise. Patients had fewer attacks and less need for nitroglycerin.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

In Aesop's Fables ("The Peacock and Juno") the story is told how the peacock petitioned Juno and pleaded for the voice of a nightingale. Juno refused. The peacock persisted and pointed out that he was her favorite bird. Juno finally exclaimed, "Be content with your lot; one can not be first in everything."

The fable really holds true in life. Discontentment is a destructive mood and causes continual conflict within one's self. It produces troubled minds and often troubled bodies.

Some people think contentment can be found in wealth and riches. They are mistaken. Contentment can be found with or without riches, by the rich and poor alike. In our opinion, we are inclined to agree with the man who said, "Contentment is being satisfied with what you don't have . . . including ulcers!" It would be interesting to know whether you too share that opinion . . .

SAILING, SAILING — The First Church of Squantum celebrated Sailing Sunday beginning with a Shipboard Breakfast in Fellowship Hall. Nautical Theme At Squantum Church Service

Members and friends of the First Church of Squantum recently celebrated "Sailing Sunday".

A "Shipboard Breakfast" in Fellowship Hall was followed by a nautical worship service in the sanctuary and, during the Fellowship Hour afterward, sailing exhibits for the adults and opportunities for the children to sail their toy boats.

The Shipboard Breakfast was served in Fellowship Hall which had been decorated to look like the two-level dining room of a cruise ship. Around the room there were several full-size sailboats, a wooden dock, sails, sailing pennants and regalia, and life-jackets.

On the floor, there were three low pools deep enough for the children to use in sailing their boats. One had a school of goldfish swimming in it.

Exhibits for the adults included several sets of colored photographs of the Tall Ships, sailing insignia, seashell craftwork and a large oil painting of an ocean scene. Contributors of the exhibits included Richard Hendry, Ruth Danforth and Jens Thornton, Sr. The sails and sailboats were loaned by Douglas Randall, Barbara Walters and Calvin Bumpus.

Young people of the church cooked and served the breakfast under the supervision of Hazel Mayne with the assistance of David and Jeanette Crosby.

Proceeds of the event went to various youth ministry programs in the church including summer camps.

Members of the congregation had been asked to come to church for the occasion dressed in nautical attire.

Upstairs in the sanctuary, the service began with an organ prelude entitled "Chanty" and taken from "Poems of the Sea" by Ernest Bloch. Mary Ruth Scott was organist.

Commodore Richard Hendry, a past commodore of the Squantum Yacht Club, gave the call to worship beginning, "Some went down to the sea in ships doing business on the great waters..." from Psalm 107.

During the opening hymn, "Eternal Father, Strong to Save", children came down the center aisle as waves bearing small sailboats ahead of the procession of choir members. This was the parade of sail.

Church pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin read the poem "Sea-Fever" by John Marjessfield. All of the other worship leaders were real sailors, including Sally Wainwright, who gave the opening prayer, Gretchen and Calvin Bumpus, who read the Scripture lesson from the book of Jonah, and Louise Randall, who gave the prayer of dedication.

Dr. Langevin told the children the story of Jonah, using large colored cartoons to illustrate his talk. Later, he preached to the adults on the subject, "Wind in the Rigger", taking as his text a passage from the book of Jonah, "Now the word of the Lord came to Jonah the son of Amittai...but Jonah rose to flee to Tarshish away from the presence of the Lord." (1:1a,3a)

The Junior Choir sang a sea cantata entitled "Jonah" with words by E. J. Bash. Soloists were Lori Ogilvie, Amanda Young, Melissa Stamos, Kristen Reister, Kim Olsen, Krista Olson and Blythe Bumpus.

Representing the Board of Christian Education, Barbara Anderson and Pat Olson assisted the pastor in recognizing and honoring Marsha Anderson and Mark Paul, two members of the church who were to graduate from high school during the week. Each was presented with a gift from the congregation.

Each worshipper received a nautical souvenir made by Dorothy Abbe.

The Chancel Choir sang a sailing anthem, "Ship Ahoy!" by Towner-Cartwright, for the offertory.

Other hymns sung were "I Feel the Winds of God Today", "Give to the Winds Thy Fears" and a special benediction written by the pastor to be sung to the tune of "Edelweiss."

The organ postlude was a medley of traditional sea chants.

New Classified Format

'Cable Cars' Makes

Debut On Sun's Ch. 8

The Quincy Sun is offering a unique addition in classified advertising on television which may be a "first" in the country.

"Viewers are able to sit in their own living room and see the products and hear all about them on Ch. 8," notes Sun publisher Henry Bosworth.

The first, featuring automobiles and called "Cable Cars" made its debut last Friday on The Sun's Ch. 8 on Quincy Cablesystems.

"Cable Cars", a joint effort of The Quincy Sun, automobile dealers on the South Shore and Cable Television Productions of Braintree, will be shown nightly at 6 p.m. Mondays through Fridays.

Cars and trucks selected by the individual dealers for presentation will be shown and detailed in full color.

The Quincy Sun was the first newspaper in the South Shore and one of the first in New England and the country to operate a television news channel.

Since February, 1982, The Sun's Ch. 8 has been presenting local, regional, national and world news 24 hours a day, seven days a week in an electronic newspaper format.

Recently, The Sun added videotape news and advertising capability.

And, it is now adding a videotape classified or categorized advertising section which may be the first of its kind among newspapers in the country.

Thomas A. Corcoran, executive director of Cable

Television Productions, Braintree and Bosworth said "Cable Cars" is the first offering in a planned newspaper classified section on TV.

Without leaving their homes, viewers can see new and used cars at their dealers and later, other products.

"It's a brand new concept and we will be pioneering it right here in Quincy with The Quincy Sun," said Corcoran.

Future programming plans include a viewing of homes available on the local real estate market, furniture ad furnishings, latest fashions and other categories.

Interested businesses may contact The Quincy Sun (471-3100) or Cable Television Productions (843-4321).

Sun Ch. 8 News Schedule

The Quincy Sun offers around-the-clock Quincy, regional, national and world news on its Ch. 8 on Quincy Cablesystems.

The Quincy news is gathered by Quincy Sun staffers and the regional, national and world news by the Associated Press.

Ch. 8 is on 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

The schedule:

National News: On the hour.

Quincy News: Ten past the hour.

Sports [Associated Press]: Twenty-five past the hour.

Regional News: Half-past the hour.

North Tourney Bid Loss A Heartbreaker

By TOM SULLIVAN
The North Quincy baseball team failed to qualify for the Eastern Mass. Tournament in the most heartbreaking manner.

Following an 8-1 win over Canton and a 6-4 decision over Brookline, the Raiders needed one win in their last two games to make the tournament.

Last Friday night, playing for the third day in a row, North lost 4-0 and 6-4 leads and dropped an 8-6 decision to Milton.

"Our pitchers were tired as we were playing our third game in as many days," Coach Charlie Bunker said. "But it was frustrating losing after jumping to an early lead."

The scheduled game with Brockton, which was to have started four straight days of baseball for North, was postponed until last Monday and Bunker felt, with all the pitchers rested, the Raiders stood a good chance of repeating an earlier win over the Boxers.

North held a 5-4 lead in the sixth inning but a questionable balk call enabled Brockton to score twice and defeat the Raiders, 6-5, and knock them out of the tournament.

The Raiders had overcome a 3-0 deficit to take the lead at Brockton. With Brockton runners on second and third in the sixth, Bob O'Brien made a fine catch in short right field with his back to the infield. He made a great throw to the plate but just missed the runner scoring the tying run.

"We felt sure the runner had left third base too soon and we were going to appeal," Bunker said. "But when our pitcher stepped off the rubber, the umpire called a balk, thereby nullifying our appeal and allowed not only the tying run to score but the winning run.

"I feel sorry for the boys, as they did a great job and deserved to make the tournament. It was a frustrating way to end the season. I don't know how the umpire called the balk, but that was it for our season."

Chris Bunker, the Suburban League's leading hitter and MVP, had a home run and O'Brien, Steve Higgins and John Kozlowski had two hits each.

Hogan pitched the first three innings, Higgins, a lefty, came in to pitch two innings, Jim Kelly pitched a third of an inning and Hogan came back to finish up.

North got off to a fine start in its stretch drive with an 8-1 win over Canton, scoring six runs in the sixth inning keyed by a two-run triple by Keith Smith.

Winning pitcher John Comeau went the distance for the only time this season, allowing five hits and striking out five.

In the next game North topped Brookline, 6-4, with relief pitcher Hogan allowing four hits in 5 1/2 innings.

Bunker had planned to start Hogan against Milton but was forced to use him in relief against Brookline when starter Kelly yielded four early runs. Brookline led, 4-1, but North battled back as Kozlowski, who went three-for-four, drove in the winning run with a two-out double in the fourth.

LAURIE BARBA, a freshman from Quincy, contributed to the Northeastern University women's ice hockey team's outstanding 17-7 season. She was one of six freshmen on the team, which had only one senior.

Zone 6 Legion Underway

The Zone 6 American Legion baseball season got under way last night (Wednesday) with Morrisette playing at Carter Post in Dorchester, a new entry, and Wollaston playing Quincy at Adams Field.

Friday Morrisette hosts Weymouth at 8 o'clock at Adams Field and Wollaston plays at Randolph at 6. Sunday Quincy plays Hingham at 8 at Adams, Monday Wollaston meets Hingham at 8 at Adams, Morrisette is at Milton and Quincy at Carter Post at 6. Tuesday Morrisette faces Canton at 8 at Adams and Wednesday it will be Weymouth vs. Quincy at 8 at Adams and Wollaston at Holbrook, also at 8.

Ray Cattaneo is back as Morrisette coach for the 14th year and again has Bill Corcoran (14 years) and Connie Carozzi as assistants.

Morrisette appears set in pitching with Mike Marshall, who played at Tampa University; Jim Bandera and Steve Austin of Quincy High, Dennis Cronin of Thayer Academy, Jack Outerbridge of North Quincy High and Paul Marshall of B.C. High.

Mike Marshall, Bandera and Austin are playing for the third year, while the others are playing for the first time.

"These boys look good and I think we should be all right in pitching," said Cattaneo. "Also, we have a lot of veteran players and some good hitters, who should give the pitchers good plate support."

In the infield Cattaneo has Scott Mele of Abp.

Williams and Tom Ryan of Xaverian at first base, Jim Austin of Quincy and Dave Zurums of North Quincy at second. Paul Cedrone of Quincy and Cronin at short-stop and John Balzano and Rick Kelley of Quincy at third. Balzano was one of the top hitters in the Suburban League this year and was named to the league all-star team.

In the outfield are Chris Bunker and Jack Bolster of North Quincy, the No. 1 and 2 hitters in the Suburban League, Bandera, Dan Kelly and Tom Connolly of Abp. Williams. Bunker was named the MVP in the Suburban League.

Marty McLoughlin of Quincy and Tufts is back catching for the third year and is backed up by Mike Gill of North Quincy.

John Belcastro and Dick

Travers are back as Wollaston coaches and are optimistic, following fine showings by the team the last two years.

"We feel we have come a long way in the last two years and we will be a competitive team interesting to watch," Belcastro said.

Wollaston is made up mainly of Quincy and North Quincy High players in addition to Tom Corliss of Don Bosco, Vin Cristiani of B.C. High and Rob McElaney of Milton Academy.

The other players are Steve Hogan, a Suburban League all-star; Jim Kelly, Bob O'Brien, Steve Higgins, Ken Runge, John Comeau, Brian Gibbons, Mark Hubbard and Keith Smith of North Quincy High and Andy Eames, Mark Righini, Bob Campbell, Joe Conti, and Mike Notarangelo of Quincy.

North Girls Tie For Track Title

The North Quincy girls' track team has had an up and down season, but it hit its peak in the recent Eastern Mass. meet, tying Needham for the Class A championship.

The Raiderettes apparently had clinched the meet with a first and third in the two-mile but they were shut out in both relays while Needham took third in the 400 relay and fifth in the mile to gain a tie with 35 points.

Mary Ann Kelleher of North won the two-mile in 11:09.3, and Sheila Barrett took third.

The Raiderettes' Georgia Traficante was second in the javelin and Eileen Crehan third. Linda Kennedy was fourth and Tracey Corrigan sixth in the mile.

Last Saturday in the state meet Barrett finished fifth and Kelleher sixth to give North Quincy its only points.

Holleran, Kiley Suburban All Stars

North Quincy's Mary Holleran and Debbie Kiley were named to the Suburban League all-star softball team.

Brockton and Waltham dominated the first team selections.

Tony Collins, leading rusher each of the last two seasons for the New England Patriots, guest speaker at the 29th annual awards dinner of the Quincy Bowling Little Loop, held recently in the Montclair Men's Club, attributed his success to positive thinking, prayer and desire to excel.

"We have a good team, a happier team, and a team that can make the Super Bowl; possibly this year, but I guarantee we'll win it within three years," said the positive thinking second round Patriots pick of 1981, and former Star Carolina University star.

Collins, in behalf of the Patriots, presented President Joe Gildea with an autographed football and three autographed 'T' shirts which were raffled off during the dinner and netted $194. for the David R. Brodie Memorial Bowl-A-Thon fund for Muscular Dystrophy; bringing the 1983 final total to $1,493.27.

The Little Loop Bowlers have now raised $13,682.12 over the past eight years, for the Southern Mass. Chapter of the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

The James R. McIntyre Club won the Jim Carey Memorial Trophy as league champion, the Joseph E. Brett Club was second and Local 1451 IAM, AFL-CIO, was third. The Elks had the high team three of 1180 and the Atty. George Burke Club had the high single of 420.

Special awards included the Jim Broadbent Memorial for Most Improved Bowler to Sean Mullaney of Bryan Post VFW and the Pop Hatfield Memorial for Good Sportsmanship to Jim Saley of the Brett Club.

Suburban Places Second In Volleyball Tourney

The Suburban 15 and under girls' volleyball team, with six Quincy players on the squad, made an outstanding showing in the Big East Tournament at the University of Delaware, finishing second.

Teams from all 13 Eastern Seaboard states participated.

Suburban, the Mass. state champion, started slowly and lost in straight games, 15-9, 15-7, to Maplewood, N.J. However, the team rebounded and dominated the Pepsico team from New York, 15-7, 15-7, and had no trouble with Chapel Hill, N.C., winning, 15-5, 15-4. Quincy's Stephanie Levanig, Terry McLoughlin and Leanne Dondero played well in pool play.

In the quarterfinals Suburban crushed Raleigh,

N.C., 15-10, 15-0, as Co-Capt. Karen Malkinan of Brockton, played well and Marlo Levanig, one of the team's best defensive players, did a brilliant job passing the ball.

In the semifinals Suburban again faced Pepsico (a team professionally sponsored and featuring two players over 5-9 and the heavy favorite to win the tournament, going unbeaten through pool play).

But the favorites ran into Quincy's Kathy McGregor, who controlled the first team with strong blocking and crushing spikes, as Suburban built an 11-0 lead and won, 15-9.

The second game was more of the same with McGregor and Marlo Levanig hitting and Stephanie Levanig playing tough defense. Suburban rolled to a 14-0 lead and held on to win, 15-11. Keli Mahoney scored four points for Suburban.

In the finals against Maplewood Ray Whitehouse's Suburban girls showed its true character. They lost, 15-1, in the opening game and trailed, 7-1, in the second. They roared back to win, 15-11, but they couldn't hold an 11-6 lead in the finals, bowing, 15-11.

"These girls did a fantastic job," Whitehouse, the Quincy High coach, said. "We had three freshmen and the rest sophomores from Quincy, Brockton and Boston Latin. They were just super and we are eagerly looking forward to the national championships later this month in Chicago."

WEEK OF: JUNE 16

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
Small feuds can blossom into a battle of the wits, so sign a peace treaty as soon as possible. Partner may be preoccupied with a family problem. Be supportive, but don't intrude.

PISCES — February 20-March 20
Good time for singles for lighthearted romance, perhaps with Aquarius friend. Thrift should be current byword — it's to your advantage to play the miser this week.

ARIES — March 21-April 20

TAURUS — April 21-May 22
Healthwise, be sure to question instructions that are not clear. Accent is on quality over quantity, especially if shopping for antiques or hobby-related items. VIP appreciates your approval.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21
Week sees you participating actively in community affairs. Sales people can tempt you with sundry — but unnecessary — wares. Good practice to catch up on miscellaneous health needs.

CANCER — June 22-July 22
You can be drawn into the inner circle at work or in a community group. Faraway news is encouraging, but have all the details before drawing conclusions or making arrangements.

LEO — July 23-August 22
Week includes a blend of intrigue, glamor, and local travel. Thursday Friday are outstanding for concluding projects. Monday Wednesday emphasize reconciliations and conferences.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22
Enjoy quick dinners and pleasant jaunts to romantic spots. Behind the scenes happenings will lead to increased status in near future. The practical in home improvement schemes.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22
Week finds you in a mood for fun, but partner is subdued and possessive individuals try to cramp your style. Finding lost items is a current trend. Celebrations happen in pairs.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21
Self-confidence gets a boost when you're called on to meet an exciting challenge. Thursday Friday accent property and legal matters. Ads placed now are well received.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22
Season closes with one final bout of spring fever. Invention is current byword. With ingenuity, you can save a significant sum. Colleague or neighbor appears aloof.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20
Cash arrives from surprise source, but avoid making risk in ventures. Obstacle in career path cannot be ignored. Travel information should be verified by someone in the know.

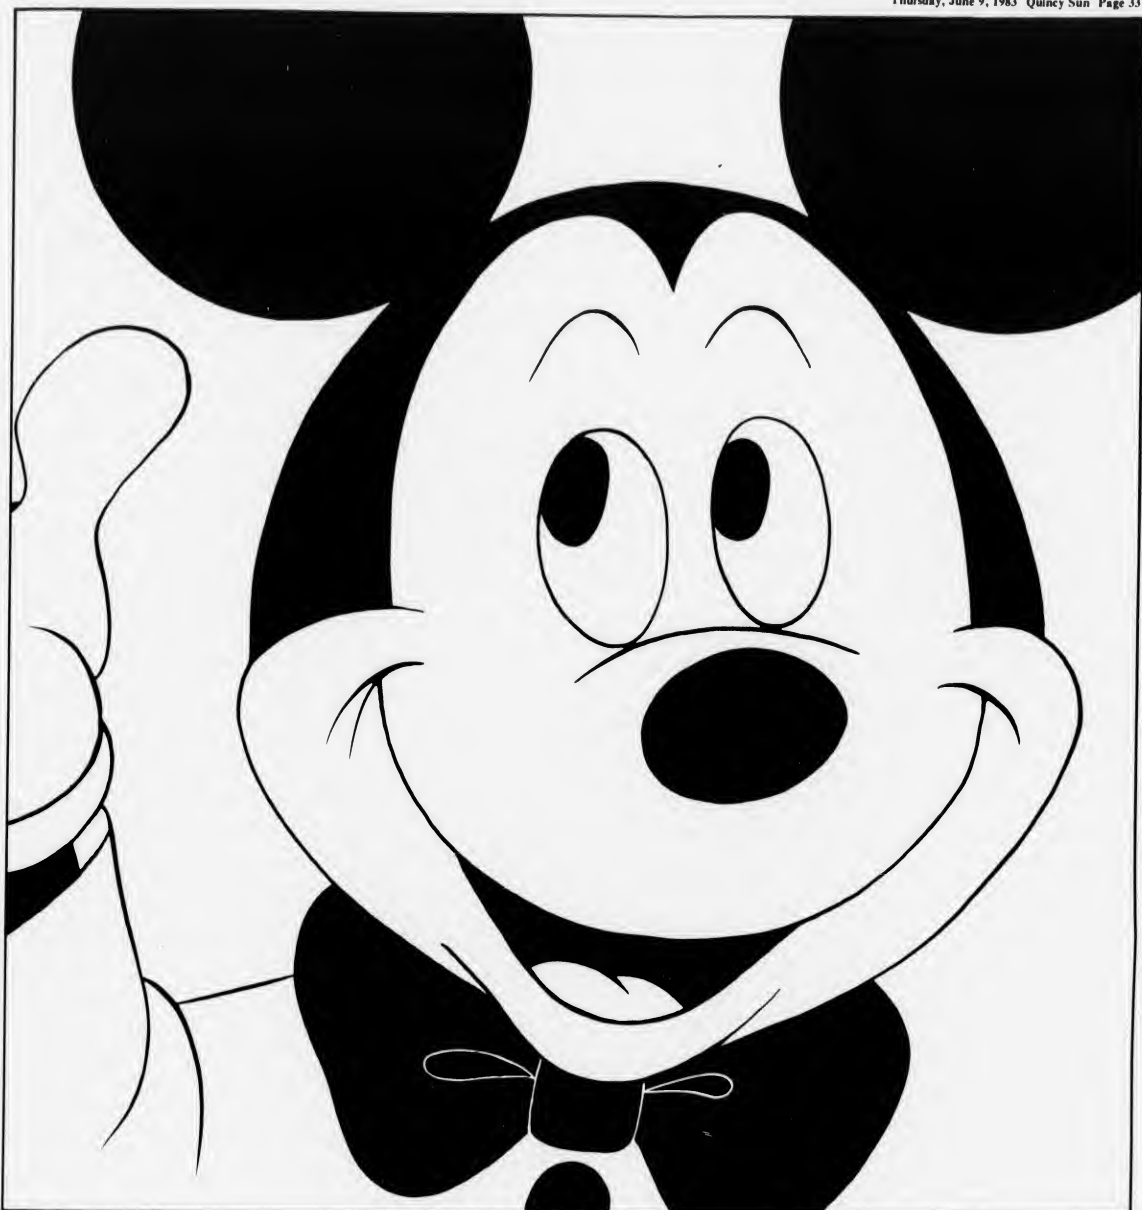

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
You have a way with words, and your wit wins you admirers from all walks of life. Year ahead finds you mingling with a more intellectual, wealthier crowd. Being more outspoken and determined leads to late-year career advancement.

BORN THIS WEEK

Board Grants License For Lodging House

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The license board voted 4 to 1 Tuesday to grant Robert McManus and Thomas Tighe, Jr., both of Quincy, a lodging house license for 25 Shaw St., Quincy Point.

Fire Chief Edward Barry was opposed.

Among the license stipulations was that a new roof and driveway be installed by Nov. 1.

Tighe admitted to the board that the dwelling needs a lot of work. "It's terrible inside now," said

Tighe who explained that improvements are planned.

Fire Chief Edward Barry said that the fire detection system is o.k.

"The building is structurally probably ok," said Building Inspector Allan MacDonald, "but it needs a major overhaul and there's no off-street parking."

Barry said the building should have been upgraded before the license was requested.

"We don't want them to run a skid row lodging house in the city," said Barry.

Sevin Spray Draws Only One Protest

The city began spraying this week for mosquito control, using the controversial chemical Sevin but the mayor's office said only one protest was received and that came from a Weymouth woman.

The spraying started Monday in the Germantown-Rock Island Cove section of Houghs Neck but was cancelled Tuesday when the weathermen predicted rain.

Richard J. Koch, head of the Park, Forestry and Cemetery Departments, said there would be no spraying on rainy days or during periods of gusty winds that might disperse the chemical.

Peter Kenney, the mayor's executive secretary, said he received one protest from a Weymouth woman who came into his office waving anti-Sevin pamphlets.

"She left the information 8780 Stereo Stolen

A stereo valued at $780 was reported stolen Monday by Laurie Newman of 75 Palmer St., Germantown, from her 1977 Ford Granada while it was parked at the YMCA on Coddington St.

tion," said Kenney. "and we had the Health Commissioner, Dr. Grace Hussey, and Winthrop Wade, the environmentalist, look it over but it turned out to be the same drive."

"The state has approved the use of Sevin; we have a man who is licensed to spray it; and we are abiding by the laws. I don't think there is anything to protest."

"On the other hand, Dick Koch has received about 30 calls from people who want the marshy areas around their homes sprayed. None of them mention Sevin. It's just 'Please, spray!'"

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said only the marshy mosquito breeding areas of the city will be sprayed and there will be no spraying on a high level or in inhabited areas.

Sevin is being used, the Mayor said, because the city has a supply on hand left over from the gypsy moth spray campaign of last summer.

McCauley said the cost of the spraying will come from existing city funds at "minimal expense." Most of the extra cost will be overtime for workers due to the 5:30 a.m. start, he said.

A bad mosquito season is anticipated, said the mayor, because of the wet spring.

MBTA Storage Request Approved By Board

The License Board Tuesday from the MBTA approved a request Quincy Bus Garage, 954

Hancock St., Wollaston, for a total storage of 38,000 gallons of fuel and other fluids under ground.

No opposition was registered at the meeting. Previous storage total was 25,000 gallons.

Architect Francis Bagge said that new tanks would be installed, subject to approval by the Fire Department.

Bagge also said that pavement in the front and back would be repaired, and the grade would be changed so that fluids would flow into a gas separator.

The board also instructed the MBTA to "do some housekeeping down there."

Council Approves $69.5-M Budget

The City Council Monday night passed a city budget for fiscal 1984 - of $69,584,102, only $66,049 less than that requested by Mayor Francis X. McCauley.

The budget was approved after a vain attempt by Council President John J. Lydon, Jr. to slash $100,000 from the Police Department budget which was earmarked for the acquisition of new police cars.

Lydon noted that Mayor Francis X. McCauley has tentative plans for leasing the cars and one of the top candidates for leasing is the German-made Mercedes-Benz.

He wanted to withhold the $100,000 until the mayor has made it clear what types of cars he proposes to lease or purchase.

A few weeks ago, the Council passed a "Buy American" resolution aimed at preventing the Mayor from leasing foreign-made vehicles.

Councillor Leo J. Kelly said he thought the Council was getting into a dangerous area in not providing the money for the Police Department to acquire badly needed new vehicles.

"I'm sure the mayor's discretion will bring us the best cars for the Police Department," said Councillor James A. Sheets.

DeCristofaro Seeks Traffic Study

City Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro has asked the Police Traffic Bureau to study the traffic situation at Mechanic and Elm Sts. and perhaps clear it up.

Said DeCristofaro in a letter to Lt. John Flaherty of the Traffic Bureau:

"During the peak hours the traffic is backed up quite a distance on Mechanic and Elm Sts. and this could create a bad situation if it was necessary for the Fire department to get through."

Police Dept. Hurting In Leadership Posts

Police Chief Francis X. Finn says he feels he will be able to fill 12 vacancies in his undermanned department in September but the real problem, he told the City Council Monday night, is the vacancies in the leadership positions.

When Capt. Roy Cavicchi retires July 6, he said, the department will have only one captain (Paul Nestor) when the full complement calls for four.

"There are seven vacancies among lieutenants," he said, "and seven vacancies among Sergeants. We are in serious trouble. We can't function without leadership."

Recently, Capt. Nestor was assigned to night duty to fill in a gap and his daytime administrative duties have fallen to Finn, who is just back from quadruple heart bypass surgery.

"There is just too much work," said Finn. "It is affecting my health very gravely. It will have a deleterious affect on Capt. Nestor when Cavicchi retires."

There is a Civil Service list for captain in existence but selections cannot be made while an injunction is in effect. The injunction was obtained by an officer who's name was left off the list for what he deemed insufficient reason.

Finn said he understands that Mayor Francis X. McCauley is seeking to resolve the injunction with the officer.

Another injunction against the appointment of new patrolmen also may be lifted soon, hopefully by June 20 to enable the new appointees to attend a recruit school opening in Wakefield on that date.

But, even at that, the new men will not be able to go on duty until September.

"It's going to be a very costly summer at time and a half," said Finn.

License Board Continues Portable Office Hearing

The License Board voted Tuesday to continue for 30 days a hearing on restrictions placed on the license of Supreme Coffee and Donuts, 275 Quincy Ave.

When the license was granted Jan. 25 to Yiannis Davos, land owner Joseph Bates said that he would move his equipment to a fenced-in area about one quarter of a mile from Quincy Ave.

Building Inspector Allan MacDonald said this week that Bates moved his portable office to a different location a short distance away.

Bates said that the office has not been moved to the originally determined site because electricity for it has not yet been hooked up. He said the trailer would be moved within 30 days.

Kathleen Vejvoda In Special Tribute To Dad

Kathleen Vejvoda, 15, of 53 Darrow St., Houghs Neck, recently had a poem, "For Dad", published in an anthology of contemporary poetry. "Today's Greatest Poems."

"My poem was written a few days after my father passed away in August, 1982," said Kathleen.

"I subscribe to 'The Writer' and 'Writer's Digest' magazines which list poetry and fiction markets each month, and found a poetry contest sponsored by the World of Poetry taking place in Christmas, 1982."

"I thought 'For Dad' would be a good choice for this as no other poem I could write came through so honestly. 'It did not win the contest, but has been included in 'Today's Greatest Poems.'"

Also the daughter of Josephine M. Vejvoda, Kathleen attended the Advanced Placement class at Central Junior High School and has been in all honors classes at Quincy High School.

She had a short story, "The Scotch Mist" published and it won the Scholastic Magazine prize. Winner of oratorical and spelling contests, she received a medal as a Model United Nations delegate at Assumption College, and had a poem printed in an Irish midland newspaper.

Kathleen, who returned recently from a two week visit to Ireland, would like someday to be a journalist.

"FOR DAD"

By KATHLEEN VEJVODA
When all the well-loved ones have gone on their way,
Leaving behind a kind word
I sit by myself in a room of memories.
My grief in the darkness unheard.
I forever sits the curtain.
How long has it been?
My mind knows no step of the time.
Or of when I first felt the tingling fever of emptiness, anguish and pain.
I fix my eyes on your chair, where not long ago you sat speaking to me who thought you would always be there.
I want to hear, forever to see,
And so as I sit here
I sit on your tears left to cry.
So prayers left to us
And can no longer ask why.
I seem to be waiting for that morning light
Which will signal the end of my long, farseeing night.
I can believe that the one whom I watched Fading away in that hospital room
Has drawn his last peaceful breath.
But the father I love
Can never die
Because love is much stronger than death.

Lawson Suggests Sept. 12 School Opening

State Education Commissioner John H. Lawson has written to 30 school districts including Quincy asking that the 1983-1984 school year begin after the Jewish New Year.

Lawson's request, which will be up to the school committee, is that the school year begin Sept. 12 rather than after the labor day weekend.

Rabbi Robert Kahn, president of the Synagogue Council of Massachusetts, recommended the 30 districts which received the letters.

Regular airmail service was first established in 1918.

Looks Like School Board Primary

It looks like there may be a primary election after all. At least a one-race primary.

They're not official candidates until they file their nomination papers, but right now there seems to be seven candidates for the three School Committee seats.

The three incumbents Frank Anselmo, Christopher Kennedy and John Sullivan, are definite candidates for re-election. Four challengers have nomination papers in circulation: William Arienti, 21, of South Quincy; Stephen Durkin, 27, of Wollaston; Frank Santoro, 34, also of Wollaston and Ruth Levitsky, 22, of Quincy Center.

If all seven file their papers, it will mean a September preliminary election.

Right now, it looks like the only preliminary run-off. Seven council at-large candidates and three candidates for each ward seat are necessary for a preliminary election in those contests.

They aren't there yet.

Incidentally, it would be an expensive school committee-only preliminary election. City Clerk John Gillis estimates it will cost about $40,000 for a preliminary election even if its for just one contest.

That means if there are only seven School Committee Candidates it would cost $40,000 just to eliminate one of them.

Gillis, however, expects there may be as many as 10 School Committee candidates before the Aug. 2 filing deadline.

CITY OFFICIALS taking out-of-state trips can sometimes run into a little flak from taxpayers who have to pick up the tab. But there shouldn't be any problem about Mayor Francis McCauley attending the Mayor's Conference in Denver.

McCauley and his wife, Sandra, flew out to Denver Friday and were due back Wednesday. The trip was paid for out of McCauley's campaign funds.

SPEAKING OF McCauley, if his administrative aide Arthur Foley looks a little slimmer these days, he is. He's been jogging two miles every other day for the past two months and has lost 10 pounds. He's down to a trim 160.

TIME REALLY DOESN'T march on -- it gallops.

Readers Forum Why Doesn't Quincy Pound List Strays For Adoption

Editor, The Quincy Sun: Brintree, Holbrook, Randolph, Weymouth, and other South Shore dog pounds submit lists of impounded strays for printing to the "Around the Pounds" column in order to expedite adoption of these animals.

The pound management comment how helpful this form of advertising has been in the adoption process and the amount of animal lives saved each year.

Why is it then that the City of Quincy does not participate even after requests have been made by the Quincy Animal League to do so?

Quincy Animal League's request is not such an enormous one, obviously if so many other surrounding towns are involved, and it certainly seems to be quite beneficial to our stray animals.

I should think our pound officials would invite means of adoption, for they know first hand the sad alternatives.

Perhaps these officials are not proponents of adoption, if so, we need either new officials or a City Council who will step in and instruct them to participate when requested by a number of concerned citizens. It is unfortunate that citizens of Quincy must go to such great lengths to have a nominal request granted.

'Descent From Glory' Author:

Adamses, Our Greatest Family, Had Their Foibles

By TOM HENSHAW

Ten years of close literary association has convinced Virginian Paul C. Nagel that, despite their flaws and foibles, the Adamses of Quincy "are by far our greatest family. There is no one just like them in American history."

Nagel, who is director of the Virginia Historical Society, is the author of the new book, "Descent from Glory, Four Generations of the John Adams Family", which, he hastens to explain, does not mean that the family has gone downhill since old John.

"The title was suggested by the Book of the Month Club," he said on a recent visit to The Quincy Sun. "It's ambiguous and it's titillated a lot of interest. I like to think it means descended in the Biblical sense from the glory of John and Abigail."

A decade of study and browsing among the voluminous Adams family papers has given Nagel an unusual perspective of the principal members of the clan as people and not as stick figures marching along in the sweep of history.

"It's ironic," he said, "that John Quincy and his wife, Louisa Catherine, are buried together next to John and Abigail in the church crypt. Louisa Catherine had no use for her mother-in-law. Abigail was a very difficult person. If there is a villainess in the piece it would be Abigail."

"Abigail was a great grudge bearer. She hated fiercely. John was much more tolerant and forgiving of Thomas Jefferson, who beat him for the presidency, than Abigail. She couldn't understand how John could possibly be as happy as he was after he got kicked out of the White House."

"When John Hancock died and his widow,

TWO COPIES OF "Descent From Glory" were recently sent to Quincy Sun publisher Henry Bosworth by Quincy-born actress Ruth Gordon to be presented to the Thomas Crane Public Library. From left are Paul C. Nagel, author of the book, Librarian Warren Watson, Bosworth and Atty. L. Paul Marini, chairman of the library board. Nagel autographed the two books with this inscription: "With gratitude to Ruth Gordon for this gift to the Crane Library." Miss Gordon said "it is the finest modern book I've read."

Dorothy, quickly married again, Abigail was scandalized at her rushing off to marry 'this sailor'. She wrote about it to John, who was president then. John wrote back, 'I'm not complaining. She put up with that peevish little fellow (Hancock) for a long time. It's time she had a real man.'

The Adams family also had to bear up under the tragedy of alcoholism, which Nagel thinks was a genetic tendency.

"There are alcoholics all down through the story," he said. "John and John Quincy Adams each had three sons and two of them died as alcoholics. Abigail's brother was a pathetic alcoholic who died very young. Up until about 1825, America tended to be an alcoholic republic. There was more booze consumed per capital in the 1820s than anytime since.

"John Quincy Adams was a great connoisseur of wines. He would be a guest at a dinner party and they would put several wines in front of him and he could not only identify them but make a pretty good guess as to the vintage year."

"The Adamses were great fishermen. They liked to fish and they liked to eat fish. There are some wonderful stories about the community fish fries and clambakes. Usually in the background you could sense some political purpose. It was a chance for Mr. Adams to meet his neighbors."

"Abigail always had open house late Sunday afternoon for the people of Quincy. A host of people would call but they would always be the right people. You could tell by the names who was part of the in group and who wasn't."

They took sort of a proprietary interest in the town. It wasn't domineering but they felt a great responsibility for the place."

Nagel said he feels that both John and John Quincy were "poor presidents in the sense of political expertise and the art of compromise, but they were great public servants."

"They were individuals who had very strong opinions about what this country needed in their time. They were not the most ingratiating or co-operative personalities. They were stubborn, harsh and very awkward in the presence of other people."

"Over and over, they complained, 'Why can't I say something civilized? Why am I so abrupt and cold and harsh with people?' Four generations of Adamses made the same complaint."

$24-M Urged For Harbor Sewage Cleanup

A special legislative commission that had been studying sewage disposal in Metropolitan Boston for 10 months issued its long-awaited report which recommended expenditure of $24,717,000 in improvements to eliminate pollution in Boston Harbor.

The commission, which included Rep. Joseph L. Whiton of Quincy, called for the construction of sewage treatment plants at a cost of $3 million each at Moon Island, Squantum, and Nut Island, Houghs Neck. The federal government would pay 45 per cent of the cost.

"Engineers employed by the commission," said the report, "have stated that conditions approaching an intensity dangerous to the public health may now make the waters at some points unfit for bathing."

"We find that the public expects and demands action as soon as possible to purify harbor waters."

RESTITUTION REFUSED

The City Council refused to authorize restitution of $105 that School Supt. James N. Muir spent out of his own pocket to attend the convention of the American Association of School Administrators in Cleveland several months ago.

But the Council appropriated $300 that would permit Lt. William Ferrazzi to attend a three-month FBI police academy in Washington. The police chief, two captains and the other lieutenants were ineligible to attend since they were over 45 years old.

CELEBRATION SCRUBBED?

George O. Dixon, president of the Squantum Improvement Association, said the 30-year-old annual Fourth of July celebration in Squantum was in danger of being dropped for lack of interest.

"We will make one more try Friday night," he said. "If we can get out a representative group of people willing to work on the program we will go immediately into the plans for the day."

"Otherwise we will have to let our 30-year custom drop."

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

On Father's Day, dad is "supposed" to have his slippers brought to him, to have his pipe or cigars handed to him; to have the right to select TV programs of his choice on his special day when he is "King" . . . Most dads are realistic though and understand even if these "Kingship" advantages don't happen.

Lets face it. There are all sorts of fathers - just like all sorts of women and children. Some dads are considerate. Some inconsiderate. Some are affectionate. Some indifferent. Some are contented. Some discontented. Some are happy. Some unhappy. Some are ambitious. Some are not. Some are companions to their families. Some are aloof.

In all these contrasts, one thing stands out. Blood relationship is one thing. A friendly relationship is another thing. And a blood relationship without a friendly relationship is tragedy. For all of you who read this, we sincerely hope Father's Day is a triumphant day - a friendly day for all fathers and families - everywhere . . .

Jason Deary gave the call to worship; Lori Ogilvie led the opening prayer; Amanda Young, Melissa Stamos and Kim Olson offered the Children's Prayer. Kristen and Karen Reister prayed the prayer of dedication; and Blythe Bumpus read the Scripture.

The Junior Choir sang Hal Hopson's "Song of the Mustard Seed" as the offertory anthem. Choir Director Mary Ruth Scott presented each of the children with a choir pin after their part.

Robert Dixey, David Scott, Andrew Ogilvie and Steve Williams played their guitars to accompany the congregation in singing "They'll Know That We Are Christians By Our Love." Steve Williams has been teaching the other three boys to play this year.

Sunday School Superintendent Louise Randall presented three of the children in the Sunday School: Michael Stamos, James Franklin and Michael Franklin, with new bibles.

The sermon, entitled "From Little to Big," was presented by church pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin with the help of children of the church and guitarist Steve Williams.

Text for the morning was "...it is the smallest of all seeds, but when it is grown it is the greatest of all shrubs and becomes a tree, so that the birds of the air come and make nests in its branches." (Matthew 13:32)

Songs sung during the sermon included "Leaning on the Lord's Side", but when it is grown it is the greatest of all shrubs and becomes a tree, so that the birds of the air come and make nests in its branches.

Songs sung during the service included "Leaning on the Lord's Side", "King Jesus", "Seek Ye First the Kingdom of God" and "Give Me Oil." Other hymns sung during the service included "Joyful, Joyful, We Adore Thee", "Ain't Jesus Good?" and a special benediction sung to the tune of "Edelweiss".

Greeters for the morning were brother and sister, Andrew and Lori Ogilvie, Ushers, who were young people too, were Deborah Stohlberg, Sarah Mildram, Michael Stamos and Ruth Adams.

The Fellowship Hour after the service was hosted by Joan Hansen, man and Katherine Hansen.

During the Fellowship Hour, there was a display of art work done by children in the Sunday School including pictures, craft work and a mobile representing the different roles of Jesus Christ. The display was set up under the supervision of Louise Randall.

Restaurant-Style Menu At QCH

To help make patient's hospitalization more pleasant, Quincy City Hospital's Department of Dietary Services recently introduced a new, restaurant-style menu.

The menu allows patients to select their meals from 22 different entrees and daily chef specials.

Before the implementation of the new menu, patients had a choice of only three entrees for each meal. They now can select their meals from a greater variety of foods ranging from deli sandwiches to main courses.

The menu will be used for all diets. However, if a patient has restrictions, a specific meal plan will be designed to meet those needs.

Patients will be able to take the menus home with them.

William Stavros, Director of Dietary Services and the dietary staff designed the new menus.

The new menu is a trend in the industry which has proven to be successful from the hospital's point of view, and it has been received enthusiastically by patients.

Quincy Loses Out On Multibank Computer Center

David Lynch, chairman of the board of Multibank, says his company will not locate its new consolidated computer center in Quincy.

But he declined to say where it will be, adding that there will be an announcement in two or three weeks.

"We have not reached a decision absolutely as yet," said Lynch, "but I can tell you that the site we are currently working on is outside the Quincy area but is close by."

Multibank, a holding company, is consolidating the data processing operations of its six member banks, including the South Shore Bank in Quincy.

It had been reported that the company was considering, among other sites, the old Sears building in downtown Quincy and the semi-abandoned Presidents Plaza in Quincy Point.

Lynch said the number of employees that will be affected by the consolidation is uncertain but it will be a couple of hundred.

City Gets $32,000 Housing Grant

The Planning Department has received a grant of $32,000 from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for its multi-family housing loan program.

The funds will provide 3 per cent loans to interested landlords for the rehabilitation of rental apartments.

specifically for the elimination of code violations and health and safety hazards.

The program will complement the recently initiated Rental Rehabilitation Block Grant Program, which provides 5 per cent loans to investor-owners of rental properties for the same purposes.

Those interested in obtaining loans should call the Quincy Housing Rehabilitation Office, 1305 Hancock St., 773-1380, extension 398.

$25 Penalty For False Burglar Alarms

False or accidental burglar alarms are going to cost their owners money starting July 1.

Recently the City Council adopted an ordinance assessing a penalty charge of $25 for each false alarm in excess of three per year in an attempt to cut down on the number.

It was testified at the Council hearings that Quincy Police receive an average of 5,000 alarms per year and that 97 per cent of them are false or accidental.

"False alarms tie up manpower needed elsewhere and create a potentially dangerous situation for the officers responding to the call and for the public at large," said Lt. William Murphy.

Dear Merchants and Local Residents:

There is, I am sure you agree, a lot of truth in the saying that "our neighborhood schools are our community."

The City of Quincy has a proud tradition in this regard and has always sought to maintain neighborhood schools.

Unfortunately, due to declining enrollments and the effects of Prop 2½ cutbacks, Quincy has lost many of its fine elementary schools. Many of these closed schools, with one outstanding exception, have become the target of vandals.

That one exception is the former Beechwood Knoll School, now known as the Beechwood Community Life Center which provides tutorial and enrichment programs for all age groups within our community.

The staff at the Center, headed by Dr. Cecil Paul, head of graduate studies at Eastern Nazarene College has successfully striven to maintain that sense of community for nearly two years now.

Now, however, the Center needs to make such much-needed repairs to its building and, to this end, will hold an auction from 8 to 11 p.m., Wednesday, June 22nd at 225 Fenno St., Quincy.

If you feel you would like to donate an item or service, please feel free to call us directly at 471-5712 for us to record or pick-up your donation.

Sincerely yours,

Rich Cahill

June 22 Auction To Benefit Beechwood Community Life Center

The Beechwood Community Life Center will hold a fund-raising auction Wednesday, June 22 from 8 to 11 p.m. at its 225 Feno St. location.

Dr. Cecil R. Paul, center director, said a special pre-viewing session will be held prior to the auction at 7 p.m.

Persons or businesses wishing to donate goods or professional services for the auction may either drop off the item at the Center or call 471-5712 to arrange for a pickup, Dr. Paul said.

Some of the items already donated include an admission to the 14-week Dale Carnegie course being held in cooperation with the South Shore Chamber of Commerce; a one-week vacation at a two bedroom cottage in Alton Bay from July 10-16 or July 17-July 24th; a string trio or quartet for a dinner party; a dinner for four or a gourmet reception for 20; and a week's worth of meat for a family of four from Triangle Foods of Weymouth.

This will be the Center's first major fund-raising event since its inception in November of 1981.

Although no definite goal has been set for the auction, Dr. Paul noted that the Center needs about $10,000 in the near future to pay for repairs to the former school's roof and windows, as well as paying off last year's fuel bill.

With Dr. Paul as its Director, the Center has successfully been providing educational and social services to persons of all ages.

Their building, leased from the Quincy Public Schools, houses a music school and arts and science programs. Day care service and counseling guidance is also offered.

The former Beechwood Elementary School had been slated to be converted into a storage facility when neighbors proposed keeping it for community purposes.

Dr. Paul believes the Center is the first school in the state scheduled to close due to declining enrollment and Proposition 2 1/2 to be successfully preserved for the community at large.

Former School Science Coordinator To Wield Gavel For Beechwood Auction

Vincent Sullivan, former Quincy Public School science coordinator, will preside as auctioneer for the Beechwood Community Life Center fundraising auction to be held from 8 to 11 p.m. Wednesday, June 22 at its Feno Street location.

The Beechwood auction hopes to raise some funds to pay for repairs to the former school's roof and windows as well as paying off last year's fuel bills. The center has been providing educational and social services to the community under the direction of Dr. Cecil D. Paul.

Persons or businesses wishing to donate goods or professional services for the auction may either drop off the item at the center or call 471-5712 to arrange for a pickup.

With a teaching career spanning some 25 years, including an assignment in Chofu, Japan, Sullivan was science coordinator for 12 years before leaving to open his own appraisal-auction-antique business, 'Sullivan's Corner', on Hancock Street in Quincy.

'The buying and selling of collectables and antiques has been a parallel career for the past 25 years,' said Sullivan. 'In 1976 I expanded into the appraisal-

auction profession,' he added.

Active in charity auctions for the Paulist Center and Catholic Charities, he is also a Massachusetts licensed auctioneer and a lifetime member of the National Association of Auctioneers.

A member of the Quincy Lions, he is also active in the North Quincy Knights of Columbus.

His wife Jane, a reading specialist for Quincy Public Schools, also assists her husband in their privately owned business.

They have two children Jennifer, 10, and Maureen, 3.

Local Firms Know Value Of Strong Community Roots

By Dr. CECIL R. PAUL
Director Beechwood Life Center

For nearly a combined total of a century and a half, four local firms have known full well the value of building strong roots in their communities.

That is why they were willing to underwrite the cost of producing this supplement as a community service to the Beechwood Community Life Center.

One of the supplement sponsors, Colonial Federal Savings Bank, 15 Beach St., Wollaston, has been serving the community for some 94 years.

One of the many traditions they have preserved during that time is the very symbol of the Beechwood Community Life Center, a massive Beechwood tree that stands in front of their offices.

Another sponsor, Jack Conway, Realtor, is celebrating its 25th or "Silver Anniversary" this year with roots firmly placed in some 26 communities on the South Shore and Cape Cod.

Our third sponsor, Survival Inc., of Quincy and Weymouth is in its 13th year of service to literally thousands of troubled family members.

Our final sponsor is The Quincy Sun which has maintained an excellent record of service to community organizations during its near 15 years of service to Quincy residents.

We at the Beechwood Community Life Center feel these organizations set the standard for others to emulate in lending their support to community service agencies.

As a fledgling organization planning to plant firm and long-lasting roots in our community we salute the above institutions for their helping hand in our endeavors.

A non-profit agency serving the South Shore community.

1984 STATE BUDGET

The Massachusetts House of Representatives is currently debating the fiscal 1984 state budget. The House Ways and Means Committee recommendations totals close to $7.3 billion dollars, included in the budget is $158 million new local aid to help communities cope with the effect of Proposition 2½. The City of Quincy will get approximately $27 million in total local aid for city budget of $69 million. The House recommendation cuts the Governor's revised budget by $32 million.

The biggest concern facing the Legislature is the task of balancing the budget while funding critical programs. The budget, as drafted by the Ways and Means Committee, includes two outside sections that will attempt to impose strict reporting requirements to control Medicaid expenses which are $1.15 billion dollars, the longest single expenditure after local aid. The second outside section requires quarterly reporting of revenue receipts by the Governor to the Legislature, so that if there are any great differences between actual revenue receipts and projections, appropriate action can be taken by the Governor to head off any short falls.

The budget also includes funding for the Quincy Mental Health Center and a modest cost of living increase for retirees. (3% on the first $7,000)

If you have any further questions on the Budget, please feel free to call me in the State House at 722-2470 or at home 328-0900.

YOUNG ACCIDENT-PRONES

If you are a young man between the ages of 15 and 34, watch your step.

According to the Institute of Life Insurance, accidents - not disease - are by far the leading cause of death in the above age group. For example, at ages 15-19, the loss of life from accidents is 12 times that from cancer and 40 times that from heart disease. Between 20 and 24, accidents cause 10 times as many deaths as cancer, and 25 times as many as heart disease.

Not until ages 35-44 does the relative importance of accidents as cause of death diminish, and this is more a reflection of the rise in cardiovascular disease and cancer than of any reduction in the number of accidents.

So if you want to stick around long enough to find out what middle age - and old age, for that matter - is like, take care.

THREE-TIME Boston Marathon winner Les Pawson lights the Olympic torch to open Quincy's first Senior Olympics.

Over 150 Compete In Senior Olympics

Quincy's first Senior Olympics proved a huge success last weekend with more than 150 men and women over 50 taking part in a variety of events.

The Mayor's Trophy for the winner of the most events went to John Malvesti.

The Quincy Council on Aging Trophy for oldest competitor went to Alfred Benedetti, 89, who took part in horseshoes and made a fine showing.

The Beechwood Community Life Center Trophy for most outstanding competitor went to Mabel Jarrell, the only woman to take part in the 3 1/2-mile road race and who also took part in the mile run, mile walk, shotput, javelin throw, softball throw and bowling.

The 89-year-old Benedetti's involvement in athletics was recently renewed. He said that because of his work, he never really had much time for sports.

His daughter, Madalyn MacDonald said, "He doesn't really believe in retirement. If I could keep up with him, I'd be thankful. He's an amazing person. He reads constantly. He's one in a million." He had lived in Quincy for 80 years.

Meet officials and guests said Mabel Jarrell exemplified the spirit of the event. "The whole purpose of the Senior Olympics is to encourage participation," said state Secretary of Elder Affairs Richard Rowland. "It is important that we look on older people as participants in society—not in rocking chairs, but in active, vibrant roles—and this will encourage it."

Bette Spaulding and Verna Eicker, both 61, didn't win any events but the two friends celebrated a victory nevertheless.

They have overcome tremendous handicaps.

Spaulding had triple bypass surgery three years ago at Mass. General Hospital and also suffers from diabetes. Eicker is recovering from a stroke which left her unable to talk for more than a year and hobbled on one of her legs.

Both took part in the mile walk and just to finish was a victory for the two women. Tynne Williams, who took part in most events, is a serious athlete. The 66-year-old Quincy woman has been training since the age of 20. "I'm very competitive," she said.

In the 3.5-mile run, the feature event, Marshfield's Herb Baker won in 22:59, beating a field that included three-time Boston Marathon winner Les Pawson and Quincy marathoner Don Fay.

Pawson, now in his late 70s, was given the honor of lighting the Olympic torch.

weekend festivities Sunday at Veterans Memorial Stadium was impressive. As the participants lined up to receive their awards, the Quincy High band played the themes from "Chariots of Fire" and "Rocky."

"This was a fine showing, considering it is the first year," said chairman Don Strong. "We hope the Senior Olympics will grow. People are already asking about next year."

The winners:

Mayor's Trophy: Winner of most events, John Malvesti.

Quincy Council on Aging Trophy: Oldest competitor, Alfred Benedetti, 89.

Beechwood Community Life Center Trophy: Most outstanding competitor, Mabel Jarrell.

at Boston Garden. Doherty finished only five points behind the winner.

Jackie Pettinelli Beats Presidents For Sagamores

Jackie Pettinelli scattered seven hits and struck out four to lead George McCall's Sagamore Plebes to a 6-2 victory over the President City Club at Fore River Field and increase the Plebes' Park League lead to two points over Granite City Ice.

The winning runs came in during a three-run rally in the fourth inning when Bobby Comparato, Johnny Ferris and Tully Giachetti singled in succession followed by an error, an infield out and safeties by Johnny Savage and Frank Giachetti.

North JV's Finish Up With 10-2 Record

By PETE ZOIA

The North Quincy girls' junior varsity softball team, coached by Rick Hutchins, finished a successful season with a fine 10-2 record.

Hutchins, in his third year as the jayvee coach, feels that this year's players, all freshmen, sophomores and juniors, should be a tremendous help to varsity coach Lou Ioannilli next year.

The ace of the pitching staff was Noreen Connolly (8-2), who played in the infield when not pitching and batted .395. She has a fine fast ball and pin-point control.

Jean Welby was the No. 2 hurler, winning both her starts and batting .400 while playing in the infield when not pitching.

Freshman Carolyn O'Reilly saw some pitching service and had a save. She was the regular starting third baseman, was a good clutch hitter, batted .469 and fielded well.

Melissa D'Angelo was the Raiderettes' pepper pot catcher. The freshman played errorless ball, had a strong throwing arm and batted .353. "Melissa was pleasure to have," Hutchins said. "Besides her aggressiveness, she controlled our game."

First baseman Sheila Graham, who batted .455, played about half the season before being called up to the varsity.

Leadoff batter Laura Micelli, a fine base runner, was the second baseman and also playing at second was Nancy Lyons, another freshman with plenty of promise.

Newcomer Sandra Proude, a sophomore, was the starting shortstop, batting .476 and also was strong defensively before being elevated to the varsity.

Michele Ceurvels, another sophomore, played left field, batted .406, played fine defense and threw out runners at the plate and first base.

Ann Duggan in center field and Kerry Gannon in right rounded out the starting outfield. Ann, a sophomore, batted .359 and was a sure fielder and fine base stealer. Kerry, who also filled in the infield, owned a .310 batting average and was an excellent bunter.

Two fine utility players were Valerie Papapetros, a sophomore, and Stacey Cavahlo, a fine freshman with a respectable .364 average. She was fine defensive player and a team leader on the bench.

The Raiderettes jayvees tied for first place in the Suburban League and the highlights were two wins over Quincy and victories over Brockton and Waltham.

"These girls worked very hard and had a fine attitude. It was a pleasure to coach them," Hutchins said. The coach paid tribute to bus driver Al McLean, a loyal fan who provided refreshments for the girls and helped out in various ways.

Bill McKeon, Paul Chenette, Blowers, Rick Lebel, Mike Chenette and Ed Kenney had two hits each. Bob Hacunda made a diving catch in center field. For Finlay's, Bob Nigro had three hits

Registration Set For Swimming Instructions

The Quincy Recreation Department announces it will conduct testing for those who wish to register for swimming instruction at the Lincoln Hancock Community School Pool, but who are unsure of their child's swimming ability.

This testing is important because registration for swimming lessons will be done according to ability.

Testing will be held Saturday, June 18, from 1 to 3 p.m. and Friday, June 17, from 6 to 8 p.m.

This does not insure registration for the swimming lessons at the Lincoln Hancock Pool. Dates and times of registration will be announced at the conclusion of testing. Persons who plan to register at the William F. Ryan Boating and Sailing Program, and have not passed the qualifying swim test may also be tested at this time. Past participants need not be tested.

For further information, please call the Recreation Department Office at 773-1380, ext. 204.

• Independent Youth League

Sheriffs Bomb Bolts, 11-2

The new Independent Youth Baseball Association of Massachusetts is ready to roll, but at present there is only one league team, the Norfolk County Sheriffs, made up mainly of 16-19 year old players from Quincy.

The Sheriffs are playing an independent schedule this summer but Al Julian of Quincy and Tom Owens, of Randolph, who formed the league, expect a full league schedule to begin next season.

The Sheriffs got off to a good start last week when they pounded the Boston Bolts, 11-2, before a good crowd at Adams Field. It was the first game ever for the Sheriffs, organized a year ago and coached by Joe Dolan. Owens is manager, Julian assistant manager and Sam Wright scorekeeper. Owens is president of the new league and Julian vice president.

"We are happy with the way things turned out tonight," said Julian following the impressive opening victory. "We think we have a good team, a team that people will enjoy coming out to watch."

The Sheriffs scored 10 runs on eight hits in the first three innings for a 10-0 lead.

The big story, however, was the pitching of Pat Connelly, who pitched a five-hitter and struck out 14, six in a row at one time.

Dan Cuervels collected the Sheriffs' first hit on the first pitch of the game. Dennis Dolan followed with a single and, after a double steal put runners on second and third, Connelly singled home two runs and Scott Owens and Richard Brooks also had RBI singles in a five-run first.

In the second the Sheriffs added four runs on two walks, two singles and an error. Catcher Ken Wright scored Dolan from third on a perfectly-executed suicide squeeze on which Connelly also scored from second. The team added single runs in the third and sixth.

The other players are John Doherty, John Spencer, Paul Mediche, Al Julian, Mike Casev, Scott

Hamell, Abdias Gonzales, Jerry Martin, Jim Martin, Dave McHowell, Adam McGhee, Jon Panasuk, Gerald O'Rourke, Steve White, Ken Yenofsky, Mike Venna and Chris Connolly.

The team sponsors are Roger Hamell of Wickens & Troupe Funeral Home, Dave Chue of the Cathay Pacific Restaurant and Vic DiGravio of the Sportlight Lounge.

Norfolk County Sheriff Cliff Marshall threw out the first ball for the opening game, radio announcer David McNair did the play-by-play and Quincy Cable-systems televised the game for a showing at a later date.

The Sheriffs will play two games Saturday at 1 p.m. and 8 p.m. at Adams Field and will play Sunday at 1.

Among the teams to be played this summer are Cape Cod League teams, Legion and CYO clubs, a junior farm club for the New York Mets, a team from Albany, N.Y., and St. John's and Maunton, Canada.

Education Commissioner Disagrees With McCauley On State Aid Earmarking

The State Commissioner of Education says that, due to budgetary problems, "we have a terrible situation in some school systems and Quincy is certainly not one of our bright spots."

Dr. John H. Lawson told interviewers on the program "Newsmakers" on Quincy Cable Systems Channel 3 that he disagrees strongly with Mayor Francis X. McCauley on the earmarking of state aid to education.

"Public education is the one local responsibility that is mentioned in the state constitution," Dr. Lawson noted.

"It is clearly a state responsibility to see that the local school committees have adequate dollars."

"That's not happening now, partly because of the tradition of local control and fiscal autonomy."

It used to be the responsibility of local school committees to appropriate money to run the schools, he said, "but now we have Prop. 2 1/2 and there is not place for the committee to turn except the state."

"They've been doing that for the last couple of years and the Legislature and the Governor plan to send another $150 million through Chapter 70 to local cities and towns," he said.

"The fact that it is flowing through Chapter 70 infers that there is a feeling on the hill that an appropriate share should go for the schools. The Department of Education will be monitoring spending."

"So I would disagree very strongly with the mayor of this community who feels that earmarking shouldn't be in place."

Dr. Lawson said his department has no way of evaluating schools and he added, "I can only say to you that by reputation Quincy has done exceptionally well in the past."

"But what concerns me," he added, "is that Quincy schools probably will not do well in the future if the kinds of problems they are facing now continue."

"If you have accreditation problems and you lose accreditation then there may be some institutions of higher education in the future that will not give scholarships to that high school."

"I think that should be a concern to the parents and officials of the community."

"Over the years, Quincy has had a good reputation but you can only live on reputation for so long when it will catch up to the reality of what's going on."

"If you have had a good track record in the past and it continues then it won't make much difference in terms of changes in the school.

"My suspicion, however, is that if you don't have enough library books and you have teachers who are teaching more classes than they can handle, the overall achievement level in the system will drop."

Dr. Lawson said School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon told him that the drop-out rate in Quincy high schools has increased by three times in the last couple of years.

This, he said, "is because some of the alternative programs for students who weren't turned on to regular programs had to be eliminated."

"That had to be considered also in terms of the overall success of the high school," he said.

Dr. Lawson was interviewed on the program by John Noonan of the Quincy Sun, Herb Fontaine news director of WJDA, and Jason Seiken, education reporter for the Patriot Ledger.

Home Rehab Loan Program Expanded

The Planning Department has announced expansion of its home rehabilitation loan programs to allow more families to qualify for assistance.

Currently the program provides 5 per cent loans to one and two family owner occupied properties for the completion of rehabilitation work that would improve safety, energy conservation and the exterior of the home.

Until now the program has provided a maximum

$5,000 loan per property with only one and two family structures eligible.

With expansion, loans will be provided for the rehabilitation of one, two, three and four family owner-occupied structures and each borrower will be able to obtain $5,000 per unit.

An owner-occupant of a three-family house, for instance, will now be eligible for a maximum $15,000 loan, still at 5 per cent interest.

Income guidelines for the program have been raised to allow more families to qualify for assistance. An owner's gross annual income may not exceed:

$17,250 for a family of one, $19,700 for a family of two, $22,200 for a family of three, $24,650 for a family of four, $26,200 for a family of five, $27,700 for a family of six, $29,250 for a family of seven, and $30,800 for a family of eight or more.

For additional information contact the Quincy Housing Rehabilitation Office, 1305 Hancock St., 773-1380, extension 397 or 398.

2,000 March In Koch Club Flag Day Parade

A colorful array of hundreds of boys and girls wearing the uniforms of their organizations and each carrying a 12" x 18" U.S. flag marched down Hancock to Veterans Memorial Stadium Tuesday night to commemorate Flag Day.

The salute to Old Glory, sponsored by the Koch Club for the past three decades, featured a parade led by the Quincy Police Department and Fire Department Color Guards. The Quincy High School Presidents Marching Band and the Hull High School Pirates Marching Band provided the musical beat for the 2000 participants.

At Veterans Memorial Stadium, Richard J. Koch, Coordinator of the Flag Day Events, welcomed those in attendance. The George F. Bryan V.F.W. Post Color Guard raised a U.S. flag that was flown over the nation's capital in the Bicentennial Year of 1976 and was presented to the Koch Club by former Congressman James A. Burke.

Rev. Cornelius J. Heery, Pastor of Sacred Heart Church, recited a prayer to open the festivities.

City Council President John J. Lydon brought greetings of the city in place of Mayor Francis X. McCauley who was attending the National Mayor's Conference in Colorado.

Anthony T. Delmonico, chairman of the Koch Club Scholarship Committee, was assisted by Councillor Richard J. Koch, Jr., Howard F. Crowley and David J. Donaghue in the presentation of scholarship awards to the 1983 winners. Recipients were Neil Leonard and Deborah Kiley of North Quincy High School, Richard L. Parker, Jr. and Josephine M. Megnia of Quincy High School and Steven Canty and Jean Rudolph of the Vocational Technical School.

Mrs. Mina Scanlan and James Moody, recent participants and medal winners of the Senior Olympics, were introduced by Koch. Both are longtime members of the Koch Club as volunteers in many of the organization's activities.

The Koch Club Boys Baseball and Girls Softball Leagues from the four districts were joined by Camp Fire and Girl Scout Units, the Quincy Track Club, St. Ann's Baseball Leagues, Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts.

The Taleb Grotto Band of Quincy with a 40 piece musical unit provided an old fashioned band concert at the stadium following the Flag Day exercises.

Terrizzi, and Susan M. Verney.

Board Continues Mini-Mall License Request

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN
The License Board voted Tuesday to continue to June 21 a license request for a 250-booth mini mall at the former King's store at 224 Quincy Ave.

The request was continued to allow the applicants to discuss the proposal with nearby

Jehovah's Witness Kingdom Hall.
The request, from President's Plaza Realty Trust, is for common victualer, Lord's Day and second hand licenses for the antique fair, mini mall, flea market and craft center.

Hours for the mini-mall, with a proposed opening of early September, would be Saturdays, Sundays and Monday holidays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

There will also be food from an international food pavilion, according to the application.

The mini-mall would be run by Paul Feldman who runs a similar operation in Walpole.

Atty. Michael R. Lindburg, representing the applicant, said that a police detail would be hired if there was traffic problems.

City Clerk John Gillis said that a direct abutter has no objection to the mini-mall as long as everything is kept indoors.

The owner plans to maintain the area, clean the parking lot, repair signs, remove weeds and debris, according to the application.

Space may be provided to community groups for fund raising.

Brockton Youth Victim

Little Can Be Done To Halt Quarry Deaths

The West Quincy quarries apparently claimed another life Monday and there appears to be little the city can do to avert similar tragedies in the future.

Tuesday afternoon divers from the Quincy Underwater Search Team were still searching for the body of Paul Gooch, 17, of Brockton, who disappeared after jumping from a 50-foot ledge in Swingle's Quarry.

Trespassing and swimming are prohibited in the quarry area under an ordinance passed last year.

"But how far can you go to keep people from swimming there?" asked City Councillor James A. Sheets. There were some 125 to 175 swimmers at the quarry the day Gooch drowned.

"Signs were put up prohibiting swimming and trespassing at the end of last year," said Sheets. "The next morning they were cut down with an acetylene torch."

"This is not the first time this has happened," said Mayor Francis X. McCauley. "We try to warn people about swimming there. But they tear down the signs and cut through the fences."

Badger's Quarry, which is near Swingle's, was filled with solid fill by the city a few years ago at a cost of some $100,000. Filling City-owned Swingle's Quarry would be a prohibitively expensive task.

It is about 10 times the size of Badger's, said McCauley, and many times deeper. It is estimated to be some 425 feet from the top of the ledge at the rim to the bottom of the water-filled pit.

Sheets said Badger's Quarry was filled because it was a popular and dangerous swimming hole. At the time, he said, the water level in Swingle's Quarry was thought to be too low for swimming.

"It used to be a hundred feet down," he said. "But all the fill that was dumped in the other quarries may have raised the water table and the rain of the past month has filled it to a swimming level."

"The only thing we can do is to warn parents about the dangers of swimming in the quarries. There doesn't seem to be any other way to restrict it."

Young Gooch, who graduated from Brockton

High School this year, went swimming with friends at Swingle's Monday afternoon.

The friends said he jumped from the 50-foot ledge, surfaced in the water, took a couple of strokes toward shore, then sank and disappeared. Divers searched for him until 6 p.m. Monday, resumed the search Tuesday.

Det. Thomas Healy, who swam in the quarries himself as a youth, said the Gooch boy apparently hit the water in what is known as a partial "bellyflop," had the wind knocked out of him and lost consciousness.

McCauley Says:

5 Captains To Mean More Police On Streets

By TOM HENSHAW

Mayor Francis X. McCauley indicated Tuesday increasing the number of captains from four to five in the Police Department is only the first step in a long range plan to put more police presence on the streets.

"We are going to look at the organizational structure of the Police Department with an eye to reducing the number of superior officers and putting more men on the streets," the mayor said.

The appointment of four new captains -- three to fill vacancies -- could start the chain of events that would lead to just that.

McCauley's bid to name the new captains received a temporary setback Monday night when City Councillor John J. Lydon Jr. objected to the order, thus postponing it until the next meeting.

The mayor promised that it would be on the agenda for the special, year-ending meeting of the Council, probably June 30.

The order increasing the number of captains from four to five, it is hoped, will result in the withdrawal of a court suit filed by Lt. Walter Frazer that freezes the Civil Service list for captain.

Frazer was first on the list following a written Civil Service exam but he was knocked down to fourth by an oral test. He filed suit halting the use of the list.

There are only two captains on the force now, Paul Nestor and Roy Cavicchi. Cavicchi is to retire July 6, leaving three openings under current staffing.

If the number of captains is raised from four to five, those lieutenants due for promotion would be Frederick Lacey, David Rowell, William Murphy and Frazer.

"There is a good chance," said McCauley, "that Frazer will withdraw his suit and open up the list."

The same order before the Council calls for the reduction of the number of lieutenants from 16 to 15 and McCauley indicated he feels that number is too

McCauley Opponent Appears, Withdraws

For less than 24 hours this week Mayor Francis X. McCauley had an opponent in his bid for re-election next fall.

He was Donald Stevenson Johnson, 68, who gave his address as Room 307, 79 Coddington St. (the Quincy-South Shore YMCA).

Johnson took out nomination papers for mayor Monday, Tuesday morning he formally withdrew.

Thus far, the only contests next fall are for School Committee and for Ward 6 city councillor.

Jens E. Thornton of 14 Orchard St., Squantum, has taken papers to run against Joanne Condon, the current Ward 6 councillor.

There are seven candidates for the School Committee, which means that if all qualify for the ballot, there will be a preliminary election in September.

Incumbents Frank Anselmo, John J. Sullivan and Christopher Kennedy are seeking re-election.

Arrayed against them for the three seats will be William Arienti, Frank C. Santoro, Ruth Levitsky and Stephen Durkin.

Other incumbents who have taken papers are McCauley, City Councillor Richard J. Koch Jr., Theodore P. DeCristofaro and Leo J. Kelly.

public hearing Tuesday, June 28, at 7:30 p.m. at North Quincy High School to discuss the proposed reconstruction of the Southeast Expressway.

Rep. Michael W. Morrissey said the purpose of the meeting is to provide the public with an opportunity to become fully acquainted with the design of the project and offer views and comments.

The section of the Expressway (Route 3) that will be reconstructed is between the Mass Ave. interchange in Boston and the junction of Route 128 in Quincy.

Anyone who is unable to attend the meeting may send a written comment up to five days prior to the hearing to Robert J. McDonagh, chief engineer, Department of Public Works, 100 Nashua St., Boston 02114.

Meeting On Golf Course Sale Referendum June 27

Rep. Michael W. Morrissey has called a meeting Monday, June 27, at 7:30 p.m. at the Wollaston Recreational Facility to discuss the coming referendum on the proposed sale of the golf course.

The sale question will appear on the ballot in the city election in Quincy in November.

"To prevent the sale of the golf course to developers, we must organize to inform the Quincy voters so they will vote 'no' on this question," said Morrissey.

"This open space is unique in that it is the only open space in the country that is self-supporting."

The other 27 communities in Norfolk County have already voted to approve the sale by a margin of 37,862 to 31,028.

"It is up to the voters of Quincy to overturn these results," said Morrissey. "Between 30,000 and 35,000 voters turn out for a city election so our work is cut out for us."

"It is my hope that a great many interested people will come to this important organizational meeting so that together we can preserve this land as open space."

Council Approves Assistant Librarian

The City Council voted Monday night to provide Library Director Warren Watson with an assistant at $23,525 a year.

The assistant will be Anne McLaughlin, who has been supervisor of adult services at the library with a salary of $22,305. The supervisor's post is not funded in the fiscal 1984 budget.

The Council approved the move by a vote of 7-1, with Councillor Stephen J. McGrath dissenting.

"We have gone along without an assistant librarian since 1979," he said. "I don't see why we need one now. I think we should use the money for other things, like increasing library hours."

Mayor, Council Raises Move Step Closer

Pay raises for the mayor and city councillors and a stipend for school committee members moved a step closer Monday night when the City Council sent them to its Ordinance Committee for consideration.

The raises and the stipend were approved by the Council June 13 when it passed Mayor Francis X. McCauley's $69.5 million budget but the money can't be paid until the ordinance is in place.

Under the amended ordinances the mayor will receive a raise from $25,000 to $40,000, the Council from $3,000 to $6,500 and the School Committee will get $1,200 yearly.

All the changes will take effect Jan. 1.

Only Councillor Richard

J. Koch Jr. spoke on the amendments Monday night, asking Assistant City Solicitor Jay MacRitchie to draw up another amendment making the mayor's job full time.

The mayor's job has been considered full time since 1973 when the salary was raised to $25,000 but it has not been so specified by ordinance.

Morrissey Seeks $30,000 To Beef Up Beach Patrols

Rep. Michael W. Morrissey has offered an amendment to the state budget for fiscal 1984 that would permit the MDC police to use $30,000 to step up patrols along Wollaston Beach during the summer.

The amendment has been approved by the House and must now be approved by the Senate.

Morrissey praised MDC Commissioner William Geary for his recent efforts to curb speeding and public drinking on the beach and he added that the $30,000 amendment would help in stepped up enforcement.

Morrissey asked the commissioner to move ahead quickly on his plan to increase the overhead street lighting on Quincy Shore Drive by using a brighter Mercury vapor light.

$10,000 More Raised In Fabrizio Suit

The City Council Monday night appropriated $10,000 to pay an old lawyer's bill incurred to defend the city against a suit brought by ousted assessor Hugo Fabrizio.

The lawyer, Frederic N. Halmstrom, submitted an original bill of $16,443.30, but Assistant City Solicitor Joseph A. MacRitchie said the amount was negotiated down.

Two weeks ago, the Council appropriated $6,500 to pay Halmstrom to continue to defend the city against Fabrizio's suit, which seeks $1,250,000 for violation of his civil rights.

MacRitchie told the Council it was just a coincidence that the $10,000 and $6,500 appropriations added up to approximately the original bill.

McCauley Drops Mercedes Police Car Plans

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has given up for the time being his plan to lease German-made Mercedes Benz automobiles for use as police cars.

Instead, he said, the city will use the $100,000 in the 1984 budget to purchase 10 or 11 Ford autos through the Boston Police Council at a savings of some $1,200 per car.

McCauley said he made his decision when he learned that the Mercedes model the Police Department has been trying out is not available and the other models are too expensive to lease.

He said he has not given up entirely the idea of leasing the Mercedes. "We will need more cars at this time next year and we'll look at it again," he said.

Final Report Cards To Be Picked Up

Board Continues Donut King Extension Plan

By LORRAINE MASON

The License Board voted Tuesday to continue to June 28, a request from Donut King, 151 Copeland St., West Quincy, to add an extension to the rear of the building.

Ward Councillor James Sheets said he met with owner Joseph L. Melchione and area residents to discuss such concerns as lighting improvements and odors.

Some problems were solved, Sheets said, but no resolution could be reached on the issue of the extension.

Area resident Robert Campbell said that among things neighbors are concerned about is gangs from other areas of West Quincy congregating at the donut shop.

Builder Ralph Cappola said the proposed, two-story extension would be used for storage and office space.

Building Inspector Allan MacDonald said the addition would limit the parking space behind the building. "They're parking all over the streets now," MacDonald said.

City Clerk John Gillis asked if a second story could be put on the building so that parking space would not be eliminated.

Cappola said he doubted that would be possible.

Fire Chief Edward Barry said using hindsight, he would have never voted for Donut King's license originally because of the traffic problems on Copeland and Common Streets.

Police Chief Francis Finn asked Melchione to come up with a plan for the extension that would be more acceptable to the board.

License For Mini-Mall

The License Board granted a license Tuesday to President Plaza Realty Trust, 224 Quincy Ave. for a 250-booth mini-mall scheduled to open in early September.

The board granted common victualer, Lord's Day and second hand licenses for a mini-mall, antique fair, flea market and craft center.

Applicant Alvin L. Lipsky of Wellesley had been requested by the board last week to discuss the proposal with nearby Jehovah's Witness Kingdom Hall. There were no objections, according to the applicant.

Mini-mall hours will be Saturdays, Sundays and Monday holidays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. There will be food from an international food pavilion.

A police detail will be hired if there are traffic problems, as requested by board members.

Will She Or Won't She?

Will she or won't she?

That's the big political question still waiting for the big answer.

She, of course, is School Committee Vice Chairwoman Mary Collins. And, the big question, of course, is will she or won't she run for the Ward 6 City Council seat?

Mrs. Collins is expected to make an official announcement -- one way or the other -- sometime next week. But as of this writing, she isn't saying what it's going to be. And she's doing her best not to drop any hints.

She was "99 per cent sure" a couple months ago that she would challenge incumbent Joanne Condon.

But she hasn't sounded "99 per cent sure" in recent weeks.

However, those close to her report she is still "leaning toward running".

But, they add, they wouldn't be too surprised if she didn't.

So, right now, it looks more like a 50-50 chance she will run.

With Mayor Francis McCauley likely to go unchallenged this year, there isn't much political excitement around town.

Right now the only contest is for the three School Committee seats.

No council at-large or ward council races so far. A Collins-Condon battle would liven things up.

SENATOR Paul Harold attended the big birthday roast for Congressman Morris Udall of Arizona in Washington last week.

HAROLD

And, he's still smiling at the quips and barbs that flew back and forth like a political volleyball tournament.

Harold was there because of his friendship with Udall. He sat with movie star Cliff Robertson.

Five of the Democratic candidates for President were the roasters and Sen. Edward Kennedy the roast master.

A sampling of the humor:

Kennedy in introducing Senator John Glenn: "He went to outspace but unlike other politicians, he came back."

Former Vice President Walter Mondale, referring to the recent Wisconsin preference poll: "Any beauty contest that lets me win over

Gary Hart and lose to Alan Cranston shouldn't betaken seriously."

Kennedy on the 68-year-old Cranston: "He supports the B I because he thinks it's a vitamin pill."

Senator Gary Hart who was George McGovern's campaign manager in 1968 recalled Udall's unsuccessful race in 1976: "After the McGovern campaign it was thought nothing could be more disastrous, you proved them wrong."

Kennedy on Senator Fritz Hollings' heavy southern accent: "He's the first non-English speaking candidate for President."

Former Florida Gov. Rubin Askew, acknowledging his dark horse candidacy: "The only newspaper that covered my announcement was the Daily Racing Form."

Udall noted that both he and fellow Arizonan Barry Goldwater failed in bids for the Presidency "so now mothers in Arizona tell their children they cannot grow up to become President."

Harold says Kennedy and Udall ran up the most points on the laugh meter for the night.

INCIDENTALLY, Harold's father, Joseph, was honored again by the Disabled American Veterans at their recent annual state convention in Chicago. He was re-elected to his 33rd term as Department Adjutant.

HONORED: The President-Cranche-Hospital Hill Association recently presented a "Good Neighbor Award" to Mary and Frank Vallier. They've long been active in civic, religious and cultural activities. And, for the past 14 years, have opened their swimming pool to youngsters in the neighborhood on a regular schedule. Now, being a good neighbor.

GOVERNOR'S Councillor Peter Eeley will hold his annual summer party Tuesday, June 28, from 8 p.m. to 12 midnight at the Wollaston Golf Club in Milton. Tickets are $10.

WE MENTIONED HERE last week that Arthur Foley, Mayor Francis McCauley's administrative aide, has lost 10 pounds jogging and is down to a trim 160 pounds.

Now, he can have a pretty face to go with it.

Foley attended the Quincy Citizens Association annual dinner the other night and won a door prize; a $50 gift certificate for beauty treatment or hair styling at Sabina's.

Secure Home During Vacation

The vacation season being upon us, here are some tips to secure your home against burglars while you are away:

Remember to stop deliveries. Before leaving notify the Post Office, the newspaper carrier and anyone who might leave materials at your home on the date you will be leaving.

Also arrange for a trusted neighbor to look after your property while you are gone.

There is nothing like an accumulation of mail or newspapers at your door or an unkempt lawn to broadcast to burglars that there is no one home and the house is easy prey.

Inside the house, attach timers to appliances. The sound of a radio during the day or the sight of lighted lamps in the evening indicates that someone is home.

Coordinate the timers to turn on different appliances at different times for an even more effective deterrent to crime.

Wants Court Injunction

Sheets Urges Harder Line Against MBTA Station Opening

City Councillor James A. Sheets has urged that the city take a harder line and move as quickly as possible to halt the opening of the Quincy Adams MBTA Station.

Sheets asked Mayor Francis X. McCauley to initiate immediate legal action to seek an injunction to prevent the opening until the Burgin Parkway Extension is not only funded but finished building.

But McCauley indicated that, while he is opposed to the station opening, he prefers to take a softer line and explore all legal options before moving in court.

Sheets' demand came in the wake of a statement by State Transportation Secretary Fred Salvucci that the station will open Sept. 10 whether the extension is ready or not.

"Salvucci came down to South Quincy a few years ago like a god off the mountain throwing thun-derbolts," he said.

"He told us, 'You are going to have a station, a garage and ramps and we're going to build it in a water-holding area. We are going to build the Extension to take care of it.'

"We got the ramps and the garage and the station but no extension. Now he's back like a god throwing thunderbolts and he is saying, 'You are going to have them whether there's an extension or not.'

high. "When the four go up to captain," he said, "we will have eight lieutenants. We have asked Civil Service to give us a list so that we can appoint two lieutenants to make 10."

The problem there is that the Civil Service list for lieutenant has expired and, unless Civil Service gives special permission to use it, the city will have to wait nearly a year for a new list.

If two lieutenants are appointed, that will leave openings for three sergeants and there is no Civil Service list for that rank in existence.

McCauley said Chief

Francis X. Finn wants to name three acting sergeants while the test is given and the list drawn up.

"I'm not sure we need to keep that complement," said McCauley. "I don't know if we need 15 lieutenants and 26 sergeants. Maybe we are overstaffed in those categories."

"If we lost some of those posts through attrition, then we would be able to have more patrolmen on the streets. We have a chance to get this all moving if we can appoint four captains."

Councillor Lydon said he objected to the order because it came before the Council at the last minute and neither he nor other councillors had had a chance to look into it.

"I don't dispute the need for the four new captains," he said. "But the City Council needs to know the scope of the reorganization of the Police Department. The captains are just the tip of the iceberg."

He asked the mayor to have an organizational chart of the Police Department ready for the councillors by the next meeting and McCauley said it will be ready by Friday.

"When the captains step up," said Lydon, "there will be openings for new lieutenants, sergeants and patrolmen. What are the chief's recommendations for those? Who are they?"

"How many men are we going to end up with on the street? That's the bottom line."

State Subsidy Proposed For Old Colony Line

Four local civic groups, including the Quincy Chamber of Commerce and the Quincy Taxpayers Association, met with officials of the New Haven Railroad and suggested the possibility of a state subsidy to enable the New Haven to maintain passenger service on the Old Colony Line.

George Alpert, president of the New Haven, reiterated at the meeting an earlier announcement that, unless positive steps are taken to relieve the railroad of the Old Colony's $2.2 million annual deficit, the area served by the line would face loss of service after Oct. 1.

George A. Yarrington, executive director of the QTA, strongly opposed the proposed subsidy, calling it "a blank check to the railroad management with no control by the tax-paying public."

If such a subsidy should be granted, said Yarrington, it should be under the control of a public South Shore Transit Authority, which would contract with the New Haven to operate passenger service on a contract basis.

FOR URBAN RENEWAL

City Councillor Edna B. Austin became the first member of the Council to come out flatly for urban renewal when she declared herself wholeheartedly for the program she called "constructive, far-reaching and of long-range significance to the city."

"No doubt my statement will cost me a few votes in a certain section of the city," said Mrs. Austin, "but the future of Quincy as a high-class residential community is far more important than the political future of any councillor."

"I hope that the City Council has the courage — and it takes courage — to take private property for the public good."

PLAN A CANDIDATE

Former City Councillor Thomas J. Gilmartin (1946-49) announced his candidacy for one of the nine at-large seats on the Council and, at the same time, he endorsed the candidacy of Mayor Amelio Della Chiesa, who was seeking election as mayor under the new Plan A charter.

Gilmartin said that, despite the fact he was backing Della Chiesa against Laurence J. Curtin, leader of the Plan A movement, he would remain faithful to that form of government.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

No man or nation was ever ushered into a world of perfection with the possible exception of the Garden of Eden - and even then man fell. Admittedly, problems exist in our nation - and elsewhere. But civilization was given instincts, desires, habits, memories, hopes, ideals and intellect with which to meet the challenge of the problems.

As a nation we at least try to do those things which we know we ought to do and especially when justified cries of wrath are heard. Serious problems are seldom solved instantly. This must be realized by those who in an effort to correct actual or alleged inequities resort to violence or terrorism. Violence or terrorism in any country, state, national or international scene can spread like a contagion. Those who spread the contagion are carriers of it. They should know, or be harshly shown, as carriers they must be contained for the good of all, including themselves and their cause - whatever the cost.

Father's Day Sunday At Squantum Church

Members and friends of the First Church of Squantum celebrated Father's Day Sunday in a joyous worship service that included the Lord's Supper.

Calvin Bumpus, Siobhan Corrigan, and Blythe Bumpus joined with the pastor in leading the congregation in the call to worship which was taken from Psalm 103. Leon MacIntyre offered the opening prayer.

In a talk to the children entitled "What Do You See?", church pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin spoke about finding Christ in one's personal experience. To illustrate his point, he distributed a printed puzzle to the worshippers. Jason Deary, Tom McKim, Mark Williams, Sarah Mildram, Susan Scott and Danny Smith assisted.

Choir director Mary Ruth Scott presented choir pins to members of the Youth Choir, including Bonnie Adams, Dianne Ahearn, Robert Dixey, Ann Lombardi, Sarah Mildram, David Scott, Susan Scott, Deborah Stohlberg, David Williams, and Steven Williams.

The Youth Choir then joined with the Chancel Choir to sing the offertory anthem: "Alleluia" as arranged by John Costes, Jr.

Roy Hansen, chairman of the Stewardship Committee, announced the beginning of a fund drive to raise $18,000 to put a new roof on the church.

The young people of the church, through the Youth Church, pledged to give $1,000. Youth Church officers making this announcement were Steve Williams, moderator; David Williams, chairman of the board of trustees; and Susan Scott, church treasurer.

The Youth Church will raise this money with car washes, the collection of returnable bottles, and dinners in the fall. The car washes will be held from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. each Saturday at the church.

Katharine Hansen of the Board of Deacons announced that the Deacons will sponsor a farmer's market, called "The Deacons' Delight", after each of the summer services. Homegrown fruits and vegetables, baked goods and other small articles will be on sale each Sunday. Proceeds will go toward the New Roof Fund.

Robert VonRiegers announced that another fundraising project at the church, the Aluminum Recycling Project, has been renamed as the "Salvage Project" since they now collect and sell all kinds of metal.

Dr. Langevin preached on the topic, "The Responsibilities of a Christian Father", taking as his text these words: "What father among you, if his son asks for a fish, will instead give him a serpent; or if he asks for an egg, will give him a scorpion?" (Luke 11:11-12)

Seated with the pastor at the Lord's Table were Deacons Leon MacIntyre, Gretchen Bumpus, Steve Williams, Evelyn Ahearn, and Tom Williamson.

The first prayer of the Lord's Supper was read from Psalm 139 by the pastor as the choir sang the words in an arrangement entitled "Lord, You Have Searched Me" by Roland Tabell. Steward Scott gave the prayer before the bread. Roy Hansen led the prayer before the cup.

Hymns sung were "God of Our Fathers, Whose Almighty Hand", "This Is My Father's World", "Faith of Our Fathers", and "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."

Greeters for the morning were Don and Barbara Frazer. Ushers were Leon MacIntyre and Harry Holmes. The Fellowship Hour after the service was hosted by Edna Swanson and Ruth Goward.

Only one worship service will be held this Sunday. It will begin at 9:30 a.m.

● Legion Baseball

Morrisette, Wollaston Bow To Braintree, Weymouth

Morrisette Legion's baseball team ran out into a red-hot Braintree team, making its season's debut following the high school's elimination from the Eastern Mass. tournament, and lost, 9-2. It dropped Morrisette's record to 3-2 with a tie game to be replayed.

Meanwhile, Wollaston, following two impressive wins, lost to both Weymouth teams (Mass. Truck is the second Weymouth team to join Zone 6), making its record 2-2.

Friday Morrisette played at Randolph at 6 p.m. and Quincy hosts Braintree at Adams Field at 8. Monday night Morrisette is home to Hingham at 8 at Adams and Wollaston is at Braintree at 6. Tuesday it will be Randolph at Quincy at 8 at Adams and next Wednesday Morrisette is at Holbrook at 8:30 and Wollaston faces Milton at 8 at Adams.

In Monday night's loss to Braintree, Mike Marshall pitched five innings for Morrisette and enjoyed a 1-0 lead going into the fifth, thanks to Marty McLoughlin's run-scoring triple. But in the fifth Morrisette made four errors and Braintree scored four runs on one hit.

Last week Morrisette trailed Mass. Truck, 8-1, but made a great comeback to take a 9-8 lead, only to have Mass. Truck score the tying run in the last inning. The game will be replayed in its entirety. Scott Mele had a big night with two triples and a double.

Earlier Morrisette had rolled over Canton, 21-1, with everyone having a big night at bat.

Morrisette won a wild 13-12 decision over Milton, with Jim Austin hitting a three-run homer and John Balzano having a two-run homer. McLoughlin went three-for-four, Dan Kelley three-for-three and Mele and Chris Bunker had two hits each. Jim Bandera pitched 6 2/3 innings before tiring in the seventh and Paul Marshall struck out the last batter.

Andy Eames pitched his second straight four-hitter as Wollaston topped Holbrook, 8-4. Mark Righini had three hits and Keith Smith and Steven Hogan had two each.

Quincy, under first year coach Vic DiGravio, lost to Weymouth, 4-1, following an 8-5 victory over Carter Post of Dorchester. Quincy had taken a 1-0 lead when Joe C'ardi walked and scored on Nick Gelsomini's hit.

Weymouth tied it in the fourth, scored the game-winner and an insurance run in the sixth and added its final run in the seventh.

"We made some costly mistakes, but we are a very young team and learning," said DiGravio. "I'm going to have most of the boys back for a few years and we will get better."

BRIAN DJERF of Quincy was one of the top players for the Curry College basketball team, which finished last season on a high note, winning its final three games. Djurf, a senior and former Quincy High player, finished third in scoring with 7.6 points a game and had 5.4 rebounds a game. He scored a career total of 348 points and his scoring and rebounding totals last season were his career highs.

Complete Spring Season

North Trackmen Shine At E-Mass. Meet

The North Quincy boys track team recently completed its spring season with a fine showing in the Eastern Mass. meet.

Several Raiders turned in fine performances. Leading the list was Jeff Styker, who won the Class B 880 yard run in an excellent 1:57.4. "Jeff surprised a lot of people who didn't expect him to perform as well as he did," said Coach Bart Petracca.

Also placing was junior Tom Kearney with a personal best of 20-1 1/4 in the long jump.

In the mile junior Jim Kennedy, hampered by mid-season illness, ran a 4:33 and sophomore Scott Coyne, running the second fastest mile ever at North for a sophomore, ran a fine 4:39.5. "Scott really worked hard this year and hopefully he will be consistently under 4:30 next year," Petracca said.

Junior Terry Stark, ran a season's best 54.3 in the 440.

Since the top five placers qualify for the all-state meet, Styker was the only Raider to advance. He placed fourth among a large number of runners from Western, Central and Eastern Mass. He tied the school record of 1:55.6 in the 880.

Styker also competed in the New England Meet at Bellows Falls, Vt., where he placed fifth.

"Jeff is truly an outstanding athlete and is a hard worker and fine competitor," said Petracca. "He is only a junior and has only tapped a small part of his true potential."

"All in all, this was a good season with only two seniors. The team will be much stronger next year."

McLaughlin Hurls Second No-Hitter Of Season

Dick McLaughlin pitched his second no-hitter of the season but wildness and shoddy defensive play spoiled his shutout and the Quincy Junior Legion baseball team barely squeezed by Braintree, 3-2 in a Zone 6 contest.

McLaughlin not only set the Braintree hitters down without a safety but he collected a pair of hits himself and struck out the side in the third, fourth and fifth innings.

Quincy got all three of its runs in the third inning on singles by Dave Miner, Eddie Dunham, McLaughlin and Bob Dalrymple.

RAIDERETTES WIN TWO

Pat Drohan lost her shutout in the final inning in the first game and Coach Mary Pratt pitched a three-hitter in the second game as Chiminiello's Raiderettes of Quincy swept both ends of a softball doubleheader from the Hartford Laurelettes, 12-3 and 3-1.

The Raiderettes wrapped up the first game with five runs in the final inning. Barbara Tappen and Drohan belted home runs. Tappen had three hits; Ann Reardon, Marjorie Kyle, Patricia Herlihy and Drohan had two each.

WINS BERMUDA CUP

David Mainwaring, the new sailing instructor at the Quincy Yacht Club, sailed C. Willis Garey's Claire II to a five minute victory in the 49th City of Boston Bermuda Cup race. Dick Huer's Arics finished second. The race originally covered 650 miles to be and from Bermuda but due to lack of entries it had been shortened to 25 miles to Boston Lightship and Great Pig Rock off Nahant and back to Quincy.

SOUTH SHORE SURVIVORS

Brooks Harris of Quincy and Tom Ralchig of Weymouth, the leading tennis players on the South Shore, won their opening round matches to enter the quarterfinal round of the annual South Shore Tournament at the Quincy Tennis Club.

PITTS TIES RECORD

Forde Pitts of Wollaston, a 26-year-old golf equipment salesman, tied the sectional qualifying record for the Massachusetts Amateur championship with a 36-hole total of 138, four under par, over the Thorny Lea Golf Club course in Brockton.

QTC GIRLS LOSE SECOND

The Quincy Tennis Club girls went down to their second straight loss in New England Junior Wightman Cup competition, losing to Wellesley, 4-3. Barbara Keefe and Leslie Van Raalte won their singles matches and Keefe and Nancy Towne combined to win the doubles.

SPORTS BITS '57

Bob Malvestra struck out 10 and allowed only four hits and Fred Kelley had a double and two singles as the Morrisette Junior Legion baseball team walloped Wollaston, 4-2, to tie the Braintree for first place in Zone 6.

Dick Holmberg scored the winning basket in overtime as the North Quincy Independents defeated the Koala Bears, 53 to 50, to take over first place in the YMCA Spring Basketball League. Dick Donovan of Quincy beat the New York Yankees, 4-3, for the Chicago White Sox despite a tape measure home run by Mickey Mantle.

Clara Irvine of Wollaston and her chestnut "Chocolate Soldier" won five ribbons in the Brush Hill Horse Show in Milton. Hal Buzzell had a triple and a single as the Quincy Merchants erupted for eight runs in the second inning and a 13-4 victory over the Milton AC in a South Shore League game. 18-year-old Fran Moynihan Jr. won the first race of his career as he staged a comeback to outtail a fleet of six Hustlers in a Wollaston Yacht Club two-light race. Dennis Behan came in with the bases loaded in the third inning and struck out two and pitched a one-hitter the rest of the way as B'nai B'rith trounced the UCT team, 7-2, in Little League play. Jackie Jensen hit a grand slam home run and Ted Williams belted a three-run round-tripper as the Boston Red Sox dumped the Detroit Tigers, 10-3. Dick McLaughlin was knocked out of the box to the outfield in the fifth inning, then came back to strike out the last batter to secure an 11-9 win for the Quincy Junior Legion team over Milton. Bob Harper pitched a two-hitter as Hanrahan's, the defending Quincy Park League softball champs, scored a 9-2 victory over Dee Dee's. Young Bobby Hodges, one of the better Turnabout skippers at the Town River Yacht Club for the past five years, stepped up to his father's National One Design and defeated two adult skippers by a wide margin as the club opened its twilight season.

Sentimental Sendoff

500 At Tribute To Sullivan, Hutchinson

By TOM SULLIVAN
Bill Sullivan and Bill Hutchinson, longtime teacher-coaches and legends at Quincy High, were given a fitting sendoff on the occasion of their retirements night when 500 friends paid tribute to them at the Bryan VFW Post.

Sullivan has been at Quincy High since 1938 and Hutchinson since 1948. Both have had a tremendous impact on thousands of students during that time.

Marty Finnegan, chairman of the "Twin Bill" committee and a longtime associate of both Bills, was master of ceremonies.

He introduced the families of both honored guests. Hutchinson's son, Bill, read an inspirational letter from another son, Mike, whose business kept him from attending the tribute. Retired Quincy teacher-coach John Cruschal presented a gift to Bill's wife, Marguerite. Among Sullivan's family was his 96-year-old mother. Jim McGuinness, a close friend, presented a gift to Bill's wife, Alice.

School Supt. Dr. Lawrence Creedon paid tribute to the two Bills and spoke of their "dedication, integrity, aggressiveness, competitiveness and warmth." He presented Distinguished Educator Awards from the school committee to each man.

Quincy Principal Lloyd Hill spoke of the achievements of both men and said that Hutchinson, guidance counselor for many years, was largely responsible for Quincy High receiving $640,000 in financial aid. He also spoke of Sullivan's many years as social studies teacher.

Tom Fitzgerald, who retired as Quincy's football coach following last season and one of the organizers of last week's tribute, read a verse he wrote in tribute to Sullivan and Hutchinson.

Each honored guest received a copy of the high school yearbook, which was dedicated to them this year. Capt. William Robinson, USNR, a 1947 graduate of Quincy High, spoke of Sullivan's Naval career, mentioning that he received seven unit citations during World War II when he was a lieutenant in the Pacific Theater. Sullivan recently retired as a Captain in the Naval Reserve.

BILL SULLIVAN

Ron Iaocabucci, representing Rep. Robert Cerasoli, presented proclamations from the House of Representatives to both men. Hill on behalf of Sen. Paul Harold, who was in Washington for a tribute to Morris Udall, presented proclamations from the Mass. Senate.

Bob Fernberg, a teammate of Hutchinson on the Northeastern University hockey team, spoke and presented Bill with a gift.

Finnegan introduced former Quincy High principal George Wilson, who had a great influence on both honored guests.

McGuinness and Jerry Gherardi, friends of Sullivan since their boyhoods, presented Bill with a captain's lock.

Letters were read from Athletic Coordinator Carl Leone, who is recuperating from a stroke and was unable to attend.

Both Sullivan and Hutchinson spoke, thanking everyone for the tribute. Sullivan paid tribute to the late coach Munroe McLean and thanked all his former assistant football and baseball coaches and paid tribute to several North Quincy coaches, including two North legends, longtime coaches Jack Donahue and LeRoy "Curly" Rogers, who were present.

BILL HUTCHINSON

A buffet was enjoyed and music was provided by "A Touch of Class".

Sullivan was head football coach from 1952 through 1959 and led the presidents to five straight wins over North Quincy, the only coach to win more than three in a row in the 50-year series. He was assistant to the late Munroe McLean from 1938 to 1951 except for three years when both were in the service. He also was Quincy's baseball coach for many years.

Hutchinson was Quincy's hockey coach from 1948 to 1965, played four years of hockey at Northeastern after graduating from North Quincy High, was captain in 1943 and was an All-East selection that year. He is a member of the State Coaches Hall of Fame, coached eight tournament teams at Quincy and for many years was a college and high school hockey official.

PERILS IN THE PARK

Of more than 200,000,000 visitors to national parks and historic sites last year, 155 were accidentally killed and another 3,400 injured, more than half of them in motor vehicle mishaps. Many of the drownings, fatal falls and other accidents occurred in spite of elaborate warnings issued by the Park Service in some 50,000,000 safety pamphlets. When you visit a national park, there is virtually no excuse for not getting the safety word.

The general rules are these: Lakes, rivers and streams often have tricky currents, icy water and other unexpected conditions. Don't equate conditions in unfamiliar waters with lakes and swimming pools at home. Never pet or feed bear cubs, fawns or other animals, no matter how cute and harmless they look. Their mothers are protective, almost certain to be nearby and likely to attack if they sense a menace to their young.

Be aware of the dangers of high cliffs, loose and sliding rock, hot thermal pools and, in parks of volcanic origin, the sharp edges of hardened lava.

WEEK OF: JUNE 23

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
Pursue legal matters promptly, and don't resist asking obvious questions. Mechanical problems prove more costly than anticipated; romantic misunderstandings clear up as if by magic.

PISCES — February 20-March 20
Summertime is off to a romantic start — the indications are for a season blessed by renewed devotion. Mind has a habit of wandering, but don't neglect financial matters — especially after weekend.

ARIES — March 21-April 20
Week has a foreign flair; you may be meeting people from far off lands. Neighbors can become demanding, and it may be time to express your feelings about the situation.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22
Family feuding can become serious unless you assume the role of peacemaker. Creative tasks have long-range financial rewards. In dress, start off the season with a natural look.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21
Aries or Libra can enhance the friendship picture — but be sure to separate friendship from romance. Older relative responds well to your suggestions. Intuition is heightened on weekend.

CANCER — June 22-July 22

LEO — July 23-August 22
Accent is on learning; you may be signing up for a summer course or planning an educational holiday. Good week for trying out a new look. Aggressive friend becomes easier to live with.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22
Partnership activities require further discussion before profits can be realized. Work rival becomes more friendly, but stay alert. Family controversy peaks by weekend.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22
Finances demand attention; a money advisor may be requesting facts and figures. Week is favorable for job hunters and travel planners. Tests and contests include some surprises.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21
Even if an occasion is lacking, it's a splendid week for a celebration. Investigation is current byword; question prices, motives, offers and promises — anything too good to be true.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22
Advisers are drawn to you, but you're the best judge of character around now. Youngsters benefit from dose of Vitamin E for encouragement. Summer wardrobe accents bold touches.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20
Discoveries are made wherever you turn, and at least one finding can lead to a profitable venture. Emotions run high all around. Stay as objective as you can.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
Generous with praise and money, and gifted with an ability to bring out the best in others. Highly impractical, too, and sometimes you don't learn from past errors. Year ahead at cultural endeavors. Recent risks can pay off starting September 4/10/16.

BORN THIS WEEK
June 23rd, director Bob Fosse, 24th, actor Al Molinaro, 25th, singer Carly Simon, 26th, actress Eleanor Parker, 27th, opera singer Anna Moffo, 28th, composer Richard Rodgers, 29th, producer Robert Evans.

Conway Reports Sales Up 125%

Jack Conway reports sales figures for his 26 real estate offices show a dramatic 125 per cent increase for the first three months of this year over the same time last year.

Speaking before the annual "Conway Country Spring Rally" held at the Lantana recently, Conway attributed the increase to "teamwork -- that is the key to our success."

The chairman of the board of the company which bears his name also told some 300 of his sales associates that his firm is only "as strong as the individual associate's desire to achieve."

He pointed out the division sales are way up, too, with the Western division reporting a 289 per cent increase, the Eastern area up 129 per cent, the Brockton division up 126 per cent and the Cape division up 93 per cent for the first three months of this year.

QEA Membership Rejects 2-Year Contract Proposal

The Quincy Education Association voted Tuesday to reject the school committee's latest proposal for a two-year contract.

However, a motion from the floor was made to accept the first year of the package as a compromise.

The first year package includes a 4 percent increase retroactive to Jan. 28, and middle school language.

The second year of the proposed contract called for a 3 percent raise in September, and a 3 percent raise in January 1984, as well as language having to do with Quincy Junior College and the middle schools-junior high schools.

The compromise proposal was presented to the school committee Tuesday, but QEA president Herman (Hank) Pasquerella doubted it would be accepted.

Pasquerella, whose term ended Wednesday at midnight, said a new negotiating team would be brought in to the discussions.

The team includes Mary Curtin, incoming president, and Harold Crowley, vice president, both of whom voted against the contract proposal, according to Pasquerella.

Pasquerella urged the school committee to consider the compromise proposal.

"It would be a tremendous step in the right direction to improving relations which have been sorely strained since November, 1981, when negotiations began.

Board To Pub Owner: Correct Problems Or Sell

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The owner of the Palmer Pub, 520 Sea St., was advised by the License Board Tuesday to resolve some problems or sell the establishment which was reportedly the site of a "full blown riot" recently.

The board gave owner John W. Smith, a former Boston police officer, until September to act on the recommendation.

Quincy Police Sgt. Thomas Frane told the board there have been several arrests recently for disturbing controlled substances in the area of the pub.

Frane said a group of youths ages 14 to 17 congregates in the area, and that there was a confrontation with the youths June 18.

"There was a full blown riot," said Police Chief

Francis Finn, "they had to use force to break it up."

Finn also told of an arrest inside the pub of a woman with a hypodermic needle, and four overdoses this year of persons who frequent the pub.

"The owner has tried to do something, but he's a very sick man with heart problems," said Finn, "nothing seems to be straightened out."

"Things are out of control inside and out."

"I personally recommend that you (Smith) put it on the market for sale."

"You can't handle it."

Ward Councillor Leo Kelly said the corner where the youths congregate is "a nuisance to everyone," making it "a very bad situation."

Smith said that he has eliminated problem patrons, and has hired two new bartenders.

"We'll have things straightened out in no time," Smith said.

"If you had your health, I'd say to give you a chance."

"you can get in a tussle with some kids and be dead in the street," said Finn.

City Clerk John Gillis said the gang in the area has "the toughest bunch of kids I've ever met in my life."

"We don't register voters in Adams Shore anymore. The kids are too tough."

Fire Chief Edward Barry said that the board took the license away from a troubled establishment in Quincy Point.

"Maybe this is the course of action we should take," said Barry.

"I think that's too harsh," said Gillis.

Building Inspector Allan MacDonald called for more parent responsibility.

"I know you've tried," Finn told Smith, "but the problem isn't correcting itself, it's getting worse."

Finn made the motion to continue the hearing until September.

"But if anything happens, if the situation deteriorates," said Finn, "I'll ask for a special meeting to close the pub."

Taxpayers Urged To Pay By June 30

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has urged Quincy residents to pay all outstanding real estate and personal property taxes as soon as possible.

The mayor also requested residents to pay all due water bills and automobile excise taxes by Thursday, June 30, the close of the fiscal year 1983.

Receipts from these two sources make up 69 percent of the $7 million estimated to be received by the city from sources other than property taxes.

In order to finish in the black the $7 million figure must be reached by June 30, said McCauley.

Challenges Condon

Collins To Run For Ward 6 Seat

By TOM HENSHAW

Mary P. Collins, a member of the School Committee since 1978 and current vice chairwoman, announces her candidacy for the City Council from Ward 6.

The announcement places Mrs. Collins, a real estate broker who lives at 116 Lansdowne St., Squantum, in direct conflict with Councillor Joanne Condon, who has indicated she will run for a fourth term.

"Having had six years of participation in city government as a member of the School Committee," said Mrs. Collins in her announcement, "I wish to serve my constituency on a wider basis."

She said she delayed her announcement because "it was a big decision and I have family considerations. If I was not in city government already I would have started earlier."

"I plan to knock on every door in Ward 6," she added.

Mrs. Collins has topped the ticket each time she has run for the School Committee, getting 16,916 votes in the 1977 election and 15,803 in 1981. She also topped the primary list in 1981.

During her years in

office, she said, "the School Committee faced the most difficult decisions in its history."

"I feel that I faced those decisions honestly and was not thinking of my political future when I voted."

"The responsibility for (labor) negotiations fell to a small number of us and I found myself continually involved in those deliberations."

"This experience, I believe, will serve the city and Ward 6 well on the City Council as well as my involvement over the years in many public issues."

"I intend to be responsive and available, as I have always been, to the needs of the community."

"The time it has taken to reach this decision has been long because my family and I have considered it very carefully."

In addition to Councillor Condon, Mrs. Collins also will face a third candidate, Jens Thorton, also of Squantum, in the September preliminary election.

A graduate of Monsignor Ryan Memorial High School in Boston, and the Boston School of Business Education, Mrs. Collins is a real estate broker with the Jack Constate Co. in Wollaston.

She and her husband, Thomas L. Collins, have four children, Christine, Caroline, Deirdre and Timothy.

Her husband will be her campaign treasurer and Mrs. Janet Coughlin of Park Ave., Squantum, will be campaign manager.

FIRE LT. ROBERT KELLEY inspects ruins and points to gasoline cans which apparently were used to start the blaze at the Wollaston Recreational Facility which resulted in at least $250,000 damage.

At Least $250,000 Damage

Wollaston Facility Gasoline 'Torched'

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

A suspicious two alarm, early morning fire at the Wollaston Recreational Facility, 357 West Squantum St., Tuesday caused at least $250,000 damage.

There were no reported injuries.

"We were torched," said facility administrator John Nourse of the fire which destroyed a wooden maintenance building, built in the late 1800s, and all of the facilities equipment.

Nourse said the equipment included golf carts, tractors, mowers and other items. He said the fire did not spread to the main building 10 yards away, and there was no damage to the golf course.

According to Fire Lt. Robert Kelley, the fire was apparently started with gasoline. Kelley said that gasoline cans normally stored in the cellar of the maintenance building were found on the ground floor level.

"Apparently gasoline was splashed around the area," said Kelley.

The building's alarm did not go off, according to Nourse who said that the fire was reported by neighbors.

The first alarm came in at 3:08 a.m., according to Dep. Chief Carl Valenti who said that the maintenance building was fully involved in fire when fire apparatus arrived.

A second alarm was sounded at 3:14 a.m. and the all out at 5:50 a.m. Boston and Weymouth assisted.

Valenti said the Fire Prevention Bureau, Fire Marshal's Office and Quincy Police are investigating the blaze which was "definitely suspicious."

"There will be a heavy investigation," said Nourse who noted that the facility has been plagued by vandalism.

In addition to the maintenance building being destroyed by fire, a truck was driven into a pond.

The facility had been in "wonderful shape" financially prior to the fire, said Nourse who explained that money was to have been turned back to Norfolk County at the end of the fiscal year June 30.

Nourse said the maintenance building was insured, but there is a $10,000 deductible.

"I'm depressed," said Nourse, "but we will bounce back. The golf course is still open, and we will continue to be open."

"We will not shut down. We're too tough for that stuff."

Ironically, Rep. Michael W. Morrissey held a meeting at the facility Monday night to discuss the coming referendum on the proposed sale of the golf course.

Morrissey proposed that the land be preserved as open space.

Breaks Plague West Quincy

A rash of breaks and attempted breaks plagued the Bunker Hill Lane section of West Quincy west of the Southeast Expressway over the weekend.

A $60 watch and gold studded earrings were reported stolen from the home of Alois Schmid of Adele St. by someone who forced the rear door to the porch.

Assorted jewelry and currency including silver dollars and half dollars were reported taken in a break at the home of Harold Bates on Helene St. while he and his wife were at a square dance in Weymouth.

Breaks also were reported at 55 Adele St. and 124 Bunker Hill Lane.

A TRUCK driven into a pond at the Wollaston Recreational Facility was a small part of the damage which included a quarter million dollar loss to the maintenance building and equipment.

City Wins First Round

Judge Rules MDC Polluting Quincy Bay

By TOM HENSHAW Quincy has won the first round in its fight with the MDC over pollution of Quincy Bay. Superior Court Judge Paul Garrity placed squarely on the MDC's sewage treatment plants the blame for pollution that threatens "the health, welfare and safety of persons who live and work near-by Boston Harbor."

Garrity said he is considering the appointment of a "special master... to come up with the most effective remedy and to prepare a comprehensive order... within 30 days after appointment."

He directed that another hearing be held on the case Wednesday, July 6, at 10 a.m. "to consider remedies and appointments of a special master."

"The facts presented to this court," wrote Judge Garrity, "indicate beyond any question that the failures of the Commonwealth's supervisory agencies to require the MDC to carry out its sewage disposal activities in accordance with legal requirements jeopardizes the health, welfare and safety of persons who live and work in communities abutting Boston Harbor."

"Boston Harbor is significantly and visibly polluted primarily because of the discharge of inadequately treated and untreated sewage into it and adjoining waters."

"The current and potential impact of that pollution upon the health, welfare and safety of persons who live and work near-by Boston Harbor and who use it for commercial, recreational and other purposes is staggering."

"Not only is the harbor dirty and debris-ridden (e.g., a sample of seawater randomly gathered one-half mile down from a Nut Island discharge pipe and presented at the hearing contained what appeared to be several bits of sewage), it also gives off foul odors."

"What is most alarming... is that exposure to the harbor's environment and its marine life can result in several infectious diseases such as hepatitis, eye infections, salmonella and gastrointestinal disorders."

"Moreover, the damage to that environment and to the creatures who live in it may very well become irreversible unless measures are taken to control and at some point preclude the pollution and consequent destruction of that very valuable resource."

Judge Garrity noted that, at a hearing June 15, the MDC conceded that "there is absolutely no plan of program in place the implementation of which will result in no further dumping of raw sewage in Boston Harbor at anytime in the future — say even by the year 2010."

James Arroyo Receives 'Golden Paw Award' For Rescue Attempt

John H. McDuff, Jr., president of the Quincy Animal League recently presented a check and the League's "Golden Paw Award" certificate to James Arroyo of East Elm Ave., Wollaston, for his heroic attempt to save a three pound Chihuahua which was attacked and killed by a German Shepherd.

James, a former Quincy Sun newscaster, was the League's second award recipient. The first award, in December, went to Gov. Edward J. King for his support of animal rights legislation.

McCauley Bypassing Council, On Police Captains

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has withdrawn his request for City Council permission to increase the number of captains on the Quincy police force from four to five.

He said in a letter to Council President John J. Lydon Jr. that the city solicitor's office has informed him that he does not need Council approval at all. The request for five captains was tabled by the Council at its June 20 meeting at the behest of Lydon, who said he and his colleagues had not had time to study the matter.

It is the first item on the agenda for the special Council meeting at 6:30 p.m. tonight, the last meeting of the current fiscal year.

Attempted Break

Two plate glass windows were broken early Sunday morning in the T. J. Maxx store on the Parkway but nothing appeared to have been stolen.

Police said two duffle bags stuffed with women's clothing were found on the floor.

Search Called Off For Drowning Victim At Quarry

Search of Swingle's Quarry has been called off after an underwater television camera failed to turn up any sign of the body of Paul Gooch, 17, of Brockton.

Gooch was presumed to have drowned June 20 when he jumped from a 50-foot ledge into the West Quincy quarry.

Deputy Fire Chief Carl Valenti said it was decided to suspend operations with the camera, which was rented from a Gloucester firm for $890 a day.

"You could spend a week down there with a camera and not find anything," he said.

"We picked the spot we thought the body would be. We sent the camera down to 180 feet. The camera has only four feet visibility. We sent it down for a look, then moved it, then looked again."

Valenti said city officials will explore the possibility of draining enough water from the quarry so that scuba divers could go nearer the bottom of the quarry.

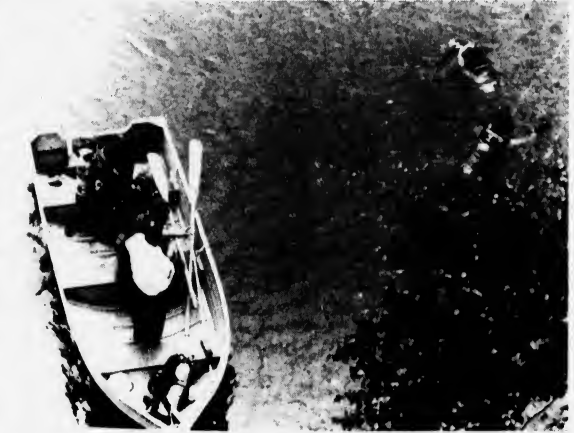

The quarry hole is more than 300 feet deep in some places and divers can only go to 130 feet, although

Pilgrim Plaza Restaurant Beer, Wine License

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The License Board granted a common victualer-wine and malt license Tuesday for Webster's, 17 Scammell St., Quincy Point, one of several establishments to be located in the planned Pilgrim Plaza.

James L. Cattaneo will manage the restaurant which has a target opening date of Jan. 1, 1984. Excavation of the property has already begun.

According to Atty. Patricia Hunt, the sit-down restaurant will be open 6 a.m. to 11 p.m. and will have no lounge or bar.

"It will be more formal than nearby Jim's diner", said Miss Hunt who explained that breakfast, lunch and dinner will be offered.

"It looks good," said Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro, "but I oppose it as the ward councillor."

Police Chief Francis Finn said that he didn't see any problems with plans. He said the traffic flow seems to have been worked out.

Finn urged the applicants to be good neighbors.

No opposition to the license was registered at the meeting.

According to Building Inspector Allan MacDonald, the plaza is also scheduled to include a bank and stores. Parking for more than 65 cars will be in front of the establishments.

MacDonald said that Jim's diner will probably be taken down near the end of construction.

Readers Forum A Tribute To Bill Sullivan

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

On a recent call to a former colleague at Quincy High School, I learned of the retirement of William Sullivan, as a social science teacher at Quincy High School.

There have been many ways that Bill Sullivan has contributed to the well being of the City of Quincy and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. I know there will be reference to that at his retirement dinner on June 16.

I will be unable to attend the event because I am living here in San Diego, California and commitments and distance prevent me from going home.

I wish to tell you how I am proud to be one of those who Bill helped nurture in the early days of his professional career. My classroom was next to Bill's on the second floor at Quincy High. Bill through his fine example as an educator showed that people dedicating themselves to high achievement found a challenge in serving the youth and families of Quincy.

Here we became friends and dearest colleagues, exchanging ideas on curriculum, teaching methods, he was always willing to encourage new ideas and assist with their implementation. If there was a new program or curriculum development, he would approach it with an open mind, and he would do more than his share of the work in order that it might best help his students and colleagues. I understand that during his last year of teaching he had three distinct preparations and the largest classes, teaching 155 students a day.

I recall working with Mr. Sullivan on a summer project. I was the teacher developing an economics curriculum and Bill the master teacher, offering support, insight and encouragement. Bill's hallmark has been complete integrity, and has served as an example for all who have come in contact with him in various capacities.

As I moved into administration with the school department as coordinator of the new concept of community schools, some said why did I want to give up the summer, work those crazy hours, but not Bill, he looked at it as a challenge and an opportunity to develop a new concept that was important to the educational environment of our city.

As I made plans to come West to work in higher education, again, I recall going to Bill for advice and again, words of encouragement and guidance I sought making this decision.

The contemplation of his retirement from Quincy Public Schools has brought to mind not just the contribution he made to his students but also to the individual development of his colleagues and friends.

Quincy's children have benefited greatly by his teaching and example. I am one of many who want to thank him for many who are throughout the world and are unable to tell him personally.

Collins Perks Up Election

Well, Quincy Election '83 isn't going to be so dull after all.

School Committee Vice Chairwoman Mary Collins gave it a healthy shot in the arm this week with her announcement that, yes, she will.

She will challenge incumbent Joanne Condon for the Ward 6 City Council seat.

That, of course, will mean at least two primary contests if all the present political cast stays in place.

There are seven candidates for School Committee and if all file their nomination papers without a problem, there'll be a primary contest.

Condon is a candidate for reelection and Jens Thornton has already indicated he will run against her. If he stays in, there'll be a primary in Ward 6.

Without a mayoral race this year, the municipal election campaign which ordinarily would be shifting into high gear around the Fourth of July had, instead, been drifting into the Big Sleep.

A Collins-Condon match will at least keep people awake election night.

Mrs. Collins' entrance into the City Council field may also bring more School Committee candidates out.

If she wins the Ward 6 seat, it will create a vacancy on the School Board. It would mean that the runner-up in the three-seat School Committee race could wind up a winner by filling the post Collins would vacate if elected to the Ward 6 seat.

The Collins-Condon battle (with Thornton in the middle) could very well be the top attraction on this year's ballot.

Both have their following. Both are good campaigners and can hit hard — in a ladylike manner, of course.

None of the other wards have anything perking yet as far as challengers are concerned. And, the City Council at-large race looks more like a Strauss waltz.

Ward 6 may be the hottest place in town this fall.

RUTH GORDON got a special kick out of attending the 69th anniversary of her Quincy High School class of 1914 at the Quincy Neighborhood Club last week.

"The chef sent his hat over to be autographed," she smiled. "That's the first time that has ever happened to me."

She liked the chef's work, too.

Door-Type Key To Burglaries

Wood-paneled or hollow-core doors are fine — as long as they are on the inside of the house.

But on the outside leading into the house they are an attractive target to thieves who can easily break through them.

Doors with glass panels also encourage break-ins. Solid wood or steel doors are the safest choices. Thieves are usually in a hurry and generally will move on when they find it difficult to gain entry to a building.

Steel, of course, is the best choice, especially when the door is fitted with the proper locking devices.

While on the subject of doors, always remember to close your garage door, even if the garage is empty.

An empty garage is a tip-off to burglars that there is no one home.

In order to avoid the inconvenience of getting out of your car to close the doors every time you leave the garage, there is a wide variety of electronic systems that will do the work for you.

Many are equipped with automatic lighting that turns on when the door is opened and will enable you to enter your home safely at night.

"NOW, MRS. HOOPER, TELL THE COURT WHAT HAPPENED WHEN YOU AND YOUR NEIGHBOR ARGUED OVER THE ELECTRIC HEDGE CLIPPERS."

Dedham Jail Crowding 'Extremely Critical' Says Marshall

The county jail in Dedham is so badly overcrowded, says Sheriff Clifford Marshall, that if the Holbrook Five had been convicted of rape and sent there "we were going to store them in the shower room."

"It is an extremely critical situation at this time," Marshall told interviewers on the program "Newsmakers" on Quincy Cablesystems Ch. 3.

"The House of Correction was built in 1817. It is presently operating with 72 authorized cells. We have 220 people in those 72 authorized cells. We have them in store rooms, in stairways, everywhere."

"Recently we had a man in the maximum security section of the jail get up and go right through the roof. For the past few years we have been asking for money to repair the roof. Now it's a security hazard."

The problem, said Marshall, is money.

"Last year, when the County Advisory Board reduced the assessment to the cities and towns by some 19.5 per cent, what it did was evaporate over $1.3 million we could have had to meet some of the jail problems," he said.

"The state is looking at us and saying, 'Well, if you're not willing to put local money into it, why should we put state money into it?'"

Inaction in rehabilitating or replacing the 163-year-old jail, he said, could result in federal court action that would force the county to fix it up or abandon it.

"If money were sought now to meet a court order," he said, "we would have no alternative but to close the county hospital or sell the agricultural school or take a look at the county golf course."

"That is, unless the state steps in to help finance our operation."

Marshall also cited problems with a shortage of correctional officers, with locks that date back to 1850 in some cases, and with health problems, particularly with AIDS (Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome).

"A state study documented that we are 21 people below safe operations," he said. "We received slight increases in overtime funds and temporary help fund but no new positions in the fiscal 1984 budget."

"We have requested some $935,000 through the state capital outlay, some $530,000 of which is going toward replacing the locking system with automatic locks."

"Right now, each cell is individually locked and unlocked with a key. Some cells could take as much as a half hour to open because of little idiosyncrasies with the locking mechanism."

"In case of fire, you're talking absolute tragedy."

Marshall said the problem of AIDS, for which there is no known cure, is something that has not been discussed.

"Communicable diseases have always been a concern of ours," he said. "If we have an indication through our medical people that there is a possibility of an outbreak in the jail, we evacuate the jail."

"But I have no idea where in this commonwealth some 220 people are going to go."

Marshall said the possibility of building a new correctional facility on the median strip of Route 128 in the Dedham area is still being considered.

"The county does not have the money to build or operate it," he said. "So we're looking at a commitment by the state to build it and fund the operational costs."

Marshall was interviewed on the program by John Noonan of The Quincy Sun; Herb Fontaine, news director of WJDA; and Ray McEachern of the Patriot Ledger.

Rain Fails To Dampen July 4 Fete

Thunder and lightning replaced fireworks displays at the climax of Quincy's Fourth of July weekend but before the rains came more than 100,000 people turned out to watch the bonfire in Merrymount Park sponsored by Quincy Legion Post.

The holiday celebration in Merrymount Park began with the flag-raising followed by a salute to war dead at the World War I and II monuments. The Rev. Francis J. Murphy of Star of the Sea Church delivered the invocation and the Rev. Walter B. Lounsbury of the First Church the benediction.

There were incidents of illegal fireworks despite the warning from the Massachusetts Safety Council that "it is a violation of state law to discharge fireworks unless you are licensed. Burns and injuries from the discharge of 'bootleg' fireworks will be the cause of many casualties."

A stray flare, believed to have been fired by boys, ignited the roof of the home of Mrs. Clara West of 86 Mears Ave., Houghs Neck, but the damage was slight.

Vincent Moscardelli and Clifford Marshall, both 10 and both of Merrymount, and Charlotte Boyle, 11, of Houghs Neck, won the 25-yard swim events during the Fourth of July field day at Merrymount Beach.

Joanne Morley, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Morley of 27 Shelton Rd. was named "Miss Adams Shore" at the holiday festival in the Adams Shore Clubhouse.

City Revaluation In State Hands

Revaluation of real estate and personal property in Quincy is now in the hands of the state.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said Tuesday that the State Department of Revenue is now in the process of certifying the updating job done by Municipal Appraisal Services of Fall River.

The revenue should be finished by Thursday, July 7, he said.

Certification could come as quickly as two weeks, he said, after which impact notices of new valuations can be in the mail in three weeks to taxpayers.

"Hopefully," said the mayor, "we will have the new valuations in place in time for the Nov. 1 tax billing."

McCauley said the city does not have the precise figures in hand but the total valuation of all property, the key figure on which the tax rate is based, should be about $1.8 billion.

That figure could change once the taxpayers get through appealing their new valuations.

"It is figured that about 15 per cent of the taxpayers file appeals of their new valuations and the usual reduction is about 5 per cent as a result of the appeals," he said.

The 100 per cent revaluation process was set in motion in 1980. A Virginia reval firm finished the job in 1982 but it was deemed to be out of date by the state, which ordered the update.

RESIGNATIONS THREATENED

All five members of the City Hospital Board of Managers, led by Chairman William J. Martin, threatened to resign if the City Council passes pending ordinance amendments that would shift the balance of power from the board to the medical staff of the hospital.

"I feel there would be no reason for a board to exist. A group should not make its own rules," said member Esther C. Boling, who was joined by Howard Deacon, Augustus E. Settimelli and George W. Arbuckle.

Attends QHS 'Worst Class' Reunion

Ruth Gordon: 'I'm Never Going To Give Up'

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Thomas Wolfe wrote "You Can't Go Home Again" but you'd have a hard time convincing Ruth Gordon of that sentiment.

The Wollaston-born actress visited Quincy Friday for the 69th reunion of the Quincy High School Class of 1914 and she couldn't have made a bigger hit on Broadway.

There were hugs and warm greetings as the other members of Quincy High School's "worst class" (so-called because nobody in the class made the honor roll) arrived for the reunion at the Quincy Neighborhood Club.

But it was when Ruth Gordon, wearing a flowered straw hat, pink flowered dress and jacket, arrived on the arm of her husband, playwright Garson Kanin, sporting a red jacket, that the air really filled with excitement.

The 86-year-old actress, who lives in New York and Martha's Vineyard but visits Quincy often, warmly greeted her fellow classmates, obligingly posed for photographers, and chatted about her plans to see the show, "La Cage Aux Folles" in Boston that night.

Then the group adjourned for lunch. Class members attending in addition to Miss Gordon and her husband, who is an honorary class member, were Margaret Magee Browne, class secretary and reunion organizer; Ramah Baker Merrifield, Jordine Davidson Day, Kathleen Gavin Kearns, Viola Jackson, Kathleen Jones, Marion Nilsen, Leo Powers, Dr. Fred Rollins and Effie Weeden Peterson.

The original class numbered 108. During the luncheon, there were toasts ("May we all be here for our 70th reunion!) reminiscences ("I remember right where that teacher lived - on Miller Stile Rd.) and exchanges of life stories.

"We're 69 years smarter than we were when we graduated," said Miss Gordon in that clear, strong voice so well-known in movies, on stage, and even in television commercials.

"If we could have known 69 years ago that we'd be solvent enough to pay for lunch at the Neighborhood Club!"

She explained how she went to drama classes as a young girl and was told by the teacher not to come back because she didn't show any progress.

"I went home and told Mama, they told me not to come back because I'm a natural actress."

So, off to New York went Ruth Gordon Jones, whose middle name came from the doctor who brought her into the world.

"Today, the railroad line is down, the train doesn't run, but you see who didn't give up - me!

"I was a slow starter, I worked on it, and I'm never going to give up."

"I got somewhere and so can you."

"We have nothing but troubles in life, but we rise above it."

"I have a lot of energy, a lot of exhaustion and a lot of problems, but I won't give up. I don't give up."

"It's a courageous existence to be our age."

And then lunch was over and classmates joined hands around the table as Mrs. Merrifield recited a blessing.

There were more embraces and kisses as classmates made plans to keep in touch and to attend next year's 70th reunion.

"Just being together was the best part," enthused Mrs. Merrifield, "everything was perfect."

"Getting to see Ruth again and talk with her was the best part," said Mrs. Peterson. "It was a nice reunion."

Miss Gordon made the sentiment unanimous.

"It was a wonderful time," she said softly with a smile as she took her husband's hand and walked into the afternoon sunlight.

Principals Give Middle Schools A Good Grade

By JOHN NOONAN

For the most part the middle school program, operative at five Quincy schools since Sept. 1982, is working out quite satisfactorily.

That is the report of five middle school principals to the school committee.

Principals of the middle schools, Atlantic, Broad Meadows, Central, Sterling, and Point-Webster, appeared before the School Committee last week to discuss the one year experience with the new system.

Various aspects were discussed by both principals and parent representatives from each school. The focus was on climate, organization, discipline, teaming, and morale at each of the schools.

One parent representative said that she was not quite sure that things were going all that well. She said that teachers appeared to be exhausted, the schools are crowded, materials were in short supply and we are "a long way from where we used to be."

Christian Scientists Attend Annual Meeting Via Videotape

First Church of Christ, Scientist, Quincy, recently shared in an annual meeting discussion program.

Instead of local Christian Scientists travelling to Boston for the meeting of the Mother Church, a special videotaped discussion travelled to them.

The hour-long commentary was prepared earlier this year at the denomination's international headquarters.

It focuses on the church's efforts to meet the challenges of what it judges to be intensely materialistic times through revitalized commitment to spiritual values and Bible precepts.

Harvey W. Wood, 1983-1984 chairman of The Christian Science Board of Directors, says he finds "an encouraging and growing commitment on the part of Christian Scientists to let their lives more than their words be the proof of what Christian Science is."

The Boston meeting, as the 104-year-old denomination's Church Manual prescribes, consists of reports from Church officers, committees, and branch churches in some of the 56 countries where the denomination is represented.

School Committee Defers Action On Hiring Relatives

By JOHN NOONAN

The School Committee has deferred setting a policy on the controversial issue of hiring relatives of committee members for part or full time employment within the system.

The issue was brought sharply into focus when committee member Nicholas Verenis refused to accept a recommendation from School Supt. Dr. Lawrence Creedon that a relative, a grandson of a school committee member, be given part-time employment for the summer.

Verenis said that last year as a freshman committee member he went along but not this year. He said it was time the committee defines its policy of hiring relatives of school board members.

The committee voted to approve names submitted for summertime employment.

Assistant Supt. John Osterman told the board most of the names on the list had already been hired as long as five weeks ago.

Osterman said it was regrettable the names of the summer employees were not ready for the last meeting of the School Committee and assured the board it would not occur again.

The question arose as to whether one employee should be rejected because of the relationship with a school board member or whether a blanket policy regarding the hiring of any person who may be related in any way with a school board member should be adopted.

The school board will act on a policy at a later date.

School Committee Approves $2 Hike In Custodial Rate

The School Committee has approved a $2 an hour increase in the custodial detail rate in order to cover the increased cost of overtime.

The new rate of $14 per hour will be effective July 1.

The rate increase was recommended by School

Supt. Dr. Lawrence Creedon who noted that since Proposition 2½ the school system has been authorized to establish a custodial detail revolving account. Authorization to continue the account on an annual basis must be secured from the City Council.

Creedon also recommended that the school board petition the City Council to relax the requirement of annual approval of the account.

Both recommendations were approved unanimously and without discussion by the committee.

Stay Alive!

By John Valante

WATCH THE WEATHER

A 40-year-old nurse from Florida collapsed in a sudden August snowstorm while hiking at 5,000 feet in New Hampshire's White Mountains. She had developed hypothermia, a gradual but drastic lowering of the body temperature. Except for the alertness of rescuers, she might have died.

When you are intrigued by adventure ahead, it's easy to forget how fickle weather can be. This is particularly true in the mountains, where conditions can change abruptly from sunny and mild to cold and wet. Hikers who are poorly clad or too intent on proving their mettle risk the hypothermia that struck down the hiking nurse.

Be alert to all kinds of weather signs. Distant lightning, towering thunderheads and low clouds moving fast all signal a storm. Get a weather forecast before you hit the trail. If it looks bad, either postpone your trip or dress adequately and take along proper foul-weather gear. Tell someone where you're going and how long you expect to be gone.

4 Requests For Video Game Permits

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN
The video game craze may be dying down according to some sources, but the License Board continues to receive permit requests for such games.

There were four such hearings at Tuesday's meeting; three failed to receive favorable action, one was continued.

At the urging of the board, a request from Curtis Compacts, 525 Sea St., for two video game permits was withdrawn without prejudice.

Atty. Michael Lindburg pointed out that the machines have been shown to discourage hold-ups because they attract people to stay in the store, but the board did not look with favor on the request.

Ward Councillor Leo Kelly said that Curtis was "way out of line" asking for the permits at that location which has been the site of gang problems.

A second request from Curtis Compacts for two video game permits for 751 E. Squantum St. was continued to a special meeting to be scheduled during the summer.

The board denied a request from Antoine Kandalraft, 861-863 Quincy Shore Drive, for three video game permits.

Board members said that zoning does not permit such games in that area.

According to the board, only the Wollaston Bowldrome and The Nostalgia in that vicinity are allowed to have such games because they have legal non-conforming use.

The board also voted to order the video games at the Clam Box, 789 Quincy Shore Drive, to be removed from the premises because they are not licensed.

Donut King Withdraws Request For Extension

By LORRAINE MASON

The License Board voted Tuesday to allow Donut King, 151 Copeland St., West Quincy, to withdraw without prejudice, a request to add an extension to the rear of the building.

Applicants can reapply for the license at a special meeting to be scheduled this summer.

Donut King had applied for a two-story addition for storage and office space.

Building Inspector Allan MacDonald had been concerned about the extension limiting space in the rear parking lot.

Builder Ralph Cappola said the extension could be added without interfering with parking space. Owner Joseph L. Melchione proposed that angle parking might help the situation.

Area residents complained of traffic problems around the donut shop and about hours of operation.

Fr. John McMahon, pastor of nearby St. Mary's Church, said he has received dozens of calls complaining about the shop.

Police Chief Francis Finn said he was not ready to grant the license if neighbors were upset.

The board suggested that Donut King representatives meet with area residents and Ward Councillor James Sheets to discuss traffic problems, hours and use of the extension.

Public Schools To Reopen Sept. 12

September.

The School Committee voted that all public schools will commence Sept. 12. The opening is deferred from Wednesday, Sept. 7 to the following Monday which is September 12.

In making the recommendation to approve the commissioner's request, School Supt. Dr. Lawrence Creedon, who was absent because of an illness which caused him to be hospitalized, wrote that he had conferred with Mary Curtin, president of the QEA and Rabbi David Jacobs on the deferred opening.

Curtin and Jacobs agreed with the request because of the large segment of the school population, teachers and students, who would be observing the religious holidays.

Morrisette Bows To Hingham, Braintree Blanks Wollaston

By TOM SULLIVAN

The Morrisette Legion baseball team, following two wins in a row, dropped a 9-8 slugfest to Hingham Monday night at Adams Field to drop its record to 5-3 in Zone 6 action.

Meanwhile, Wollaston, following a fine start, continues to falter and Monday night was bombed by Braintree, 10-0, dropping its record to 2-5.

Wollaston does have a suspended game with Carter Post of Dorchester in which it was leading, 6-0. The lights went out at Adams Field due to a power failure in the neighborhood and the game had to be suspended in the third inning.

Tonight (Thursday) Quincy plays at Holbrook at 8:30. Friday night Morrisette plays Wollaston at 8 at Adams Field, Tuesday it will be Wollaston vs. Quincy at 8 at Adams and next Wednesday Morrisette is at Weymouth and Quincy at Hingham at 6 and Wollaston hosts Randolph at 8 at Adams.

In Monday night's slugfest Hingham (5-1) pounded out 17 hits and Morrisette had 12.

Morrisette, trailing, 9-7, had a chance in the final inning as it had men on first and third with no outs but scored only once as a double play snuffed out the threat.

Chris Bunker had two hits and an RBI, Marty McLoughlin two hits and two RBIs, Jim Austin a single and an RBI and Sid Cedrone three hits.

Dennis Cronin, Paul Marshall and Jack Outerbridge pitched for Morrisette with Cronin the loser.

For Hingham Terry McDonough had four hits and two RBIs, John Pignataro two hits and an RBI, Joe Abrahamson two hits and two RBIs, Dave Morrison three hits and an RBI and Dave Rohrer two hits. Rohrer and Pignataro shared the pitching with Rohrer the winner.

Last Friday night Morrisette rolled over Randolph, 14-3, with Mike Marshall pitching seven-hit ball and striking out seven. Morrisette started off with five runs in the first inning and was never in trouble.

Bunker had three hits including two doubles, Cronin two hits, Jim Bandera two hits including a home run, Tommy Ruan two hits and Cedrone three. Bunker drove in three runs, Cronin, Bandera and Cedrone two each and Dan Kelly and Jack Bolster one apiece.

Paul Marshall, catching his first game, did a fine job handling brother Mike.

In its previous game Morrisette had edged Quincy, 3-1, with Paul Marshall pitching superbly in relief. He pitched three innings in relief of Bandera, giving up two hits and striking out seven. Bandera had allowed five hits and struck out five.

Morrisette took the lead in the third when Cedrone reached on an error, stole second and scored on Bolster's single. In the fourth McLoughlin doubled, Scott Mele reached on an error, Cronin singled scoring McLoughlin and Cedrone drove in Mele with a single.

Quincy's only run came in the fifth. Joe Conti was the losing pitcher despite a fine performance.

Wollaston, which had won its first two games, dropped a 3-2 heartbreaker to Canton when Canton scored all three runs in the fifth, all unearned, on two costly errors.

Wollaston came back with two in the sixth and had a runner cut down at home with what would have been the tying run. Wollaston also had a runner thrown out at the plate in the opening inning.

Wollaston had several good scoring chances but scored only in the sixth on Keith Smith's two-run single, but he was nipped at the plate trying to score the tying run.

Everything went wrong for Wollaston in its last two games as it was pounded Sunday by Randolph, 12-0, and Monday by Braintree, 10-0.

"We are in a bad slump and we just have to work our way out of it," said Coach John Belcastro. "We had lost a few close ones but everything collapsed in the Randolph and Braintree games."

Bereszniewicz Awarded Medal Of Merit

Ron Bereszniewicz of Quincy is proof that academics and athletics can go hand-in-hand.

Bereszniewicz, son of William and Dorothy Bereszniewicz, and a senior at Fitchburg State College, has been awarded a Medal of Merit by the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference (ECAC).

The ECAC bestows its merit medal upon an athlete who has combined excellence on the field of competition with excellence in the classroom. Leadership, sportsmanship and academic achievement must be evident, according to the ECAC.

"Ron brings honor to Fitchburg State College," said President Vincent J. Mara. "He demonstrates what a single student is capable of achieving."

Bereszniewicz has nearly completed studies toward a Bachelor of Science degree at FSC in the Communications/Media field, working with computers. He holds a healthy 3.7 cumulative average and has been on the Dean's List all eight semesters. He also has made the President's List of top students.

Ron, a product of the Quincy Youth Hockey Association and a former North Quincy High star goalie, has been on the Fitchburg State hockey team for four years, the last two seasons as captain, leading the Falcons to ECAC division competition last March in New York.

He was named top goalie of the 1979-80 season by the Mass. State College Athletic Conference, and ECAC goalie for the last two seasons.

"Ron certainly exemplifies the philosophy of our college-academics and athletics," said FSC athletic director Elizabeth A. Kruczek.

Wallace Stars As Squantum Edges S. Quincy

Jack Wallace, who was building a reputation as Squantum's "meal ticket," blanked South Quincy on six hits and scored the only run himself as Squantum edged the Southies, 1-0, in a South Shore League game at Kincaide Park.

South Quincy's Firo Ruuttila allowed only five hits but three of them came together in the Squantum sixth as Wallace singled, took second on Jack Casey's infield hit and scored on Ed Heap's double to left field.

South Quincy had its best scoring chance in the third inning when a pair of walks and Lou Marini's single loaded the bases with one out. But Wallace forced Gus Pena to hit into a double play to end the threat.

The Squantum lineup included: Burke 2b, McLeod cf, Casey 3b, Heap 1b, Frazer c, Dinsmore lf, White rf, Vargus ss, Wallace p.

The South Quincy lineup included: Salvucci rf, Birch 2b, Regan 1b, Marini 3b, G. Pena ss, Kusser cf, Sacchetti lf, J. Pena ph, Triglia c, Ruuttila p.

HIGGINS STARS

The Sacred Heart lineup included: Scott ss, Higgins cf, Johnson 3b, Donovan 1b, McGuigan rf, Cobhan lf, Doherty c, White 2b, Worthley 2b, Murphy p.

MORRISSETTE IN OVERTIME

Jim White's Texas Leaguer fell safely in center field for a single scoring Tom McDonald from second base in the 14th inning to give the Morrisette Quincy Legion baseball team a 3-2 victory over Braintree and stretching its unbeaten streak to five games.

Then White preserved the win with a leaping catch in deep left field in the last of the 14th to rob Braintree's Bill Lemieux of a game-tying home run.

The Morrisette lineup included: Corbin 1b, Pineau 2b, Hughes 3b, I. McDonald cf, Gosselin c, White lf, Campbell ss, J. McDonald rf, Balducci rf, Landstrom p, Corcoran p.

STARSCOPE

WEEK OF: JUNE 30

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19

A bolder Aquarius delights friends and admirers. Intuition is strengthened through weekend. Good period to host small, spontaneous gathering with guests of varied ages and backgrounds.

PISCES — February 20-March 20

An encouraging week if starting large sized projects or making a career shift. Real estate matters are favored too, but tasks involving numbers require added attention.

ARIES — March 21-April 20

Possible conflict arises with advisers, bend over backward to see their point of view. Standoffish relative or neighbor starts to warm up. Romantic questions are answered by Tuesday.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22

Tensions in career relationships ease, but romantic situation — especially with Aquarius or Aries — can be touchy. Read instructions twice at least and watch tendency to jump the gun.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21

If ever you had to play diplomat, the first week of July is the time. Weekend finds you accepting offbeat invitations. After Sunday, you're smoothing out lots of ruffled feathers.

CANCER — June 22-July 22

Cancer becomes more intense this week, likely because of increased academic pressures. Weekend includes trip to beautiful places or opportunity for making important acquisitions.

LEO — July 23-August 22

Although words come quickly now, you tend to beat about the bush when relatives press for favor. Social life perks up on the weekend. Travel expenses are surprisingly high as of Tuesday.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22

Accent is on physical fitness and commonsense diets. Love is on the upswing, but don't take situation for granted. Weekend favors friendship with Aquarians and fellow Virgoans.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22

Friends, colleagues may overreact to your sarcastic streak, so be watchful. Project that seems to go on forever is coming to a satisfactory conclusion. Music is accented on weekend.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21

Variety makes for an exhausting but ultimately successful week, and romantic worries prove unfounded. Asking unnecessary questions can have embarrassing results. Platonic friendship accented.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22

Attention to detail is important in personal and professional undertakings alike. Enjoy unexpected joys if traveling, but be sure to avoid excesses of sun and exotic foodstuffs.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20

Successful travel week, but leave time for detours — they provide half the fun at least. Budgets need prompt review. Aquarius people deeply influence your thinking.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

Ruled by the heart you're sentimental, understanding, and impulsive. Important alliance — personal or professional — can be forged early in the autumn. Competitions featuring yourself or close relatives are highlighted late in 1983.

BORN THIS WEEK

June 30th: singer Lena Horne, July 1st: actress Leslie Caron, 2nd: actor Brock Peters, 3rd: director Ken Russell, 4th: actress Cma Lollobrigida, 5th: showman P.T. Barnum, 6th: singer Della Reese.

QEA-School Committee To Resume Talks

The Quincy Education Association and School Committee negotiating teams plan to resume contract negotiations some time in August.

School committee vice chairman Mary Collins said that new QEA president Mary Curtin and John Osterman, resource person for the School Committee, met Monday to discuss the possibility.

The QEA membership recently rejected a two-year contract after a tentative agreement had been reached between the teacher's union and school committee.

Before the meeting Monday, Miss Curtin had said that she had a few new ideas to discuss with Osterman.

State Bond Issue May Solve Burgin Extension Problems

A $1.5 million order for the MDC has been included in a state transportation bond issue which may be the first step in getting the Burgin Parkway Extension underway.

Sen. Paul D. Harold said the bond issue, which totals $1.3 billion, should be reported out of the Legislative Committee on Transportation in a week and could be passed by the Legislature by the end of July.

The $1.5 million would enable the MDC to get started on a project to control Town Brook flooding in South Quincy which is necessary before the Extension can get underway.

But City Councilor James A. Sheets, who is seeking legal action to halt the opening of the MBTA Quincy Adams station until the Extension is committed, said he is not excited by the bond move.

"It's a nice first step," he said, "but I still want to see the money firmly in place. It's easy to get something into a bond issue. Keeping it there through the legislative process is another."

"I want to see commitments from the Speaker of the House, the Senate President and the Governor that, regardless of what happens, the item stays in the bond. Then I'll be satisfied."

Harold said the $1.5 million was inserted in the bond issue at a meeting Tuesday morning that included the Quincy legislative delegation and Rep. Angelo Marotta of Medford, chairman of the Transportation Committee.

Also at the meeting were William Geary of Wollaston, the MDC commissioner, and Robert Tierney, commissioner of the State Department of Public Works.

"The bond issue seems to be our best option," said Harold. "There are also provisions for the money in the capital outlay budget but that may not be approved until October."

Montello's To Cease Live Entertainment

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The License Board Tuesday told the owner of Montello's, 53-61 Mass. Ave., to cease and desist having live entertainment without a cabaret license.

"The rock concert (last week) was well run," said City Clerk John Gillis, "but they didn't have a (cabaret) license."

Gillis said that

Lobster Traps

Taken

Don Gamble of Sea St., Houghs Neck, reported to police Sunday that 20 lobster traps valued at $400 and a hiding tank valued at $50 were stolen from his backyard.

Montello's did have such a license, but it was revoked in 1978.

"You're entitled to re-apply," Gillis told Joseph Montello.

Gillis did note that streets were overcrowded with cars during the concert.

"The wedding business is passe," said Montello, who runs a catering and function hall business. "everyone is taking a cut on us."

Ward Councilor Theodore DeCristofaro said there were no problems during the concert "but I don't think this is the kind of thing we need in the city."
